The topic frequency graph provides an overview of the most prevalent themes discussed by UK university students on Reddit over time. Notably, while student count shows an increasing trend for all topics as the subreddit grows, it is particularly for Topic 4 (Mental Health), increasing its share over, as to identify the relative prevalence of each topic over time. Among the top topics, we find a mix of academic concerns (e.g., accommodation, university applications), social aspects (e.g., finding friends, loneliness), and personal well-being (e.g., mental health, finance). First, the prevalence of topics such as job, university choice and applications, accommodation and finance highlight the practical challenges that students face in their university journey. Interestingly, students use such social media platforms as an avenue of seeking help and advice from other UK university students who have experienced similar concerns. These discussions not only provide valuable peer-to-peer support but also offer insights into the common struggles and decision-making processes of students.

Secondly, the prevalence of topics related to mental health and loneliness (Topic 4) is consistently high across the years, indicating a growing concern. This suggests that students are increasingly aware of their mental health and seeking support. Thirdly, the prevalence of topics related to social life and campus life (Topics 2, 9) is also high, indicating that students are actively engaged in their university experience and seeking social connections. Finally, the prevalence of topics related to academic pressure and career development (Topics 1, 5) is also high, indicating that students are focused on their academic and professional future.
