Psychoanalysis and Motivational Systems Joseph D. Lichtenberg, Frank M. Lachmann, James L. Fosshage, 2011-01-07 Introduced in Psychoanalysis and Motivation 1989 and further developed in Self and Motivational Systems 1992 The Clinical Exchange 1996 and A Spirit of Inquiry 2002 motivational systems theory aims to identify the components and organization of mental states and the process by which affects intentions and goals unfold Motivation is described as a complex intersubjective process that is cocreated in the developing individual embedded in a matrix of relationships with others Opening by placing motivational systems theory within a contemporary dynamic systems theory Lichtenberg Lachmann and Fosshage then respond to critics of motivational systems theory The authors present revisions to their approach to the original five motivational systems adding two more an affiliative and a caregiving motivational system The authors go on to suggest using ideas garnered from complexity theory and fractals that motivational systems theory can help us understand how a continuity of self can be maintained despite near constant fluctuations in interpersonal relations They then consider how the making of inferences explicitly and implicitly is shaped by motivation before applying their theory to an actual human experience love to demonstrate the interplay of multiple shifting motivations within an individual Last they present new looks at the clinical applicability of their research Grounded in observational research of infants but relevant to psychoanalysis at any stage of life motivational systems theory has evolved via the combined experiences of these three analysts for more than 20 years and remains an important contribution to our understanding of the driving forces behind human experience

Climate Crisis, Psychoanalysis, and Radical Ethics

Donna M. Orange, 2016-09-13 Psychoanalysis engages with the difficult subjects in life but it has been slow to address climate change Climate Crisis Psychoanalysis and Radical Ethics draws on the latest scientific evidence to set out the likely effects of climate change on politics economics and society more generally including impacts on psychoanalysts Despite a tendency to avoid the warnings times of crisis summon clinicians to emerge from comfortable consulting rooms Daily engaged with human suffering they now face the inextricably bound together crises of global warming and massive social injustices After considering historical and emotional causes of climate unconsciousness and of compulsive consumerism this book argues that only a radical ethics of responsibility to be my other s keeper will truly wake us up to climate change and bring psychoanalysts to actively take on responsibilities such as demanding change from governments living more simply flying less and caring for the earth and its inhabitants everywhere Linking climate justice to radical ethics by way of psychoanalysis Donna Orange explores many relevant aspects of psychoanalytic expertise referring to work on trauma mourning and the transformation of trouble into purpose Orange makes practical suggestions for action in the psychoanalytic and psychotherapeutic communities reducing air travel consolidating organizations and conferences better use of internet communication and education This book includes both philosophical considerations of egoism close to psychoanalytic narcissism as problematic together with work on shame and envy as motivating compulsive and conspicuous consumption The interweaving of climate emergency and massive social injustice presents psychoanalysts and organized psychoanalysis with a radical ethical demand and an extraordinary opportunity for leadership Climate Crisis Psychoanalysis and Radical Ethics will provide accessible and thought provoking reading for psychoanalysts and psychotherapists as well as philosophers environmental studies scholars and students studying across these fields

Beyond Fragmentation Ingrid

Pedroni, 2023-03-09 Profoundly honest unflinching in examining her own history as a thinker and clinician Ingrid Pedroni challenges us to see where we have been and where we have failed each of us Donna Orange from the Foreword Ingrid Pedroni is multicultural to her core Fully fluent in German Italian and English she took that multilingual outlook to the varied world of psychoanalysis Beginning her journey with a Jungian analysis she later read The Restoration of the Self by Heinz Kohut and discovered a theoretical and clinical framework consistent with her Jungian experience Thus began her engagement with different theoretical dimensions and clinical settings Beyond Fragmentation is a masterly overview of the result of her open minded exploration of not only traditional and contemporary psychoanalytic schools of thought but also systemic family therapy plus modern anthropology theatre and literature Part I explores the integration of different theoretical and clinical models with special reference to self psychology and relational psychoanalysis Part II outlines significant areas of experience that build the sense of self and how it is represented in intra psychic and inter relational dimensions Part III focuses on couple and family relations their evolution over time and how they represent an essential part of the self The final part deals with the treatment of cultural diversity the universality of attachment bonds and the extreme specificity of their cultural expression Throughout the book are clinical and theoretical concepts derived from authors such as Adler Jung Rank Fromm Ferenczi Klein Winnicott Loewald Bowlby Bion and of course Freud The clinical examples illustrate how it is possible to weave together the various threads of theoretical thinking and clinical practice not only in the many diversified psychoanalytic schools but also in the larger field of the psychotherapies The varied themes covered include gender couple relations family therapy spirituality cultural diversity and integration migration transcultural psychotherapy and collective trauma This book is essential reading for trainee and practising clinicians and may well help them to find their own integration of therapeutic experiences Professionals active in social educational and psychological fields will also find much useful and engaging information to help them in their work

