Cli Fi Novel Novel:

Cli-fi Axel Goodbody, Adeline Johns-Putra, 2018 Proto Climate Change Fiction Speculative future fiction dystopian and post apocalyptic narratives Realist narratives set in the present and near future Thriller crime conspiracy social satire Children s film and young adult novels Literary modernism Notes on Contributors The Routledge Anthology of Climate Fiction Bill Gillard, 2024-11-26 The Routledge Anthology of Climate Fiction brings together key works from the Bible to the twentieth century in an accessible resource for students and teachers alike With a robust variety of works including H G Wells Clare Winger Harris H P Lovecraft Leslie F Stone and Arthur Conan Doyle The Routledge Anthology of Climate Fiction offers vital new perspectives and critical introductions all the way back to humanity s earliest surviving literary texts

Cli-Fi and Class Debra J. Rosenthal, Jason de Lara Molesky, 2023-10-09 Since its emergence in the late twentieth century climate fiction or cli fi has concerned itself as much with economic injustice and popular revolt as with rising seas and soaring temperatures Indeed with its insistent focus on redressing social disparities cli fi might reasonably be classified as a form of protest literature As environmental crises escalate and inequality intensifies literary writers and scholars alike have increasingly scrutinized the dual exploitations of the earth s ecosystems and the socioeconomically disadvantaged Cli Fi and Class focuses on the representation of class dynamics in climate change narratives With fifteen essays on the intersection of the economic and the ecological addressing works ranging from the novels of Joseph Conrad Cormac McCarthy and Octavia Butler to the film Black Panther and the Broadway musical Hadestown this collection unpacks the complex ways economic exploitation impacts planetary well being and the ways climatic change shapes those inequities in turn Apocalyptic Visions in the Anthropocene and the Rise of Climate Fiction Kübra Baysal, 2021-08-10 With the increasing interest of pop culture and academia towards environmental issues which has simultaneously given rise to fiction and artworks dealing with interdisciplinary issues climate change is an undeniable reality of our time In accordance with the severe environmental degradation and health crises today including the COVID 19 pandemic human beings are awakening to this reality through climate fiction cli fi which depicts ways to deal with the anthropogenic transformations on Earth through apocalyptic worlds as displayed in works of literature media and art Appealing to a wide range of readers from NGOs to students this book fills a gap in the fields of literature media and art and sheds light on the inevitable interconnection of humankind with the nonhuman environment through effective descriptions of associable conditions in the works of climate fiction Climate Fiction: Ecological Dimensions Ananya Mukherjee, Tanmoy Baghira, 2025-06-15 Climate Fiction Ecological Dimensions offers an introspective gaze into intersections of literature film and ecology to recognise how fiction mediates the Anthropocene Employing postcolonial and intersectional lenses this volume will interrogate the historical legacies of colonialism that have intensified ecological degradation The contributors in this volume not only observe the Anthropocene as a narrative but also assess its literary conventions to highlight its inherently fictional framework that shape its representation in literature This volume will engage with the current developments in this field and will try to diversify various other issues

Natural Language Processing and Information Systems Elisabeth Métais, Farid Meziane, Vijayan Sugumaran, Warren Manning, Stephan Reiff-Marganiec, 2023-06-13 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 28th International Conference on Applications of Natural Language to Information Systems NLDB 2023 held in Derby UK in June 21-23 2023. Contemporary Perspectives on Ecofeminism Mary Phillips, Nick Rumens, 2015-11-19 Why is ecofeminism still needed to address the environmental emergencies and challenges of our times? Ecofeminism has a chequered history in terms of its popularity and its perceived value in conceptualizing the relationship between gender and nature as well as feeding forms of activism that aim to confront the environmental challenges of the moment. This book provides a much needed comprehensive overview of the relevance and value of using eco-feminist theories. It gives a broad coverage of traditional and emerging eco-feminist theories and explores across a range of chapters their various contributions and uniquely spans various strands of ecofeminist thinking. The origins of influential eco-feminist theories are discussed including key themes and some of its leading figures. Contributors include Erika Cudworth, Greta Gaard, Trish Glazebrook and Niamh Moore and outlines its influence on how scholars might come to a more generative understanding of the natural environment. The book examines eco-feminism's potential contribution for advancing current discussions and research on the relationships between the humans and more-than-humans that share our world. This timely volume makes a distinctive scholarly contribution and is a valuable resource for students and academics in the fields of environmentalism, political ecology, sustainability and nature resource management.

