The Butterfly Mosque:

The Butterfly Mosque G. Willow Wilson, 2010-08-01 After taking an Islamic Studies course in Boston G Willow Wilson quietly found herself adopting the tenets of the religion as her own This intellectual and emotional exercise created a unique challenge how could she reconcile a devout and conservative lifestyle with the highly secular society in which she was raised Taking a leap of faith Wilson accepted a position to teach English in Cairo where her guide to the bustling city was a student of astrophysics named Omar Led by his passions she discovered a young and moderate nationalist movement that promoted both tolerance and the celebration of identity Omar s ideas and experiences reflected her own search for meaning and in the tangled thicket of their differences and their similarities an unlikely romance blossomed Although Wilson immersed herself in Islamic culture learning Arabic worshipping as a Muslim and adopting a veil she never rejected her Western identity Drawing together the values of both cultures she began to move in the world as a liberal and outspoken Muslim woman a curious mixture of East and West The Butterfly Mosque is a riveting personal account an investigation into what it means to have faith in our broken society It is a rare and important insight into the evolving relationship between the boundaries of contemporary religion and culture

The Butterfly Mosque G. Willow Wilson, 2010-06-01 In this satisfying lyrical memoir an American woman discovers her true faith and true love by converting to Islam and moving to Egypt Publishers Weekly Raised in Boulder Colorado G Willow Wilson moved to Egypt and converted to Islam shortly after college Having written extensively on modern religion and the Middle East in publications such as The Atlantic Monthly and The New York Times Magazine Wilson now shares her remarkable story of finding faith falling in love and marrying into a traditional Islamic family in this intelligently written and passionately rendered memoir The Seattle Times 27 Best Books of 2010 Despite her atheist upbringing Willow always felt a connection to god Around the time of 9 11 she took an Islamic Studies course at Boston University and found the teachings of the Quran astounding comforting and profoundly transformative She decided to risk everything to convert to Islam embarking on a journey across continents and into an uncertain future Settling in Cairo where she taught English she soon met and fell in love with Omar a passionate young man with a mild resentment of the Western influences in his homeland Torn between the secular West and Muslim East Willow with her shock of red hair shaky Arabic and Western candor struggled to forge a third culture that might accommodate her values as well as her friends and family on both sides of the divide Part travelogue love story and memoir Wilson has written one of the most beautiful and believable narratives about finding closeness with God The Denver Post

The Butterfly's Cage Shahnaz Khari, Chris Newton, 2011-04-04 When Shahnaz refused to accept the abuse she was plunged into violent conflict with her family who condemned her for bringing disrespect on their name by trying to win her independence They repeatedly assaulted and humiliated her to make her toe the line After she left her second husband to get away from the beatings they imprisoned her in her own bedroom When they later tricked her into joining them in Pakistan she was beaten stripped of her possessions threatened with shooting and drowning and put under house arrest It was only through her intelligence and extraordinary courage that Shahnaz was eventually able to win her freedom and her family's respect and start building an independent life in England with her daughter and third husband Now Shahnaz she has used a pen name to avoid embarrassment for her family has written her extraordinary compelling story An American Bride in Kabul Phyllis Chesler, 2025-10-16 Few westerners will ever be able to understand Muslim or Afghan society unless they are part of a Muslim family Twenty years old and in love Phyllis Chesler a Jewish American girl from Brooklyn embarked on an adventure that has lasted for more than a half century In 1961 when she arrived in Kabul with her Afghan bridegroom authorities took away her American passport Chesler was now the property of her husband's family and had no rights of citizenship Back in Afghanistan her husband a wealthy westernized foreign college student with dreams of reforming his country reverted to traditional and tribal customs Chesler found herself unexpectedly trapped in a posh polygamous family with no chance of escape She fought against her seclusion and lack of freedom her Afghan family's attempts to convert her from Judaism to Islam and her husband's wish to permanently tie her to the country through childbirth Drawing upon her personal diaries Chesler recounts her ordeal the nature of gender apartheid and her longing to explore this beautiful ancient and exotic country and culture Chesler nearly died there but she managed to get out returned to her studies in America and became an author and an ardent activist for women's rights throughout the world An American Bride in Kabul is the story of how a naive American girl learned to see the world through eastern as well as western eyes and came to appreciate Enlightenment values This dramatic tale re-creates a time gone by a place that is no more and shares the way in which Chesler turned adversity into a passion for world wide social educational and political reform In-Between Identities: Signs of Islam in Contemporary American Writing John Waldmeir, 2018-09-11 For the writers and artists in In Between Identities Signs of Islam in Contemporary American Writing contemporary Muslim American identity is neither singular nor fixed Rather than dismiss the tradition in favor of more secular approaches however all of the figures here discover in Muhammad's revelation resources for affirming such uncertainty For them the Qur'anic notion of a divine sign validates creation even that creativity born of contrasting if not competing assumptions about identity To develop this claim individual chapters in the book discuss Muslim faith in the work of poets Naomi Shihab Nye Kazim Ali Tyson Amir and Amir Sulaiman novelists Mohja Kahf Rabih Alameddine and Willow Wilson illustrator Sandow Birk playwright Ayad Akhtar and the online record of the 30 Mosques in 30 Days project Love, InshAllah Nura Maznavi, Ayesha Mattu, 2012-02-17 This book that strips off the traditional trappings of Islamic womanhood to expose the special strengths and vulnerabilities that lie beneath The Washington Post affirms the reality of the romantic lives of Muslim women Romance dating sex and Muslim women In this groundbreaking collection twenty five American Muslim writers sweep aside stereotypes to share their search for love openly for the first time showing just how varied the search for love can be from singles events and online dating to college flirtations and arranged marriages all with a uniquely

