Study Guide 16 Herlihy:

Quantitative Studies of the Renaissance Florentine Economy and Society Richard T. Lindholm, 2017-01-02 Quantitative Studies of the Renaissance Florentine Economy and Society is a collection of nine quantitative studies probing aspects of Renaissance Florentine economy and society The collection organized by topic source material and analysis methods discusses risk and return specifically the population's responses to the plague and also the measurement of interest rates The work analyzes the population's wealth distribution the impact of taxes and subsidies on art and architecture the level of neighborhood segregation and the accumulation of wealth Additionally this study assesses the competitiveness of Florentine markets and the level of monopoly power the nature of women's work and the impact of business risk on the organization of industrial production

The Money Myth W. Norton Grubb, 2009-01-15 Can money buy high quality education Studies find only a weak relationship between public school funding and educational outcomes In The Money Myth W Norton Grubb proposes a powerful paradigm shift in the way we think about why some schools thrive and others fail The greatest inequalities in America's schools lie in factors other than fiscal support Fundamental differences in resources other than money for example in leadership instruction and tracking policies explain the deepening divide in the success of our nation's schoolchildren The Money Myth establishes several principles for a bold new approach to education reform Drawing on a national longitudinal dataset collected over twelve years Grubb makes a crucial distinction between simple resources and those compound complex and abstract resources that cannot be readily bought Money can buy simple resources such as higher teacher salaries and smaller class sizes but these resources are actually some of the weakest predictors of educational outcomes On the other hand complex resources pertaining to school practices are astonishingly strong predictors of success Grubb finds that tracking policies have the most profound and consistent impact on student outcomes over time Schools often relegate low performing students particularly minorities to vocational remedial and special education tracks So even in well funded schools resources may never reach the students who need them most Grubb also finds that innovation in the classroom has a critical impact on student success Here too America's schools are stratified Teachers in underperforming schools tend to devote significant amounts of time to administration and discipline while instructors in highly ranked schools dedicate the bulk of their time to engaged learning using varied pedagogical approaches Effective schools distribute leadership among many instructors and administrators and they foster a sense of both trust and accountability These schools have a clear mission and coherent agenda for reaching goals Underperforming schools by contrast implement a variety of fragmented reforms and practices without developing a unified plan This phenomenon is perhaps most powerfully visible in the negative repercussions of No Child Left Behind In a frantic attempt to meet federal standards and raise test scores quickly more and more schools are turning to scripted off the shelf curricula These practices discourage student engagement suppress teacher creativity and hold little promise of improving learning beyond the most basic skills Grubb shows that infusions of money alone won't eradicate inequality in America's schools. We need to address the vast differences in the way school communities operate. By looking beyond school finance, The Money Myth gets to the core reasons why education in America is so unequal and provides clear recommendations for addressing this chronic national problem. Library of Congress, 1968 National Library of Medicine Audiovisuals Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), Victim Participation in International Criminal Justice Kinga Tibori-Szabó, Megan Hirst, 2017-07-08 This book is a guide to the law and practice of victims' roles before the International Criminal Court, the Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia and the Special Tribunal for Lebanon. The various chapters focus on the provisions relevant to victim participation at these courts and the case law interpreting and applying those provisions. The book thus informs the reader on the principal ways in which the relevant practice is developing, the distinct avenues taken in the application of similar provisions as well as the ensuing advantages and challenges. Unlike other volumes focusing on relevant academic literature, this volume is written mainly by practitioners and is addressed to those lawyers, legal advisers and victimologists who work or wish to work in the field of victim participation in international criminal justice. Kinga Tibori Szab is legal officer for the Kosovo Specialist Chambers in The Hague and has previously worked for the Legal Representative of Victims at the Special Tribunal for Lebanon. Megan Hirst is a barrister at Doughty Street Chambers in London and has worked on victims' participation issues in the Registries of the International Criminal Court and the Special Tribunal for Lebanon as well as in an LRV team in Prosecutor v. Dominic Ongwen.

National Union Catalog, 1953 Instructor, 1976 Higher Education, 1954 Noble Strategies Judith J. Hurwich, 2006-06-01 Through the colorful family histories and rich detail of the Zimmern Chronicle, historian Judith Hurwich examines marriage, family and sexuality among the early modern German nobility. She uses the house chronicles of the Zimmern family and the families of the counts and barons with whom they intermarried to investigate marriage and nonmarital sexuality in the southwest German nobility in the late fifteenth and the sixteenth centuries. Along with a deeper look at women's roles as wives, mothers and concubines, Noble Strategies shines a light on the intimate lives of the early modern German elite. The Material Culture of Sex, Procreation, and Marriage in Premodern Europe A.

McClanan, K. Encarnación, 2016-09-23 This interdisciplinary anthology takes as its starting point the belief that as the material grounds of lived experience, material culture provides an avenue of historical access to women's lives extending beyond the reaches of textual evidence. Studies here range from utilitarian tools used in Late Roman abortion to sacred magical or ritual objects associated with sex, procreation and marriage in the Renaissance. Together, the essays demonstrate the complex relationship between language and object and explore the ways in which objects become forms of communication in their own right, transmitting both rather specific messages and more generalized social and cultural values.
