Late Cold War Literature and Culture Daniel Cordle, 2017-03-03. This book analyses the 1980s as a nuclear decade, focusing on British and United States fiction. Ranging across genres including literary fiction, science fiction, post-apocalyptic fiction, graphic novels, children's and young adult literature, thrillers, and horror, it shows how pressing nuclear issues were, particularly the possibility of nuclear war and how deeply they penetrated the culture. It is innovative for its discussion of a nuclear transatlantic, placing British and American texts in dialogue with one another, for its identification of a vibrant young adult fiction that resonates with more conventionally studied literatures of the period, and for its analysis of a politics of vulnerability animating nuclear debates. Placing nuclear literature in social and historical contexts, it shows how novels and short stories responded not only to nuclear fears but also crystallised contemporary debates about issues of gender, the environment, society, and the economy.

New Israeli Horror Olga Gershenson, 2023-11-10. Before 2010, there were no Israeli horror films. Then, distinctly Israeli serial killers, zombies, vampires, and ghosts invaded local screens. The next decade saw a blossoming of the genre by young Israeli filmmakers. New Israeli Horror is the first book to tell their story. Through in-depth analysis, engaging storytelling, and interviews with the filmmakers, Olga Gershenson explores their films from inception to reception. She shows how these films challenge traditional representations of Israel and its people while also appealing to audiences around the world. Gershenson introduces an innovative conceptual framework of adaptation which explains how filmmakers adapt global genre tropes to local reality. It illuminates the ways in which Israeli horror borrows and diverges from its international models. New Israeli Horror offers an exciting and original contribution to our understanding of both Israeli cinema and the horror genre. In Truth Matthew Fraser, 2020-03-27 From ancient Rome to the current Internet age, this sweeping history of ideas explores how different epochs wrestled with the issue of truth and lies. From the ancient Greeks and Romans to the modern era, how have people determined what is true? How have those with power and influence sought to control the narrative? Are we living in a post-truth era, or is that notion simply the latest attempt to control the narrative? The relationship between truth and power is the key theme. Moving through major historical periods, the author focuses on notable people and events from well-known leaders like Julius Caesar and Adolf Hitler to lesser-known individuals like Procopius and Savonarola. He notes distinct parallels in history to current events: Julius Caesar's publication of his Gallic Wars and Civil Wars was an early exercise in political spin, not unlike what we see today. During the English Civil War and the Enlightenment, pamphleteering coupled with the new power of the printing press challenged the status quo, as online and social media does in our time. And fake news was already being used by German Chancellor Otto von Bismarck in nineteenth-century Europe and by the yellow journalism of American newspaper magnates William Randolph Hearst and Joseph Pulitzer near the turn of the twentieth century The author concludes optimistically noting that we are debating and discussing truth more fiercely today than in any previous era The determination to arrive at the truth despite the manipulations of the powerful bodes well for the future of democracy
