Explain Spring MVC Request- Response Life Cycle.

When a request is sent to the Spring MVC Framework the following sequence of events happen.

The DispatcherServlet first receives the request.

The DispatcherServlet consults the HandlerMapping based on URL mapping and invokes the Controller associated with the request.

The Controller process the request by calling the appropriate service methods and returns a ModelAndView object to the DispatcherServlet. The ModelAndView object contains the model data and the view name.

The DispatcherServlet sends the view name to a ViewResolver to find the actual View to invoke.

Now the DispatcherServlet will pass the model object to the View to render the result.

The View with the help of the model data will render the result back to the user.

What is DispatcherServlet?

DispatcherServlet is the front controller of Spring MVC.IT has to be configured in web.xml file.

All request comes to DispatcherServlet.

After receiving an HTTP request, DispatcherServlet consults the HandlerMapping (configuration files) to call the appropriate Controller.

The Controller takes the request and calls the appropriate service methods and set model data and then returns view name to the DispatcherServlet.

The DispatcherServlet will take help from ViewResolver to pickup the defined view for the request.

Once view is finalized, The DispatcherServlet passes the model data to the view which is finally rendered on the browser.

</servlet>
<servlet-mapping>
<servlet-name>spring</servlet-name>
<url-pattern>/</url-pattern>
</servlet-mapping>
</web-app>
```

What is Handler Mapping?

Handler mapping is responsible for mapping incoming web requests to appropriate handler that can process the request.

DispatcherServlet delegates the request to Handler Mapping to inspect the request and return appropriate HandlerExecutionChain that can handle the request.
