Greek Myths Charlotte Higgins, 2022-01-11 A brilliantly original landmark retelling of Greek myths recounted as if they were actual scenes being woven into textiles by the women who feature prominently in them including Athena Helen Circe and Penelope Greek myths were full of powerful witches unpredictable gods and sword wielding slayers They were also extreme about families who turn murderously on each other impossible tasks set by cruel kings love that goes wrong wars and journeys and terrible loss There was magic there was shape shifting there were monsters there were descents to the land of the dead Humans and immortals inhabited the same world which was sometimes perilous sometimes exciting The stories were obviously fantastical All the same brothers really do war with each other People tell the truth but aren't believed Wars destroy the innocent Lovers are parted Parents endure the grief of losing children Women suffer violence at the hands of men The cleverest of people can be blind to what is really going on The law of the land can contradict what you know to be just Mysterious diseases devastate cities Floods and fire tear lives apart For the Greeks the word muthos simply meant a traditional tale In the twenty first century we have long left behind the political and religious framework in which these stories first circulated but their power endures Greek myths remain true for us because they excavate the very extremes of human experience sudden inexplicable catastrophe radical reversals of fortune and seemingly arbitrary events that transform lives They deal in short in the hard basic facts of the human condition from the Introduction

Retelling Stories, Framing Culture John Stephens, Rbyn McCallum, 2013-01-11 What happens to traditional stories when they are retold in another time and cultural context and for a different audience This first of its kind study discusses Bible stories classical myths heroic legends Arthurian romances Robin Hood lore folk tales oriental tales and other stories derived from European cultures One chapter is devoted to various retellings of classics from Shakespeare to Wind in the Willows The authors offer a general theory of what motivates the retelling of stories and how stories express the aspirations of a society An important function of stories is to introduce children to a cultural heritage and to transmit a body of shared allusions and experiences that expresses a society's central values and assumptions However the cultural heritage may be modified through a pervasive tendency of retellings to produce socially conservative outcomes because of ethnocentric androcentric and class based assumptions in the source stories that persist into retellings Therefore some stories such as classical myths are particularly resistant to feminist reinterpretations for example while other types such as folktales are more malleable In examining such possibilities the book evaluates the processes of interpretation apparent in retellings Index included Myth in the Modern Novel Liisa Steinby, 2023-03-20 Myth in the Modern Novel Imagining the Absolute posits a twofold thesis First although Modernity is regarded as an era dominated by science and rational thought it has in fact not relinquished the hold of myth a more primitive form of thought which is difficult to reconcile with modern rationality Second some of the most important statements as to the reconcilability of myth and Modernity are found in the work of certain prominent novelists This book offers a close examination of the work of eleven writers from the late eighteenth century to the beginning of the twenty first representing German French American Czech and Swedish literature The analyses of individual novels reveal a variety of intriguing views of myth in Modernity and offer an insight into the modernizing transformations myth has undergone when applied in the modern novel The study shows the presence of the subconscious the mythic layer in modern western culture and how this has been dealt with in novelistic literature Multidisciplinary Research Area in Arts, Science & Commerce
