Microevolution Rate, Pattern, Process Andrew P. Hendry, Michael T. Kinnison, 2012-12-06 From guppies to Galapagos finches and from adaptive landscapes to haldanes this compilation of contributed works provides reviews perspectives theoretical models statistical developments and empirical demonstrations exploring the tempo and mode of microevolution on contemporary to geological time scales New developments and reviews of classic and novel empirical systems demonstrate the strength and diversity of evolutionary processes producing biodiversity within species Perspectives and theoretical insights expand these empirical observations to explore patterns and mechanisms of microevolution methods for its quantification and implications for the evolution of biodiversity on other scales This diverse assemblage of manuscripts is aimed at professionals graduate students and advanced undergraduates who desire a timely synthesis of current knowledge an illustration of exciting new directions and a springboard for future investigations in the study of microevolution in the wild

Parallel Processing and Applied Mathematics Roman Wyrzykowski, Jack Dongarra, Konrad Karczewski, Jerzy Wasniewski, 2012-07-03 This two volume set LNCS 7203 and 7204 constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 9th International Conference on Parallel Processing and Applied Mathematics PPAM 2011 held in Torun Poland in September 2011 The 130 revised full papers presented in both volumes were carefully reviewed and selected from numerous submissions The papers address issues such as parallel distributed architectures and mobile computing numerical algorithms and parallel numerics parallel non numerical algorithms tools and environments for parallel distributed grid computing applications of parallel distributed computing applied mathematics neural networks and evolutionary computing history of computing Potpourri of Pattern Ann Strite-Kurz, 1995 Current Approaches to Tells in the Prehistoric Old World

Antonio Blanco-González, Tobias L. Kienlin, 2020-11-30 Deeply stratified settlements are a distinctive site type featuring prominently in diverse later prehistoric landscapes of the Old World Their massive materiality has attracted the curiosity of lay people and archaeologists alike Nowadays a wide variety of archaeological projects are tracking the lifestyles and social practices that led to the building up of such superimposed artificial hills However prehistoric tell dwelling communities are too often approached from narrow local perspectives or discussed within strict time and culture specific debates There is a great potential to learn from such ubiquitous archaeological manifestations as the physical outcome of cross cutting dynamics and comparable underlying forces irrespective of time and space This volume tackles tells and tell like sites as a transversal phenomenon whose commonalities and divergences are poorly understood yet may benefit from cross cultural comparison Thus the book intends to assemble a representative range of ongoing theory and science based fieldwork projects targeting this kind of sites With the aim of encompassing a variety of social and material dynamics the volume's scope is diachronic from the Earliest Neolithic up to the Iron Age and covers a very large region from Iberia in Western Europe to Syria in the Middle East The core of the volume comprises a selection of the most remarkable contributions to the session with a similar title celebrated in the European Association of Archaeologists Annual Meeting held at Barcelona in 2018 In addition the book includes invited chapters to round out underrepresented areas and periods in the EAA session with relevant research programmes in the Old World To accomplish such a cross cultural course the book takes a case based approach with contributions disparate both in their theoretical foundations from household archaeology social agency and formation theory and their research strategies including geophysical survey microarchaeology and high resolution excavation and dating

Anticipation and Medicine Mihai Nadin, 2016-10-22 In this book practicing physicians and experts in anticipation present arguments for a new understanding of medicine Their contributions make it clear that medicine is the decisive test for anticipation The reader is presented with a provocative hypothesis If medicine will align itself with the anticipatory condition of life it can prompt the most important revolution in our time To this end all stakeholders medical practitioners patients scientists and technology developers will have to engage in the conversation The book makes the case for the transition from expensive and only marginally effective reactive treatment through spare parts joint replacements organ transplants and reliance on pharmaceuticals antibiotics opiates to anticipation informed healthcare Readers will understand why the current premise of treating various behavioral conditions attention deficit disorder hyperactivity schizophrenia through drugs has to be re evaluated from the perspective of anticipation In the manner practiced today medicine generates dependence and long lasting damage to those it is paid to help As we better understand the nature of the living the proactive view of healthcare within which the science and art of healing fuse becomes a social and political mandate

Trends in Dermatoglyphic Research N.M. Durham, C.C. Plato, 2012-12-06 The preparation of a volume of worldwide research contributions can be a time consuming task which is frequently more difficult than many other types of book This particular venture was made easier by the assistance of many people Therefore we wish to acknowledge the suggestions academic support and direction of Dr Kenneth M Weiss our American editor the assistance of the staff of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology at the University of Northern Iowa particularly the generous and congenial efforts of Ms Rosemarie Skaine and Mrs Heidi Anderegg whose computer and deciphering skills may be legendary the kind responses to our long distance questions from Mr Martin Scrivener of Kluwer Publications are much appreciated finally the efforts of Dr Paul T Baker and Dr Ralph M Garruto for their help in rounding out the final contents

NMD CCP FOREWORD

Among the many techniques developed by nineteenth century anatomists for the study of human morphological structures the analysis of dermatoglyphics has proven to be one of the most useful and durable The series of reports presented herein reflect the dynamism of the topic Such analyses provide a valuable tool for measuring the genetic relatedness of human populations and an inexpensive technique for alerting us to the degree of genetic involvement in the causes of many diseases

Learning to Think Spatially National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Board on Earth Sciences and Resources, Geographical Sciences Committee, Committee on Support for Thinking Spatially: The Incorporation of Geographic

Information Science Across the K-12 Curriculum,2005-01-03 Learning to Think Spatially examines how spatial thinking might be incorporated into existing standards based instruction across the school curriculum Spatial thinking must be recognized as a fundamental part of K 12 education and as an integrator and a facilitator for problem solving across the curriculum With advances in computing technologies and the increasing availability of geospatial data spatial thinking will play a significant role in the information based economy of the twenty first century Using appropriately designed support systems tailored to the K 12 context spatial thinking can be taught formally to all students A geographic information system GIS offers one example of a high technology support system that can enable students and teachers to practice and apply spatial thinking in many areas of the curriculum

Diversity in Visualization Ron Metoyer,Kelly Gaither,2022-06-01 At the 2016 IEEE VIS Conference in Baltimore Maryland a panel of experts from the Scientific Visualization SciVis community gathered to discuss why the SciVis component of the conference had been shrinking significantly for over a decade As the panelists concluded and opened the session to questions from the audience Annie Preston a Ph D student at the University of California Davis asked whether the panelists thought diversity or more specifically the lack of diversity was a factor This comment ignited a lively discussion of diversity not only its impact on Scientific Visualization but also its role in the visualization community at large The goal of this book is to expand and organize the conversation In particular this book seeks to frame the diversity and inclusion topic within the Visualization community illuminate the issues and serve as a starting point to address how to make this community more diverse and inclusive This book acknowledges that diversity is a broad topic with many possible meanings Expanded definitions of diversity that are relevant to the Visualization community and to computing at large are considered The broader conversation of inclusion and diversity is framed within the broader sociological context in which it must be considered Solutions to recruit and retain a diverse research community and strategies for supporting inclusion efforts are presented Additionally community members present short stories detailing their non inclusive experiences in an effort to facilitate a community wide conversation surrounding very difficult situations It is important to note that this is by no means intended to be a comprehensive authoritative statement on the topic Rather this book is intended to open the conversation and begin to build a framework for diversity and inclusion in this specific research community While intended for the Visualization community ideally this book will provide guidance for any computing community struggling with similar issues and looking for solutions