The Search for a Relational Home Chris Jaenicke, 2014-09-25 In The Search for a Relational Home Chris Jaenicke gives the reader an inside view of what actually happens in psychotherapy and how change occurs He describes how both participants the patient and the therapist feel and how they affect each other The reader is encouraged to vicariously partake in the process from the perspective of his or her own life experiences The book describes the nature of therapeutic action through a radicalized version of intersubjective systems theory It demonstrates how psychotherapy is an outcome of a highly personal encounter between two unique human beings and how while the goal of psychoanalysis is to help the patient this can only be achieved inasmuch as both participants are willing to undergo transformation Jaenicke clarifies how both successes and failures as well as personal strengths and weaknesses play a constitutive part in the psychotherapeutic process The Search for a Relational Home also provides theoretical and practical guidelines for supervision Jaenicke presents here a unique approach to the process of psychotherapy which will be vital reading for psychoanalysts psychotherapists and those in training as well as students in all fields of mental health

A Rumor of Empathy Lou Agosta, 2015-06-05 Empathy is an essential component of the psychoanalyst's ability to listen and treat their patients It is key to the achievement of therapeutic understanding and change A Rumor of Empathy explores the psychodynamic resistances to empathy from the analyst themselves the patient from wider culture and seeks to explore those factors which represent resistance to empathic engagement and to show how these can be overcome in the psychoanalytic context Lou Agosta shows that classic interventions can themselves represent resistances to empathy such as the unexamined life over medication and the application of devaluing diagnostic labels to expressions of suffering Drawing on Freud Kohut Spence and other major thinkers Agosta explores how empathy is distinguished as a unified multidimensional clinical engagement encompassing receptivity understanding interpretation and narrative In this way he sets out a new way of understanding and using empathy in psychoanalytic theory and clinical practice When all the resistances have been engaged defences analyzed diagnostic categories applied prescriptions written and interpretive circles spun out in empathy one is quite simply in the presence of another human being Agosta depicts the unconscious forms of resistance and raises our understanding of the fears of merger that lead a therapist to take a step back from the experience of their patients using ideas such as altruistic surrender and compassion fatigue which are highlighted in a number of clinical vignettes Empathy itself is not self contained It is embedded in social and cultural values and Agosta highlights the mental health culture and its expectations of professional organizations This outstanding text will be relevant to psychoanalysts psychotherapists who wish to make a contribution to reducing the suffering and emotional distress of their clients and also to trainees who are more vulnerable to the professional demands on their capacity for empathic listening Lou Agosta Ph D teaches empathy in systems and the history of psychology at the Illinois School of Professional Psychology at Argosy University He is the author of numerous articles on empathy in human relations aesthetics altruism and film He is a psychotherapist in private practice in Chicago USA See www.aRumorOfEmpathy.com

Grief and Its Transcendence Adele Tutter, Léon Wurmser, 2015-09-16 Grief and its Transcendence Memory Identity Creativity is a landmark contribution that provides fresh insights into the experience and process of mourning It includes fourteen original essays by pre eminent psychoanalysts historians classicists theologians architects art historians and artists that take on the subject of normal rather than pathological mourning In particular it considers the diversity of the mourning process the bereavement of ordinary vs extraordinary loss the contribution of mourning to personal and creative growth and individual social and cultural means of transcending grief The book is divided into three parts each including two to four essays followed by one or two critical discussions Co editor Adele Tutter's Prologue outlines the salient themes and tensions that emerge from the volume Part I juxtaposes the consideration of grief in antiquity with an examination of the contemporary use of memorials to facilitate communal remembrance Part II offers intimate first person accounts of mourning from four renowned psychoanalysts that challenge long held psychoanalytic formulations of mourning Part III contains deeply personal essays that explore the use of sculpture photography and music to withstand mourn and transcend loss on individual cultural and political levels Drawing on the humanistic wisdom that underlies psychoanalytic thought co editor L on Wurmser s Epilogue closes the volume Grief and its Transcendence will be a must for psychoanalysts psychotherapists psychiatrists and scholars within other disciplines who are interested in the topics of grief bereavement and creativity

