Studies on the Text of the New Testament and Early Christianity Daniel Gurtner, Juan Hernández, Jr., Paul Foster, 2015-09-29 The collection of essays focuses on the twin areas of research undertaken by Prof Michael W Holmes These are the sub disciplines of textual criticism and the study of the Apostolic Fathers The first part of the volume on textual criticism focuses on issues of method the praxis of editing and collating texts and discussions pertaining to individual variants The second part of the volume assembles essays on the Apostolic Fathers There is a particular focus on the person and writings of Polycarp since this is the area of research where Prof Holmes has worked most intensively

Studies in Matthew and Early Christianity Graham Stanton, 2013 Collection of texts published previously The (CUA Studies in Early Christianity) Early Christian Book William E. Klingshirn, Linda Safran, 2007 From the very beginning Christianity was a religion of books a lived but also a written faith The essays in this collection focus on the ways in which books were produced used treasured and conceptualized in the early Christian centuries AD 100 600 During this crucial period just after the New Testament writings were composed Christianity grew from the religion of a tiny minority in the eastern Roman Empire to the religion of the empire itself and beyond To no small extent this success was based on the power of its books Written by experts in the field the essays in this volume examine the early Christian book from a wide range of disciplines religion art history history Near Eastern studies and classics Topics include theories of the book book production and use books as sacred objects and problems of gender authorship and authority readers into the entire bookish world of early Christianity a world of writing and reading practices of copying and exchanging texts of persuading and debating with books and of representing holiness and power through codices of the law the scriptures and the lives of the saints Essays cover a wide geographical range and discuss texts written all across the Mediterranean world in Greek Latin Coptic Syriac and Hebrew All ancient texts are translated into English some for the first time Intended for general readers students and scholars alike anyone with a serious interest in early Christianity this work brings together exciting currents of new research It also opens up fresh questions and lines of inquiry in the study of this perennially important and fascinating subject An introduction by Philip Rousseau provides a valuable overview followed by essays written by Daniel Boyarin Catherine Burris Catherine Chin Gillian Clark Catherine Conybeare Kim Haines Eitzen Caroline Humfress Chrysi Kotsifou John Lowden Claudia Rapp Daniel Sarefield and Mark Vessey

Public Reading in Early Christianity Dan Nässelqvist, 2015-11-02 In Public Reading in Early Christianity Lectors Manuscripts and Sound in the Oral Delivery of John 1 4 Dan Nässelqvist investigates the oral delivery of New Testament writings in early Christian communities of the first two centuries C E He examines the role of lectors and public reading in the Greek and Roman world as well as in early Christianity Nässelqvist introduces a method of sound analysis which utilizes the correspondence between composition and delivery in ancient literary writings to retrieve information about oral delivery from the sound structures of the text being read aloud Finally he applies the method of sound analysis to John 14 and presents the implications for our understanding of public reading and the Gospel of John The Biblical Canon Lists from Early Christianity Edmon L. Gallagher, John D. Meade, 2017 A volume of texts and translations of canon lists in early Christianity specifically from the first four centuries CE on the grounds that this is the most formative period in the development of the early Christian canon 'Noncanonical' Religious Texts in Early Judaism and Early Christianity Lee Martin McDonald, James H. Charlesworth, 2012-04-05 Discusses ancient religious texts especially the so called non canonical texts by focusing on how they were used or functioned in Early Judaism and Early Christianity Peter in Early Christianity Helen K. Bond, Larry W. Hurtado, 2015 Long overshadowed by the apostle Paul Peter has received increased scholarly attention of late Building on that resurgence of interest nineteen internationally prominent scholars of early Christian history examine and reassess the historical Peter and his significance in Christian texts from the first three centuries Giving due attention to archaeological data and recent scholarship the contributors offer a comprehensive view of Peter through analysis of both New Testament texts and later noncanonical literature Markus Bockmuehl concludes the volume by considering present day questions about the role of Peter popes and church leadership The Earliest Christian Artifacts Larry W. Hurtado, 2006-11-02 Review Much attention has been paid to the words of the earliest Christian canonical and extracanonical texts yet Larry Hurtado points out that an even more telling story is being overlooked the story of the physical texts themselves He introduces readers to the staurogram possibly the first representation of the cross the nomina sacra a textual abbreviation system and the puzzling Christian preference for book like texts over scrolls Drawing on studies by papyrologists and palaeographers as well as New Testament scholars and including photographic plates of selected manuscripts The Earliest Christian Artifacts examines the distinctive physical features of early Christian manuscripts illustrating their relevance for wider inquiry into the complex origins of Christianity book jacket Changing the Goalpost of New Testament Textual Criticism Abidan Paul Shah, 2020-10-02 Before the 1960s the goal of New Testament Textual Criticism was singular to retrieve the original text of the New Testament Since then the goalpost has incrementally shifted away from the original text to retrieving any text or many texts of the NT Some scholars have even concluded that the original text is hopelessly lost and cannot be retrieved with any confidence or accuracy Other scholars have gone a step further to claim that the idea of an original text itself is a misconception that needs to be abandoned If this new approach in NTTC is correct then the authority of Scripture is weakened or no longer valid It will be shown in this book that such is not the case Furthermore emphasis will be placed on the need to return to the traditional goalpost of NTTC i e to retrieve the original text Without a generally definitive text the door will be left wide open to recreate any desired text of the NT An unsettled original text will result in an unsettled biblical theology due to a lack of any authoritative and standard text Consequently it will lead to an unsettled Christian faith and practice Jesus, the Temple, and Early Christian Memory Scott Brevard, 2025-08-07 Jewish identity during the Second Temple period 515 BCE 70 CE was complex multifaceted and variable but many studies of this period treat Jewish attitudes toward one key feature the Jerusalem temple as simple and uniform Brevard aims to complicate this notion by examining early Christian traditions of Jesus's relationship with the temple Early Christian memory constructed transformed and transmitted traditions about the past into their present contexts Examining early Christian memory as represented by canonical and noncanonical gospel traditions in the first three centuries CE allows scholars to ask how certain figures institutions or beliefs were remembered and represented as well as to posit theories as to why memories were constructed in particular ways and how these memories related to their contemporary historical and social frameworks Early Christians remembered Jesus as having a complex relationship with the Jerusalem temple and these early Christian traditions of Jesus impacted their own contemporary worldviews This complicated relationship with the temple however was not a new phenomenon but one that was already familiar to those constructing experiencing remembering and transmitting their Jewish identity throughout the diaspora world in the Second Temple period
