Subjectification Intersubjectification And Grammaticalization Topics In English Linguistics:

Subjectification, Intersubjectification and Grammaticalization Kristin Davidse, Lieven Vandelanotte, H.

Cuyckens, 2010 The future of English linguistics as envisaged by the editors of Topics in English Linguistics lies in empirical studies which integrate work in English linguistics into general and theoretical linguistics on the one hand and comparative linguistics on the other The TiEL series features volumes that present interesting new data and analyses and above all fresh approaches that contribute to the overall aim of the series which is to further outstanding research in English linguistics

Intersubjectivity and Intersubjectification in Grammar and Discourse Lieselotte Brems, Lobke Ghesquière, Freek Van de Velde, 2014-08-15 Recent years saw a growing interest in the study of subjectivity as the linguistic expression of speaker involvement Intersubjectivity defined by Traugott as the linguistic expression of a speaker writer's attention to the hearer reader on the other hand has so far received little explicit attention in its own right let alone systematic definition and operationalization Intersubjectivity and seemingly related notions such as interpersonal meaning appraisal stance and metadiscourse frequently appear in cognitive functional accounts as well as historical and more applied approaches These domains offer partly conflicting uses of intersubjectivity differ in the overall scope of the concept and the phenomena it may cover This book brings together contributions from a variety of different approaches with the aim of disentangling the current web of intertwined notions of intersubjectivity Rather than focusing on the potentially conflicting views the volume aspires to resolve some of the conceptual puzzle by cross fertilization between the different views and spark discussion on how to operationalize intersubjectivity in linguistic research Originally published in English Text Construction 5 1 2012

The Directionality of (Inter)subjectification in the English Noun Phrase Lobke Ghesquière, 2014-10-10 The book investigates pathways of inter subjectification followed by prenominal elements in the English Noun Phrase by tracing the development of identifying noun intensifying and subjective compound uses By means of in depth corpus study the assumed unidirectionality of inter subjectification in the NP is verified and refined Reflexive Marking in the History of French Richard Waltereit, 2012 While French reflexive clitics have been widely studied other forms of expressing co reference within the clause have not received much attention This monograph offers a diachronic study of the wider system of clause mate co reference in French including the stressed pronouns their suffixed form soi lui elle m me and also the intensifier use of the latter Its empirical backbone is a corpus analysis of the gradual replacement of stressed reflexive soi with the personal pronoun lui elle from Old to Modern French Apart from offering insights into the history of the language this is important for current issues in theoretical linguistics in particular binding specificity and the interaction of grammar and discourse Within a cognitive semantic framework a number of analyses will help elucidate some long standing puzzles in the study of French reflexives while contributing to the wider theory of reflexivity and related issues This book is of interest to the fields of French linguistics semantics discourse studies and historical linguistics Gradience, Gradualness and Grammaticalization

Elizabeth Closs Traugott, Graeme Trousdale, 2010 This volume which emerged from a workshop at the New Reflections on Grammaticalization 4 conference held at KU Leuven in July 2008 contains a collection of papers which investigate the relationship between synchronic gradience and the apparent gradualness of linguistic change largely from the perspective of grammaticalization In addition to versions of the papers presented at the workshop the volume contains specially commissioned contributions some of which offer commentaries on a subset of the other articles The articles address a number of themes central to grammaticalization studies such as the role of reanalysis and analogy in grammaticalization the formal modelling of grammaticalization and the relationship between formal and functional change using data from a range of languages and in some cases from particular electronic corpora The volume will be of specific interest to historical linguists working on grammaticalization and general linguists working on the interface between synchrony and diachrony

Language and Social Minds Vittorio Tantucci, 2021-03-31 Proposes a new empirical model to analyse how humans can express social cognition at different levels of complexity Late Modern English Syntax Marianne Hundt, 2014-08-14 Using increasingly sophisticated databases this volume explores grammatical usage from the Late Modern period in a broad context Current Methods in Historical Semantics Kathryn Allan, Justyna A. Robinson, 2011-12-23 Innovative data driven methods provide more rigorous and systematic evidence for the description and explanation of diachronic semantic processes The volume systematises reviews and promotes a range of empirical research techniques and theoretical perspectives that currently inform work across the discipline of historical semantics In addition to emphasising the use of new technology the potential of current theoretical models e.g. within variationist sociolinguistic or cognitive frameworks is explored along the way Current Trends in Diachronic Semantics and Pragmatics Maj-Britt Mosegaard Hansen, Jacqueline Visconti, 2012-11-02 The focus of this volume is on semantic and pragmatic change its causes and mechanisms The papers gathered here offer both theoretical proposals of more general scope and in depth studies of language specific cases of meaning change in particular notional domains The analyses include data from English several Romance languages German Scandinavian languages and Oceanic languages Detailed case studies covering central semantic domains such as concession evidentiality intensification modality negation scalarity subjectivity and temporality allow the authors to test and refine current models of semantic change by focusing for instance on the respective roles of speakers and hearers in the process and on the relationship between semantic and syntactic reanalysis Key theoretical notions such as presuppositions paradigms word order and discourse status are revisited in a diachronic perspective to provide innovative accounts of causes and motivations for linguistic changes A prominent theme is the evolution of procedural meanings of various kinds Thus several papers feature different types of pragmatic markers as their object of study while others are concerned with items and constructions expressing modality evidentiality negation and relational meanings Closely related themes are the interface between semantics and pragmatics discourse with figurative uses of language rhetorical argumentational strategies discourse traditions information structure and the importance of dialogic contexts in change playing a salient role in several papers the relationship between meaning change and processes such as grammaticalization subjectification and pragmaticalization and the thorny issue of the categorization of linguistic items such as discourse markers or modal particles evidentials or epistemic modals to which the diachronic data are shown to contribute substantially The volume will be of interest to graduate students and researchers in the fields of semantics pragmatics discourse analysis grammaticalization and historical linguistics

Concessive constructions in varieties of English Ole Schützler, 2023-11-10 This volume presents a synchronic investigation of concessive constructions in nine varieties of English based on data from the International Corpus of English The structures of interest are complex sentences with a subordinate clause introduced by although though or even though Various functional and formal features are taken into account i the semantic pragmatic relation that holds between the propositions involved ii the position of the subordinate clause iii the conjunction that is used and iv the syntax of the subordinate clause By exploring patterns of variation from a Construction Grammar perspective the study works towards an explanatory model whose point of departure is at the functional semantic pragmatic level and which makes hierarchically organised predictions for different formal levels clause position choice of connective and realisation of the subordinate clause It treats concessives as complex form function pairings and develops arguments and routines that may inform quantitative approaches to constructional variation more generally
