

Schematic relationship between AI, Machine Learning and Deep Learning

AI, Machine Learning, and Deep Learning are interrelated fields within artificial intelligence. AI refers to the overall goal of creating intelligent machines that can perform tasks that would normally require human intelligence. Machine Learning (ML) is a subfield of AI that focuses on using algorithms to enable computers to learn from data. Deep Learning (DL) is a type of ML that uses artificial neural networks with multiple layers to model complex patterns and relationships in data.

In summary, AI encompasses the goal of creating intelligent machines, ML provides the approach for achieving this goal through learning from data, and DL is a specific type of ML that uses deep neural networks. The relationship between these fields is hierarchical, with AI at the top and DL as a specialized subfield within ML.

The Learning Relationship The Learning Relationship:

The Learning Relationship Biddy Youell, 2019-09-27 This book offers a psychoanalytic perspective on learning and teaching and on many of the issues which preoccupy those who work in educational institutions It looks at the origins of learning in childrens early relationships and at factors which help and hinder the educational process in later childhood and adolescence Amongst the topics addresse Learning Relationships in the Classroom Dorothy Faulkner, Karen Littleton, Martin Woodhead, 2013-12-16 This reader explores the nature of interactions between children and their teachers in the classroom It emphasises the importance of such relationships for children s learning and for educational practice Part 1 looks at different cultural conceptions of the teacher learner relationship and how this relates to schooling cognitive development and the aquisition of knowledge Part 2 takes a closer look at the role of language and dialogue in interactions between adults and children in classrooms Part 3 describes research by developmental psychologists on peer interaction and collaborative learning and discusses how it has advanced our understanding of how children learn from each other Part 4 considers the implications of classroom based collaborative learning initiatives and the potential for creating communities of enquiry which change how we think about knowledge acquisition Being and Learning Eduardo M. Duarte, 2012-10-17 Education is not an art of putting sight into the eye that can already see but one of turning the eye towards the proper gaze of Being That s what must be managed Plato insists This claim is the take off point for Eduardo Duarte s meditations on the metaphysics and ontology of teaching and learning In Being and Learning he offers an account of learning as an attunement with Being s dynamic presencing and unconcealment which Duarte explores as the capacity to respond and attend to the matter that stands before us or in Arendtian terms to love the world and to be with others in this world This book of poetic thinking is a chronicle of Duarte s ongoing exploration of the question of Being a philosophical journey that has been guided primarily through a conversation with Heidegger and which also includes the voices of Plato Aristotle Heraclitus Nietzsche as well Lao Tzu and the Buddha among others In Being and Learning Duarte undertakes a phenomenology of the original a writing that consciously and conspicuously interrupts the discursive field of work in philosophy of education As the late Reiner Schurmann described this method it recalls the ancient beginnings and it anticipates a new beginning the possible rise of a new economy among things words and actions Being and Learning is a work of parrhesia a composition of free thought that disrupts the conventional practice of philosophy of education and thereby open up gaps and spaces of possibility in the arrangement of words concepts and ideas in the field With this work Eduardo Duarte is initiating new pathways of thinking about education Customer Relationship Management Roger J. Achieving Equity and Quality in Higher Education Mahsood Shah, Jade McKay, 2018-07-05 Across the world, higher education is witnessing exponential growth in both student participation and types of educational providers. One key phenomenon of this growth is an increase in student diversity; governments are widening access to higher education for students from traditionally underrepresented groups. However, this raises questions about whether this rapid growth may in fact compromise academic quality. This book presents case studies of how higher education institutions in diverse countries are maintaining academic excellence while increasing the access and participation of students from historically underrepresented backgrounds. Including case studies spanning four continents, the authors and editors examine whether increasing widening participation positively impacts upon academic quality. This volume will be of interest and value to students and scholars of global higher education, representation and participation in education and quality in higher education.

Professional Development in Relational Learning Communities Miriam B. Raider-Roth, 2017-03-10 In this book, Raider-Roth offers an innovative approach to teacher professional development that builds on the intellectual strength and practical wisdom of practitioners. Focusing on nurturing relationships between and among participants, facilitators, subject matter texts and the school environment, this book helps educators create a repertoire of teaching approaches founded on sustained, deep, democratic, local and active learning. The author demonstrates that within the context of trustworthy relationships, teachers can better connect with all that they know about teaching, learning and their own identities. This in turn enables them to act on what they know in the best interest of their students and leads to the kinds of lasting change and commitment that can move the teaching profession beyond training for a particular skill set.

Book Features: Examples showing how the work of relational learning communities can improve teachers' practice. A focus on the cultural dimension in professional development for teachers. A view of teaching and learning as deeply relational and transformative. Strategies to help facilitators and participants create processes to best support a fertile learning environment.