Craft and Spirit Joseph D. Lichtenberg, 2013-09-05 In Craft and Spirit Joseph Lichtenberg writes of the craft of exploratory psychotherapy by which he means the creative skill even artistry that mobilizes the spirit of inquiry in therapist and patient and sustains it over the course of psychotherapy He expatiates on this craft as it pertains to patients of our time patients who typically bring to therapy backgrounds of insecure attachment and serious concerns about safety and retraumatization In each of ten chapters Lichtenberg formulates a different guideline for technique keyed to the broad domain of exploratory psychotherapies and are accompanied by numerous clinical illustrations These guidelines seek to foster greater therapist involvement without compromising an openness to psychological exploration They seek to sensitize therapists to the two interlacing tracks of communication that unfold in treatment those of verbal exchange and of enactive messages And they help guide therapist attention among interpenetrating domains of the patient s subjectivity the therapist s subjectivity and the intersubjective realm that emerges from their collaborative experience Fusing the humanist tradition of therapeutic inquiry with knowledge gained from recent infancy and child research Lichtenberg develops guidelines suitable to exploratory therapy with patients who communicate not only verbally but also through diverse affect states and altered cognitions Consistently illuminating on the parallels and disjunctions between caregiver child and therapist patient relationships Lichtenberg is clear about the adult to adult dimension of exploratory work in which provision is necessarily subordinate to inquiry Craft and Spirit is aimed equally at prospective patients therapists and analysts all of whom will be edified by this masterful demonstration of the ways in which a spirit of inquiry imbues the craft of psychotherapy in Lichtenberg s words with its liveliness of sustained purpose

Persons in Context Roger Frie, William J. Coburn, 2011-01-19 In contemporary forms of psychoanalysis particularly intersubjective systems theory the turn towards contextualism has permitted the development of new ways of thinking and practicing that have dispensed with the notion of isolated individuality For many who embrace this post subjectivist way of thinking and practicing the recognition that all human experience is fundamentally immersed in the world makes the question of individuality seem confusing even anachronistic Yet the challenge of individuality remains an important and pressing issue for contemporary theory and practice many clinicians are left to wonder about the role of individual experience and how to approach it conceptually or clinically This volume of original essays gives the problem of individuality its due without losing sight of the importance of contextualized experience Drawing on a variety of disciplinary backgrounds philosophical developmental biological and neuroscientific the contributors address the tension that exists between individuality and the emergence of contextualism as a dominant mode of psychoanalytic theory and practice thereby providing unique insights into the role and place of individuality both in and out of the clinical setting Ultimately these essays demonstrate that individuality no matter how it may be defined always occurs within a contextual web that forms the basis of human experience Contributors William J Coburn Philip Cushman James L Fosshage Roger Frie Frank M Lachmann Jack Martin Donna Orange Robert D Stolorow Jeff Sugarman Nothing Good is Allowed to Stand Leon Wurmser, Léon Wurmser, Heidrun Jarass, 2012 First Published in 2013 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Growth and Turbulence in the Container/Contained: Bion's Continuing Legacy Howard B. Levine, Lawrence J. Brown, 2013-02-11 Wilfred Bion remains the most cited author in psychoanalytic literature after Sigmund Freud His formulation of alpha function waking dream thoughts his theory of thinking and of the container contained have proven seminal for the elaboration of psychoanalytic theory and practice as well as the exploration of psychic functioning and the primordial mind Growth and Turbulence in the Container Contained is based on papers presented at the 2009 International Bion Conference held in Boston Massachusetts It represents the state of the art thinking of an outstanding international group of Bion scholars and experts This book includes the most current trends in Bion scholarship covering topics that range from the historical biographical to the clinical the theoretical the developmental to the cultural and aesthetic Proving a vital stimulus to further creative explorations in the field Growth and Turbulence in the Container Contained will be of particular interest to psychoanalytic practitioners graduate psychoanalysts analytic candidates psychoanalytic therapists advanced therapy trainees and scholars of all schools Progress in Self Psychology, V. 20 William J. Coburn, 2013-07-04 Transformations in Self Psychology highlights the manner in which contemporary self psychology has become in the words of series editor William Coburn a continuing series of revolutions within a revolution Of special note are contributions that explore the bidirectional influences between self psychology and other explanatory paradigms The volume begins with Stern's thoughtful attempt to integrate self psychological and relational perspectives on transference countertransference enactments Fosshage and Munschauer's presentation of a case of extreme nihilism and aversiveness elicits a series of discussions that constructively highlights divergent perspectives on the meaning and role of enactment in treatment and on the so called empathy authenticity dichotomy The productive exploration of theoretical differences also enters in the redefinition of notions of gender and sexuality a topic of increasing interest to self psychologists Differing perspectives which give rise to differing clinical emphases emerge in the exchanges of Clifford and Goldner and of VanDerHeide and Hartmann The special contextualist demands of work with intercultural couples foster a more integrative sensibility with self psychological borrowings from interpretive anthropology and attachment theory Clinical contributors to Volume 20 explore manifestations of a tension that permeates all analytic work that between the patient's newly emerging ability to expand the self in growth-consolidating ways and the countervailing dread to repeat. Enlarged by Malin's personal reflections of Fifty Years of Psychoanalysis and by book review essays focusing on the writings of Lachmann and Stolorow respectively, Transformations in Self Psychology bespeaks the continuing vitality of contemporary self psychology.

