The Nearest Thing To Life The Mandel Lectures In The Humanities:

The Nearest Thing to Life James Wood, 2015-04-28 In this remarkable blend of memoir and criticism James Wood noted contributor to the New Yorker has written a master class on the connections between fiction and life He argues that of all the arts fiction has a unique ability to describe the shape of our lives and to rescue the texture of those lives from death and historical oblivion The act of reading is understood here as the most sacred and personal of activities and there are brilliant discussions of individual works among others Chekhov s story The Kiss W G Sebald s The Emigrants and Penelope Fitzgerald s The Blue Flower Wood reveals his own intimate relationship with the written word we see the development of a provincial boy growing up in a charged Christian environment the secret joy of his childhood reading the links he makes between reading and blasphemy or between literature and music The final section discusses fiction in the context of exile and homelessness The Nearest Thing to Life is not simply a brief tightly argued book by a man commonly regarded as our finest living critic it is also an exhilarating personal account that reflects on and embodies the fruitful conspiracy between reader and writer and critic and asks us to reconsider everything that is at stake when we read and write fiction One Planet,

Many Worlds Dipesh Chakrabarty, 2023-07-13 The book opens with a discussion of the pandemic then investigates the modern origins of the separation between natural and human histories and what may be at stake in that separation Does having different worlds make it difficult for humans to deal with a planet that is one Aesthetic Theology and Its Enemies David Nirenberg, 2015-07-07 The role of Judaism in the formation of Western aesthetics Why Fiction Matters in Contemporary China David Der-wei Wang, Dewei Wang, 2020-11-14 Contemporary discussions of China tend to focus on politics and economics giving Chinese culture little if any attention Why Fiction Matters in Contemporary China offers a corrective revealing the crucial role that fiction plays in helping contemporary Chinese citizens understand themselves and their nation Where history fails to address the consequences of man made and natural atrocities David Der Wei Wang argues fiction arises to bear witness to the immemorial and unforeseeable Beginning by examining President Xi Jinping s call in 2013 to tell the good China story Wang illuminates how contemporary Chinese cultural politics have taken a fictional turn which can trace its genealogy to early modern times He does so by addressing a series of discourses by critics within China including Liang Qichao Lu Xun and Shen Congwen as well as critics from the West such as Arendt Benjamin and Deleuze Wang highlights the variety and vitality of fictional works from China as well as the larger Sinophone world ranging from science fiction to political allegory erotic escapade to utopia and dystopia The result is an insightful account of contemporary China one that affords countless new insights and avenues for understanding The Divine Spark of Syracuse Ingrid D. Rowland, 2019 A study of place and creative inspiration The Donigers of Great Neck Wendy Doniger, 2019 This is the story of the contrasting Judaisms that Wendy Doniger s two parents brought from their very different homes in Europe during World War I of their paths to a shared but sharply bifurcated life in America during World War II her father a publisher her mother a political activist and of the ways in which their attitudes to religion in general and Judaism in particular influenced the author's development as a Jewish woman and a scholar of religion Climate Ghosts Nancy Langston, 2021-10-21 Langston focuses on three ghost species in the Great Lakes watershed woodland caribou common loons and lake sturgeon Their traces are still present in DNA small fragmented populations or in lone individuals We can still restore them if we make the hard choices necessary for them to survive The University of Chicago Magazine ,1996
