Furstenberg, Jr., 2013-03-07 In the past decade or so scholars in the United States have identified the emergence of a new distinct stage of life as adolescence has become protracted and most young people of recent generations take longer to achieve economic and psychological autonomy than they did a half century ago This new life stage in between adolescence and adulthood when young people are in a semiautonomous state has come to be known as early adulthood Main characteristics of this new life stage include a later entry into the work force a longer period of time living in the natal home and a delayed age at marriage and childbearing These trends not only have profound implications for young adults well being and intergenerational relationships but also challenge social institutions such as family schools labor markets and many youth serving institutions

Women's Empowerment in Agriculture Esha Sraboni, Hazel J. Malapit, Agnes R. Quisumbing, Akhter U. Ahmed, 2013-11-01

Women's low status and persistent gender gaps in health and education in South Asia contribute to chronic child malnutrition Smith et al 2003 and food insecurity von Grebmer et al 2009 even as other determinants of food security such as per capita incomes have improved This is particularly relevant for Bangladesh where chronic food insecurity continues to be an important issue despite steady advances in food production To be able to leverage agriculture as an engine of inclusive growth there is a need to develop indicators for measuring women's empowerment examine its relationship to various food security outcomes and monitor the impact of interventions to empower women Using nationally representative survey data from Bangladesh we examine the relationship between women's empowerment in agriculture and two measures of household food security per adult equivalent calorie availability and dietary diversity We use the Women's Empowerment in Agriculture Index to assess the extent of women's empowerment in agriculture and instrumental variables techniques to correct for the potential endogeneity of empowerment We find that the overall women's empowerment score the number of groups in which women actively participate women's control of assets and a narrowing gap in empowerment between men and women within households are positively associated with calorie availability and dietary diversity 2019 Annual trends and outlook report: Gender equality in rural Africa: From commitments to outcomes Agnes Quisumbing, Ruth Suseela Meinzen-Dick, Jemimah Njuki, 2019-10-31 Gender sensitive policy and programming have an integral role to play in fostering inclusive agricultural growth to meet the commitments of African countries to the Malabo Declaration goals The 2019 Annual Trends and Outlook Report from ReSAKSS applies a gender lens to key issues that must be addressed to fully achieve these goals Chapters examine the intersections between gender and 1 the context and institutions within which rural people operate 2 the natural resources that men and women depend on for agriculture sources of vulnerability and resilience to shocks 3 assets and income and 4 livelihood strategies and well being The report serves as the official M E report for the Comprehensive Africa Agriculture Development Programme CAADP tracking progress on over 30 CAADP indicators Development and the Next Generation Gudrun Kochendörfer-Lucius, Boris Pleskovic, 2007 The Berlin Workshop Series is a forum for the discussion of issues in development that are likely to have enduring relevance for research and policymaking These discussions are the building blocks to develop the framework which shapes the World Development Report It brings together key decision makers and researchers from the United States Europe and developing countries to discuss and brainstorm on development challenges Securing food for all in Bangladesh Ahmed, Akhter, ed., Islam, Nurul, ed., Mujeri, Mustafa K., ed., 2021-11-05 Securing Food for All in Bangladesh presents an array of research that collectively address four broad issues 1 agricultural technology adoption 2 input use and agricultural productivity 3 food security and output market and 4 poverty food security and women's empowerment The fifteen chapters of the book address diverse aspects within these four themes Access to sufficient food by all people at all times to meet their dietary needs is a matter of critical importance Despite declining arable agricultural land Bangladesh has made commendable progress in boosting domestic food production The growth in overall food production has been keeping ahead of population growth resulting in higher per capita availability of food over time In the early 1970s Bangladesh was a food deficit country with a population of about 75 million Today the population is 165 million and the country is now self sufficient in rice production which has tripled over the past three decades Along with enhanced food production increased income has improved people s access to food Furthermore nutritional outcomes have improved significantly Nevertheless the challenges to food and nutrition security remain formidable Future agricultural growth and food and nutrition security are threatened by population growth worsening soil fertility diminishing access to land and other scarce natural resources increasing vulnerability of crop varieties to pests and diseases and persistent poverty leading to poor access to food In addition the impacts of climate change an increase in the incidence of natural disasters sea intrusion and salinity will exacerbate food and nutrition insecurity in the coming decades if corrective measures are not taken Aligned with this context the authors of the book explore policy options and strategies for developing agriculture and improving food security in Bangladesh Securing Food for All in Bangladesh with its breadth and scope will be an invaluable resource for policymakers researchers and students dedicated to improving people s livelihoods in Bangladesh