Muslim twist These stories are filled with passion and hope loss and longing A quintessential blonde California girl travels abroad to escape suffocating responsibilities at home only to fall in love with a handsome Brazilian stranger she may never see again An orthodox African American woman must face her growing attraction to her female friend A young girl defies her South Asian parents cultural expectations with an interracial relationship And a Southern woman agrees to consider an arranged marriage with surprising results These compelling stories of love and romance create an irresistible balance of heart warming and tantalizing always revealing and deeply relatable A beautiful collection that reminds us all not only of the diversity of the American Muslim community but the universality of the human condition especially when it comes to something as magical and complicated as love Reza Aslan 1 New York Times bestselling author of God A Human History Portraits of private lives that expose a group in some cases kept literally veiled yet that also illustrate that American Muslim women grapple with universal issues The New York Times Women's Writing and Muslim Societies Sharif Gemie,2012-11-15 Women's Writing and Muslim Societies looks at the rise in works concerning Muslim societies by both western and Muslim women from pioneering female travellers like Freya Stark and Edith Wharton in the early twentieth century whose accounts of the Orient were usually playful and humorous to the present day and such works as Azar Nafisi's Reading Lolita in Tehran and Betty Mahmood's Not Without My Daughter which present a radically different view of Muslim Societies marked by fear hostility and even disgust The author Sharif Gemie also considers a new range of female Muslim writers whose works suggest a variety of other perspectives that speak of difficult journeys the problems of integration identity crises and the changing nature of Muslim cultures in the process this volume examines varied journeys across cultural political and religious borders discussing the problems faced by female travellers the problems of trans cultural romances and the difficulties of constructing dialogue between enemy camps SHEKHAR KAPUR'S DEVI - VOL. 4 Shekhar Kapur,Saurav Mohapatra,2014-01-12 Tara Mehta was once human but when the spirit of a divine warrior fused with her she became Devi a living goddess sworn to protect mankind from threats both criminal and supernatural Now the girl turned goddess must protect one of her own as a young woman claiming to be her long lost sister appears seeking refuge from a demonic cult To make matters worse a mysterious vigilante is on a murder spree and all the evidence points to Devi Hunted by the law she swore to uphold and haunted by her own treacherous heart will Tara be able to clear her name and find the truth about the woman who might be her sole surviving family member Public Religions in the Future World David Morris,2021-12-01 Public Religions in the Future World is the first book to map the utopian terrain of the political religious movements of the past four decades Examining a politically diverse set of utopian fictions this book cuts across the usual Right Left political divisions to show a surprising convergence each political religious vision imagines a revived world of care and community over and against the economization and fragmentation of neoliberalism Understanding these religions as utopian movements in reaction to neoliberalism Public Religions invites us to rethink the bases of religious identification and practice Offering new insights on texts from the Left Behind series to the novels of Octavia Butler Public Religions shows that the utopian energy of the present opens new opportunities for political organizing and genuine lasting community building Public Religions in the Future World presents a literary history of the political religious present arguing that the power of public religion lies in the utopian visions that underlie religious beliefs It shows that contemporary literary utopianism is deeply inflected with religious ideas with the visions values and ambitions of Christianity Islam nature mysticism and other traditions Further Public Religions demonstrates that this utopianism s religiosity is in turn politically inflected that it resonates with and underwrites a range of competing political projects those of imperialism globalization neoliberal capitalism deep ecology and the pro migration movement David Morris constructs a working theory of how religion makes large scale interventions in political debates The novels in his study draw on religious traditions to articulate visions programs or missions for achieving some version of an improved world In doing so they undertake the work of literary postmodernism to represent globality to recover the voices of the underrepresented and to imagine a future that escapes the destructiveness of global capitalism