The Sea in the Literary Imagination Ekaterina V. Kobeleva, Ben P. Robertson, Shannon W. Thompson, 2019-01-03 This collection explores nautical themes in a variety of literary contexts from multiple cultures. Including contributors from five continents, it emphasizes the universality of human experience with the sea while focusing on literature that spans a millennium stretching from medieval romance to the twenty-first century. Reimagining of classic literary texts in film. These fresh essays engage in discussions of literature from the UK, the USA, India, Chile, Turkey, Spain, Japan, Colombia, and the Caribbean. Scholars of maritime literature will find the collection interesting for the unique insights it offers on individual literary texts while general readers will be intrigued by the interconnectedness that it reveals in human experience with the sea.

(Eco)Anxiety in Nuclear Holocaust Fiction and Climate Fiction Dominika Oramus, 2023-07-07 Eco-Anxiety in Nuclear Holocaust Fiction and Climate Fiction. Domsday Clock Narratives demonstrates that disaster fiction, nuclear holocaust and climate change alike allows us to unearth and anatomise contemporary psychodynamics and enables us to identify pretraumatic stress as the common denominator of seemingly unrelated types of texts. These Domsday Clock Narratives argue that earth's demise is soon and certain. They are set after some catastrophe.

and depict people waiting for an even worse catastrophe to come. References to geology are particularly important in descriptions of the landscape; the emphasis falls on waste and industrial bric à brac which is seen through the eyes of a future posthuman archaeologist. Their protagonists have the uncanny feeling that the countdown has already started and they are coping with both traumatic memories and pretraumatic stress. Readings of novels by Walter M. Miller, Nevil Shute, John Christopher, J. G. Ballard, George Turner, Maggie Gee, Paolo Bacigalupi, Ruth Ozeki and Yoko Tawada demonstrate that the authors are both indebted to a century-old tradition and inventively looking for new ways of expressing the pretraumatic stress syndrome common in contemporary society. This book is written for an academic audience: postgraduates, researchers and academics specialising in British Literature, American Literature and Science Fiction Studies. Posthumanity in the Anthropocene Esther Muñoz-González, 2023-04-20. In this book, Margaret Atwood's dystopian novels The Handmaid's Tale, the MaddAddam trilogy The Heart Goes Last and The Testaments are analyzed from the perspective provided by the combined views of the construction of the posthuman subject in its interactions with science and technology and the Anthropocene as a cultural field of enquiry. Posthumanist critical concerns try to dismantle anthropocentric notions of the human and defend the need for a closer relationship between humanity and the environment. Supported by the exemplification of the generic characteristics of the cli-fi genre, this book discusses the effects of climate change at the individual level and as a collective threat that can lead to a world without us. Moreover, Margaret Atwood is herself the constant object of extensive academic interest and Posthuman theory is widely taught, researched and explored in almost every intellectual field. This book is aimed at worldwide readers, not only those interested in Margaret Atwood's oeuvre but also those interested in the debate between critical posthumanism and transhumanism together with the ethical implications of living in the Anthropocene era regarding our daily lives and practices. It will be especially attractive for academics, university teachers, postgraduates, researchers and college students in general. Climate Fiction and Cultural Analysis Gregers Andersen, 2019-09-25. Climate Fiction and Cultural Analysis argues that the popularity of the term climate fiction has paradoxically exhausted the term's descriptive power and that it has developed into a black box containing all kinds of fictions which depict climatic events and has consequently lost its true significance. Aware of the prospect of ecological collapse as well as our apparent inability to avert it, we face geophysical changes of drastic proportions that severely challenge our ability to imagine the consequences. This book argues that this crisis of imagination can be partly relieved by climate fiction which may help us comprehend the potential impact of the crisis we are facing. Strictly assigning climate fiction to fictions that incorporate the climatological paradigm of anthropogenic global warming into their plots, this book sets out to salvage the term's speculative quality. It argues that climate fiction should be regarded as no less than a vital supplement to climate science because climate fiction makes visible and conceivable future modes of existence within worlds not only deemed likely by science but which are scientifically anticipated. Focusing primarily on English and German language fictions, Climate Fiction and Cultural Analysis shows how

Western climate fiction sketches various affective and cognitive relations to the world in its utilization of a small number of recurring imaginaries or imagination forms This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of ecocriticism the environmental humanities and literary and culture studies more generally

