The New Phenomenology A Philosophical Introduction:

The New Phenomenology J. Aaron Simmons, Bruce Ellis Benson, 2013-08-01 The New Phenomenology A Philosophical Introduction is the first available introduction to the group of philosophers sometimes associated with the so called theological turn in contemporary French thought This book argues that there has not been a turn to theology in recent French phenomenology but instead a decidedly philosophical reconsideration of phenomenology itself Engaging the foundational works of Emmanuel Levinas and Michel Henry as well as later works by Jacques Derrida Jean Luc Marion and Jean Louis Chretien the book explores how these thinkers offer a coherent philosophical trajectory the New Phenomenology Contending that New Phenomenology is of relevance to a wide range of issues in contemporary philosophy the book considers the contributions of the new phenomenologists to debates in the philosophy of religion hermeneutics ethics and politics With a final chapter looking at future directions for research on possible intersections between new phenomenology and analytic philosophy this is an essential read for anyone seeking an overview of this important strand of contemporary European thought

Continental Philosophy and Theology Colby Dickinson, 2018-06-12 Continental philosophy underwent a return to religion or a theological turn in the late 20th century And yet any conversation between continental philosophy and theology must begin by addressing the perceived distance between them that one is concerned with destroying all normative metaphysical order continental philosophy s task and the other with preserving religious identity and community in the face of an increasingly secular society theology s task Colby Dickinson argues in Continental Philosophy and Theology rather that perhaps such a tension is constitutive of the nature of order thinking and representation which typically take dualistic forms and which might be rethought though not necessarily abolished Such a shift in perspective even allows one to contemplate this distance as not opting for one side over the other or by striking a middle ground but as calling for a nondualistic theology that measures the complexity and inherently comparative nature of theological inquiry in order to realign theology s relationship to continental philosophy entirely Creation and Religious Pluralism David Cheetham, 2020 In the well worn debates about religious pluralism and the theology of religions there have been many different rubrics used to account for comprehend or engage with the religious other This book is chiefly a work of Christian theology and seeks to bring the doctrine of creation and the theology of religions into dialogue and in so doing it comes at things from a different direction than other works It contains an extensive exploration of the doctrine of creation and asks how it might intervene distinctively in these discourses to produce a new conceptual and practical topography It will consider inter religious engagement from the perspective of the doctrine of I creatio ex nihilo I that forms the dominant view in the Jewish Christian and Islamic traditions The book pays close consideration to anthropology i e creaturehood the quotidian and wisdom the idea of sabbath human action and work and vivifying the immanent through a consideration of some representative phenomenologists The book will develop these ideas in a more practical direction by considering sacraments and rituals in the public sphere as well as attempting to describe the kind of creational politics that might bring traditions into dialogue Whilst these themes challenge more conventional ways of considering relations between religions such themes because they are different from concerns commonly found in the literature can also be profitably engaged with across the spectrum of opinion i e exclusivist or pluralist etc Thus whilst the position adopted in this work is I creatio ex nihilo I part of the motivation is to review the ways in which this focus helps to broaden rather than limit the discussion

Christian Philosophy J. Aaron Simmons, 2019 One of the marks of being a philosopher is participating in debates about what counts as philosophy Of particular note in such debates is the question of how to distinguish philosophy from theology Although a variety of answers to this question have been offered in the history of philosophy in recent decades the prominence of Christian philosophy has been heralded by many as a genuine triumph over the problematic narrowness of strong foundationalism positivism and scientism For others however it signals that philosophy continues to risk being replaced by confessional theology Wherever one comes down on such issues and however one interprets recent trends in philosophy of religion the idea of Christian philosophy continues to present pressing questions for those working in meta philosophy epistemology metaphysics hermeneutics and value theory In this volume established scholars representing a variety of cultural traditions religious perspectives and philosophical priorities all wrestle with how the idea of Christian philosophy should be understood appropriated and engaged in light of where philosophy is and where it is likely to go The volume includes classical essays that have deeply marked the field and also new essays that explore the relevance of Christian philosophy to issues in disability studies engaged pedagogy lived phenomenology the academic study of religion and the workings of social power Rather than offer a unified view that seeks to settle things the contributors demonstrate that Christian philosophy remains a topic of lively debate Wherever one comes down on the issues considered here this volume shows that Christian philosophy is neither merely of historical interest nor of interest only to Christians but instead remains a thoroughly philosophical topic worthy of serious consideration and substantive critique With a Foreword by Nicholas Wolterstorff Noah Porter Professor Emeritus of Philosophical Theology at Yale University Senior Research Fellow in the Institute for Advanced Studies in Culture at the University of Virginia and Honorary Professor of Australian Catholic University

Dialectical Anatomy of the Eucharist Donald Wallenfang, 2017-05-16 For centuries Christian theology has understood the Eucharist in terms of metaphysics or in protest against it Today an opening has been made to imagine the sacrament through the method of phenomenology bringing about new theological life and meaning In Dialectical Anatomy of the Eucharist Donald Wallenfang conducts a sustained analysis of the Eucharist through the aperture of phenomenology yet concludes the study with poetic and metaphysical twists Engaging the work of Jean Luc Marion Paul Ricoeur and Emmanuel Levinas Wallenfang proposes pioneering ideas for contemporary sacramental theology that have vast implications for interfaith and interreligious dialogue By tapping into the various currents within the Judeo Christian tradition Jewish Catholic Orthodox and Protestant a radical argument is developed that leverages the tension among them all Several new frontiers are explored dialectical theology a fourth phenomenological reduction the phenomenology of human personhood the poetics of the Eucharist and a reinterpretation of the concept of gift as conversation On the whole Wallenfang advances recent debates surrounding the relationship between phenomenology and theology by claiming an uncanny way out of emerging dead ends in philosophical theology return to the fray Marion and Derrida on The Gift and Desire: Debating the Generosity of Things Jason Alvis, 2016-01-13 This book examines the various encounters between Jean Luc Marion and Jacques Derrida on the gift considers their many differences on desire and demonstrates how these topics hold the keys to some of phenomenology's most pressing structural questions especially regarding deconstructive approaches within the field The book claims that the topic of desire is a central lynchpin to understanding the two thinkers conflict over the gift for the gift is reducible to the desire to give which initiates a turn to the topic of generosity To what degree might loving also imply giving How far might it be suggested that love is reducible to desire and intentionality It is demonstrated how Derrida the generative father of deconstruction rejects the possibility of any potential relation between the gift and desire on the account that desire is bound to calculative repetition economical appropriation and subject centered interests that hinder deconstruction Whereas Marion a representative of the phenomenological tradition demands a unique union between the gift and desire which are both represented in his reduction to givenness and erotic reduction The book is the first extensive attempt to contextualize the stark differences between Marion and Derrida within the phenomenological legacy Husserl Heidegger Kant supplies readers with in depth accounts of the topics of the gift love and desire and demonstrates another means through which the appearing of phenomena might be understood namely according to the generosity of things
