encourage students to use their own ideas for making art By observing children at play and using props and situations familiar to them teachers can build on children s energy and self initiated discoveries to inspire school art that comes from the child s imagination The foundation of this teaching approach is the belief that the essential goal of art teaching is to inspire children to behave like artists that art comes from within themselves and not from the art teacher Play and Creativity in Art Teaching offers plans for the study of children s play and for discovering creative art teaching as a way to bring play into the art room While it does not offer a teaching formula or a single set of techniques to be followed it demystifies art and shows how teachers can help children find art in familiar and ordinary places accessible to everyone This book also speaks to parents and the important roles they can play in supporting school art programs and nourishing the creativity of their children

Understanding Art Education Nicholas Addison, Lesley Burgess, John Steers, Jane Trowell, 2010-01-04 What is distinctive about art and design as a subject in secondary schools What contribution does it make to the wider curriculum How can art and design develop the agency of young people Understanding Art Education examines the theory and practice of helping young people learn in and beyond the secondary classroom It provides guidance and stimulation for ways of thinking about art and design when preparing to teach and provides a framework within which teachers can locate their own experiences and beliefs Designed to complement the core textbook Learning to Teach Art and Design in the Secondary School which offers pragmatic approaches for trainee and newly qualified teachers this book suggests ways in which art and design teachers can engage reflexively with their continuing practice Experts in the field explore The histories of art and design education and their relationship to wider social and cultural developments Creativity as a foundation for learning Engaging with contemporary practice in partnership with external agencies The role of assessment in evaluating creative and collaborative practices Interdisciplinary approaches to art and design Developing dialogue as a means to address citizenship and global issues in art and design education Understanding Art Education will be of interest to all students and practising teachers particularly those studying at M Level as well as teacher educators and researchers who wish to reflect on their identity as an artist and teacher and the ways in which the subject can inform and contribute to education and society more widely
