

Making Connections

Readers make connections to other texts, themselves and the world as they read.

- Does this text remind you of something else you have read?
- Has something like this ever happened to you?
- Is this text similar to something happening in the world?
- How did your connection help you understand the text?
- How are you the same or different to the characters in the book?
- How does this text relate to your life?
- Is this text the same or different to the types of texts you like to read?

Predicting

Readers use written and visual clues from the text as well as their own personal experiences to make predictions about what might happen before, during and after reading.

- What clues can you get from the visuals and graphics in this text?
- What might happen next? What clues help you to make this prediction?
- Has your prediction been confirmed? Do you need to modify your prediction?
- What information from your own life helped you make your prediction?

Summarising

Readers identify the main ideas of the text and retell them, in order, in their own words.

- Can you retell the text in your own words?
- What are the most important events or ideas in this text?
- In what order did the events happen in?
- If you were to write a review of this text, what would you say?
- What is the main point of this text?
- What key words would you write down to help you summarise a text?

Questioning

Readers ask and answer questions to clarify meaning and ensure they understand what they have read. They ask questions before, during and after reading.

- What was the author's intentions in writing this book?
- Can I relate to the character? How are we alike and different?
- Why did the author portray that character in that way?
- What questions do you have?
- What would you like to know more about?
- How did this text make you feel?

Monitoring

Readers stop to think when they have lost meaning and have a range of strategies to regain understanding.

- Does this make sense?
- Does this sound right?
- Does this look right?
- Should you reread this passage?
- Does it make sense now?
- Does what you have read fit with what the text is about?
- What strategies did you use to help you understand the text?

Readers will find this immensely readable book filled with strategies that can be easily implemented and that will improve student learning. If you are interested in improving your students' reading achievement, you need to read this book. Timothy Rasinski, author of The Fluent Reader and Close Reading with Paired Texts, in this new edition of Reciprocal Teaching at Work, Lori Oczkus offers new thinking while reinforcing the best practices that make her ideas timeless. Through these engaging lessons and smart instructional moves, you will empower your students to build the confidence and competence they need to become strong, independent readers. Donalyn Miller, author of The Book Whisperer, on every page of this book, in every activity, and plan the voice of a gifted and empowering teacher inspires the reader. In a major revision of her classic work, Lori Oczkus engages the immediacy and demands of today's classrooms with the most robust constellation of strategies for teaching comprehension. She compellingly demonstrates how the Fab Four are engaged across the grades, and she powerfully scaffolds, supports, and reassures teachers in their efforts to incorporate reciprocal teaching across a broad communication, textual, and digital terrain. Shane Templeton, Foundation Professor Emeritus of Literacy Studies, University of Nevada, Reno, NV.

Super Brainy Level Six (Practice Book) Makram Haddad, Samar Darazi, 2019-01-04. Super Brainy Level Six, a sequel of Brainy Kids, escorts learners to their multiple destinations on the sixth leg of their English language journey. By the end of this fun journey, learners will have mastered the set objectives in listening, speaking, reading, and writing.

Marketing High Profit Product/Service Solutions Roger More, 2016-05-06. Marketing High Profit Product Service Solutions addresses one of the most exciting and growing strategic marketing opportunities facing product and service companies: bundling. Many customers want bundled products and services which represent integrated solutions to their problems rather than buying individual products and services piecemeal, and if you become that supplier, it can transform a company. There are many outstanding examples. Magna International grew in several stages from a supplier of basic individual auto parts to a company manufacturing a product-service super bundle, ultimately sourcing and assembling the entire car itself. GE developed their business involving the supply of medical imaging machines to hospitals to become a super bundler of complete hospital radiological floor imaging operations, planning, installation, and integration. IBM transformed their position as a supplier of individual hardware, software, and peripherals to companies into a product-service solution bundler of increasing complexity and finally into the super bundle of BPO (Business Process Outsourcing), representing an outsourced and complete integrated IT solution set for clients' entire global operations. Roger More explores what was learned by these leading companies, amongst others, when they transformed their market strategies to become bundlers of complex, integrated customer solutions. Over many years, the author has developed and tested new concepts, maps, and tools for use by a wide variety of managers in developing strategies for these bundled product-service solutions. His book now offers these maps and tools to all who invest in a copy.
