Hudson,2022-04-05 Through speculative fiction five interlocking novelettes explore the possible realities of our climate future What is the future of our climate Given that our summers now regularly feature Arctic heat waves and wildfire blood skies polar vortex winters that reach all the way down to Texas and 100 year storms that hit every few months it may seem that catastrophe is a done deal As grim as things are however we still have options Combining fiction and nonfiction and employing speculative tools for scholarly purposes Our Shared Storm explores not just one potential climate future but five possible outcomes dependent upon our actions today Written by speculative fiction writer and sustainability researcher Andrew Dana Hudson Our Shared Storm features five overlapping fictions to employ a futurist technique called scenarios thinking Rather than try to predict how history will unfold picking one out of many unpredictable and contingent branching paths it instead creates a set of futures that represent major trends or counterposed possibilities based on a set of climate modeling scenarios known as the Shared Socioeconomic Pathways SSPs The setting is the year 2054 during the Conference of the Parties global climate negotiations at the COP in Buenos Aires Argentina. Each story features a common cast of characters but with events unfolding differently for them and human society in each alternate universe. These five scenarios highlight the political, economic, and cultural possibilities of futures where investments in climate adaptation and mitigation promised today have been successfully completed, kicked down the road, or abandoned altogether. From harrowing to hopeful, these stories highlight the choices we must make to stabilize the planet. Our Shared Storm is an experiment in deploying practice-based research methods to explore the opportunities and challenges of using climate fiction to engage scientific and academic frameworks.

Suggested in the Stars Yoko Tawada, 2024-10-01

On the heels of Scattered All Over the Earth, Yoko Tawada's new and irresistible Suggested in the Stars carries on her band of friends' astonishing and intrepid adventures. It's hard to believe there could be a more enjoyable novel than Scattered All Over the Earth. Yoko Tawada's rollicking, touching, cheerfully dystopian novel about friendship and climate change, but surprising her readers is what Tawada does best: its sequel Suggested in the Stars delivers exploits even more poignant and shambolic. As Hiruko, whose Land of Sushi has vanished into the sea and who is still searching for someone who speaks her mother tongue, and her new friends travel onward, they begin opening up to one another in new and extraordinary ways. They try to help their friend Susanoo regain his voice, both for his own good and so he can speak with Hiruko, and amid many often hilarious misunderstandings, some linguistic in nature, they empower each other against despair. Coping with carbon footprint worries but looping singly and in pairs, they hitchhike, take late night motorcycle rides, and hop on the train, learning about railway strikes but also packed train yoga to convene in Copenhagen. There they find Susanoo in a strange hospital working with a scary speech loss doctor. In the half basement of this weird medical center with strong echoes of Lars von Trier's 1990s TV series The Kingdom, they also find two special kids washing dishes. They discover magic radios, personality swaps, ship tickets delivered by a robot, and other gifts. But friendship, loaning one another the nerve and heart to keep going, sets them all, and the reader, to dreaming of something more. Suggested in the Stars delivers new delights, and Yoko Tawada's famed new trilogy will conclude in 2025 with Archipelago of the Sun, even if nobody will ever want this strange, exquisite New Yorker trip to end.