Progress in Self Psychology, V. 16 Arnold I. Goldberg, 2013-06-17
Volume 16 of Progress in Self Psychology
How Responsive Should We Be illuminates the continuing tension between Kohut's emphasis on the patient's subjective experience and the post-Kohutian intersubjectivists' concern with the therapist's own subjectivity by focusing on issues of therapeutic posture and degree of therapist activity. Teicholz provides an integrative context for examining this tension by discussing affect as the common denominator underlying the analyst's empathy, subjectivity, and authenticity. Responses to the tension encompass the stance of intersubjective contextualism, advocacy of active responsiveness, and emphasis on the thoroughgoing bidirectionality of the analytic endeavor. Balancing these perspectives are a reprise on Kohut's concept of prolonged empathic immersion and a recasting of the issue of closeness and distance in the analytic relationship in terms of analysis of the tie to the negative selfobject. Additional clinical contributions examine severe bulimia and suicidal rage as attempts at self-state regulation and address the self-reparative functions that inhere in the act of dreaming. Like previous volumes in the series, volume 16 demonstrates the applicability of self psychology to nonanalytic treatment modalities and clinical populations. Here self psychology is brought to bear on psychotherapy with placed children, on work with adults with nonverbal learning disabilities, and on brief therapy. Rector's examination of twinship and religious experience, Hagman's elucidation of the creative process, and Siegel and Topel's experiment with supervision via the internet exemplify the ever-expanding explanatory range of self psychological insights.

Progress in Self Psychology, V. 15 Arnold I. Goldberg, 2013-06-17
Volume 15 of Progress in Self Psychology conveys the rich pluralism of contemporary self psychology with respect to a central theoretical and clinical issue: the nature of the self and the manner in which it can best be studied. This topic is initially addressed through a series of papers reassessing selfobject transferences and the selfobject function of interpretation. It is then approached via the theory of psychoanalytic technique with papers that focus on boundaries and intimacy and on Surface Depth and the Isolated Mind. And it culminates in two case studies that elicit animated discussion.

delineating different perspectives intersubjective motivational systems and self selfobject on the self in relation to the therapeutic process Two studies comparing Melanie Klein and Heinz Kohut a discussion of how current cultural attitudes affect parenting a relational view of the therapeutic partnership and an integration of Silvan Tomkin s affect theory with self psychology add breadth to this timely and provocative collection Volume 15 includes additional letters from the Kohut Archives and a moving account of Kohut s struggle with his own impending death The Silent Past and the Invisible Present Paul Renn,2012-04-27 Drawing on research in the fields of cognitive and developmental psychology attachment trauma and neuroscience as well as 20 years in forensic and private practice Paul Renn deftly illustrates the ways in which this research may be used to inform an integrated empirical hermeneutic model of clinical practice He suggests that silent invisible processes derived from the past maintain non optimal ways of experiencing and relating in the present and that a neuroscience understanding of the dynamic nature of memories and of the way in which the implicit and explicit memory systems operate and interact is salient to a concomitant understanding of trauma personality development and therapeutic action Specifically Renn argues that an intersubjective psychodynamic model can use the power of an emotionally meaningful therapeutic relationship to gradually facilitate both relational and neurological changes in patients with trauma histories Taken as a whole these themes reflect a paradigmatic shift in psychoanalytic thinking about clinical work and the process of change Psychoanalytic Terms and Concepts Elizabeth L. Auchincloss,Eslee Samberg,American Psychoanalytic Association,2012-10-30 This is the first revised expanded and updated edition of Psychoanalytic Terms and Concepts since its third edition in 1990 It presents a scholarly exposition of English language psychoanalytic terms and concepts including those from all contemporary schools of theory and practice Each entry starts with a brief definition that is followed by an explanation of the significance of the term concept for psychoanalysis its historical development and the present day controversies about best usage
