

The background of the cover features a dark, high-contrast image of a violin, shown from a side profile. The body of the violin is a deep, dark wood, while the f-hole and the bridge are highlighted in a lighter, almost white color. Overlaid on the violin and the dark background are several thin, white geometric lines. These lines form various shapes, including circles, triangles, and rectangles, some of which are interconnected to create a complex, web-like pattern. The lines vary in thickness and orientation, creating a sense of depth and movement. The overall aesthetic is modern and sophisticated, blending the traditional instrument with contemporary geometric design.
