The Children's Hour A Novel:

For the Children's Hour Carolyn Sherwin Bailey, Clara M. Lewis, 1918 The Children's Hour Marcia Willett, 2010-08-31 Nest and Mina still live at Ottercombe their beautiful old rambling childhood home in the depths of Devon They came to the house before the war when as small children they played with their sisters and brothers in the gardens and the woods and the nearby beach while their mother read them stories and their father visited at weekends It was in retrospect an idyllic time when tragedy seemed far distant Now they welcome their children and grandchildren and especially young Lyddie their niece who lives in Cornwall with her handsome husband Liam But when their sister Georgie now somewhat frail and forgetful comes to stay with them aspects of their past start to revisit them For Georgie knows all their secrets secrets which she wants to share A glorious novel about half forgotten memories and childhood secrets in the tradition of Rosamunde Pilcher and perfect for fans of Victoria Hislop Erica James and Santa Montefiore The Children's Hour Cristina Pantoja-Hidalgo, 2007 New fiction anthology of stories about childhood The Children's Hour Shaw Festival Collection (University of Guelph), Glynis Leyshon, Leslie Frankish, Lillian Hellman, Jennifer Phipps, Jillian Cook, 1997 The Children's Hour, 1909 The Children's Hour Julia Erhart, 2024-05-07 Based on a play by Lillian Hellman The Children's Hour 1961 was the first mainstream commercial American film to feature a lesbian character in a leading role It centres on a teacher at a girls school Shirley MacLaine who is accused of harbouring feelings for her co worker Audrey Hepburn and depicts the intense moral panic that ensues Produced in the social climate of the Lavender Scare the film reveals deep insights into the politics of sexuality and censorship in midcentury America only a few years before more visible struggles for queer liberation The director William Wyler lobbied hard to get the film made after an earlier straight washed version in 1936 The tense road to production included debates about whether to eliminate mentions of lesbianism from the script and how implicitly queer subject matter might conflict with the Production Code by then weakened but still in force Julia Erhart's reading of the film's conception production and reception advances a nuanced case of censorship as a productive force While contests between Hellman and Wyler suppressed scenes of overt affection between main characters Karen and Martha reception was comparatively fixated on the characters' lesbianism it threatened middlebrow movie critics in the mainstream press and resonated with queer audiences Erhart's attentive interpretation of both the script and the sonic landscape yields a detailed analysis of the soundtrack as an original pro lesbian element As issues of queer censorship continue to permeate life and culture more than fifty years later Erhart demonstrates that The Children's Hour is as salient to social and political tensions around gender and sexuality today as it was in the 1960s The Children's hour, 1868 The Children's Hour Lillian Hellman, 2009-10 When a vindictive little girl is disciplined in an exclusive girls school the child twists an overheard comment into slander The Children's Hours Richard Zimler, Raša Sekulović, 2008 To support Save the Children in its work to end violence against children bestselling authors from around the world have banded together to create a bold and moving anthology of stories about childhood Participants include such acclaimed and award winning authors as David Almond Margaret Atwood Andr Brink Melvin Burgess Nadine Gordimer Eva Hoffman Alberto Manguel Meg Rosoff Nicholas Shakespeare Ali Smith and Richard Zimler In The Children s Hours these and fifteen other renowned authors explore and celebrate childhood their tales touching on abuse and rejection loneliness and love the joys of friendship and discovery and the first confused inklings of adolescent love The Children's Hour Series Children,1868