The Ecology of American Noir Katrina Younes, 2025-04-07 This volume investigates the relationship between the conventions of noir fiction and film and its sub types in relation to environmental crises Dr Younes addresses questions that not only allow readers to re read early hardboiled literature and neo noir films but also help identify a new sub genre of noir and develop an ecocritical methodology eco noir This text traces the development of strategies of mapping urban blight and environmental deterioration in classic hardboiled fiction of the 1940s neo noir films of the 1970s and eco noir texts of the post millennial period Introducing the concept of eco noir as both a sub genre and fictional form as well as a methodology the volume develops a new way of understanding the relationship between noir and climate fiction texts Through a close reading of hardboiled neo noir and eco noir texts including those by Dashiell Hammett Raymond Chandler Robert Towne Kim Stanley Robinson and Jeff VanderMeer it asks and addresses the question how does each sub genre of noir map the noir atmosphere of the private investigator s natural setting in terms of environmental toxicity The Ecology of American Noir contributes to critical conversations in both noir and ecocritical scholarship making clear how a new understanding of noir as defined through environmental and atmospheric conditions invites readers viewers and scholars of the genre to generate meaningful dialogues about our decaying and deteriorating environment

Storying the Ecocatastrophe Helena Duffy, Katarina Leppänen, 2024-05-31 How do writers and artists represent the climate catastrophe so that their works stir audiences to political action or at least raise their environmental awareness without however appearing didactic Storying the Ecocatastrophe attempts to answer this question while interrogating the potential of narrative to become a viable political force The collection of essays achieves this by examining the representational strategies and ideological goals of contemporary cultural productions about climate change These productions have been created across different genres such as the traditional novel dance performance solarpunk economic report collage and space opera as well as across different languages and cultures The volume s twelve chapters demonstrate that rising temperatures erratic weather extinction of species depletion of resources and coastal erosion and flooding are an effect of our abusive relationship with nature They also show that our use of nuclear power extraction of natural resources and extensive farming including heavy reliance on pesticides intersect with intrahuman violence as fleshed out by heteropatriarchy racism neo colonialism and capitalism They finally argue that human activity has indirectly contributed to other contemporary crises namely the migrant crisis and the spread of contagious diseases such as Covid 19 Chapter 8 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

Monstrous Nature Robin L. Murray, Joseph K. Heumann, 2016-10-01 Godzilla a traditional natural monster and representation of cinema s subgenre of natural attack also provides a cautionary symbol of the dangerous consequences of mistreating the natural world monstrous nature on the attack Horror films such as Godzilla invite an exploration of the complexities of a monstrous nature that humanity both creates and embodies Robin L Murray and Joseph K Heumann demonstrate how the horror film and its offshoots can often be understood in relation to a monstrous nature that has evolved either deliberately or by accident and that generates fear in humanity as both character and audience This connection between fear and the natural world opens up possibilities for ecocritical readings often missing from research on monstrous nature the environment and the horror film Organized in relation to four recurring environmental themes in films that construct nature as a monster anthropomorphism human ecology evolution and gendered landscapes the authors apply ecocritical perspectives to reveal the multiple ways nature is constructed as monstrous or in which the natural world itself constructs monsters This interdisciplinary approach to film studies fuses cultural theological and scientific critiques to explore when and why nature becomes monstrous

The Cambridge Companion to Environmental Humanities Jeffrey Cohen, Stephanie Foote, 2021-09-02 Offers a comprehensive introduction to the environmental humanities It addresses the 21st century recognition of an environmental crisis

Understanding Public Debates Jens Martin Gurr, 2024-06-20 By historicizing and contextualizing them through readings of carefully selected literary texts literary studies can contribute to understanding and rationalizing key debates waged in many pluralist societies today whether on different conceptions of liberty identity politics historical commemoration challenges of globalization or responses to climate change Understanding Public Debates presents case studies including Milton's Paradise Lost P B Shelley's 1820 Reform essay Philip Roth's The Human Stain the songwriting of Neil Young and Edward Young's 1720s Sea Odes recent climate fiction as well as non literary conflict narratives Rather than mining texts for arguments for or against certain positions this book is interested in how texts stage these debates by means of multiple perspectives narrative situations or ambiguities By suggesting how educators might use literary texts as conversation starters for more rational debates the volume also contributes to Public Literary Studies Three important fields are here brought together 1 the study of societal debates and conflicts and the ways in which they challenge pluralist societies 2 explorations of the societal functions of literature and of non literary narratives and 3 discussions of the role and functions of literary studies The book ends with ten crisp theses on how literary studies can contribute to understanding and rationalizing such conflictive debates
