Social Security For Decision Makers:

Documentation and Decision Making in Social Security Claims ,1966 Decision making and appeals in the benefits system Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Work and Pensions Committee,2010-02-09 In this report the Work and Pensions Committee reiterates its call for the establishment of a Welfare Commission to create a fairer and simpler benefits system that claimants can understand and the Department of Work and Pensions DWP can administer more accurately The report concludes that the vast majority of decisions DWP makes are accepted by claimants and lead to the right benefits being paid on time to those who are eligible But the level of official error in the benefits system has increased substantially since 2000 01 The level of overpayments due to official error has risen from 0 4 billion 0 4 per cent of benefits paid to 0 8 billion 0 6 per cent of benefits paid in 2008 09 Although the Department has made great strides in reducing fraud this increase in error should be a cause for concern The report also highlights a worrying lack of response to scrutiny of the decision making and appeals DMA system by DWP A former President of the Appeal Tribunals Judge Robert Martin felt his reports were effectively ignored and there is evidence that the Decision Making Standards Committee lacks influence There should be a much more constructive response to scrutiny Another area that seems not to be working as effectively or as quickly as it should is the reconsideration process the review of decisions and the Department should examine this urgently

Social Security Bulletin ,2010 SSA Disability Decision Making E. Robertson Robert,2004-03 Historically the proportion of the Social Security Administration s SSA disability benefits claims that were approved has been lower for African Americans than for whites In 1992 GAO found that racial differences largely at the Administrative Law Judge ALJ level could not be completely explained by factors related to the decisionmaking process This report examines how race other factors influence ALJ decisions assesses SSA s ability to ensure the accuracy fairness of ALJ decisions GAO also makes recommendations for way that SSA can enhance its ALJ quality assurance reviews Charts tables Decision-making and Disability Living Allowance Northern Ireland Audit Office,2005-06-16 This report examines how the Social Security Agency Northern Ireland applies the complex rules which affect eligibility for Disability Living Allowance DLA Despite progress since 1998 in reducing the volume of DLA claims held by the Agency and improved accuracy there is still scope for further improvement The speed of decisions has been adversely affected by several factors There should be improvements in the training of frontline staff and further improvements in information technology solutions Fewer cases should be referred to the Agency s Medical Support Services The identification of errors in decision making by the Agency has improved for example through the use of the Periodic Enquiry process There has been a significant increase in the number of appeals by claimants since the decision making procedures were changed in October 1999 Decision makers should make more use of personal communication with claimants to collect initial or follow up evidence and this is especially important as DLA applicants are unlikely to have a detailed grasp of the disability eligibility rules If the Agency aimed for a 10 per cent reduction in DLA Attendance Allowance appeals the saving would be in excess of 190 000 per year Disability Decision Making ,2001 Tribunals in the Common Law World Robin Creyke,2008 Tribunals are a flexible method of adjudication that hear disputes between citizens and by citizens against government They come in diverse forms and their adjudications far outnumber those of courts For most people tribunals are the face of justice Increasing attention is being paid to tribunal procedures what decisions they can make and who are appointed as tribunal members This book provides a contemporary snapshot of tribunals and tribunal jurisprudence in the common law world with contributions and comparative studies from Australia Canada New Zealand and the United Kingdom Contributions are drawn from a distinguished cast of international tribunal experts judges and practitioners Decision Making in Child Welfare Services T.J. Stein,T.L. Rzepnicki,1984-01-31 All countries confront the problem of providing for dependent neglected and 1 abused children While the exact form of institutional response will differ in relation to a country s political and economic structure its culture and its tradition the same general kinds of child welfare services have been developed 2 everywhere Literature from the United States Canada and several Western European countries reflects a shared concern about children who reside in unplanned substitute care arrangements and a growing recognition of the importance of 3 making permanent plans for these children The American response to this problem took shape in the early 1970s when government at the local state and 4 federal levels undertook to fund permanency planning projects Permanency planning projects were charged with developing and testing procedures that would increase the likelihood that children would move out of substitute care arrangements into permanent family homes either through restoration to their biological families termination of parental rights and subsequent adoption court appointment of a legal guardian or planned emancipation for older children Long term foster care if it was a planned outcome supported by the use of written agreements between foster parents and child care agencies was recognized as an appropriate option for some children 2 DECISION MAKING IN CHILD WELFARE Permanency planning projects have had a direct effect on the substantive aspects of social work practice in child welfare Social Security Administration more effort needed to assess consistency of disability decisions : report to the Chairman, Subcommittee on Social Security, Committee on Ways and Means, House of Representatives. , Public Law Mark Elliott,Robert Thomas,2014 Public Law is an introductory textbook that offers a mixture of black letter law and political analysis to give students an excellent grounding in the subject It covers all of the key topics on undergraduate courses and includes a number of pedagogical features to aid understanding
