Building an Entrepreneurial Organisation Simon Mosey, Hannah

Noke, Paul Kirkham, 2017-04-21 Entrepreneurship is often focused on understanding new ventures but the entrepreneurial flame is required in growing organisations too This textbook examines how organisations can become more entrepreneurial to achieve sustainable growth The authors show how entrepreneurship can be used to address crisis points of growth within small firms and to overcome the limitations of stagnation within large firms By integrating entrepreneurship and innovation management the book presents a framework to diagnose entrepreneurial behaviour within existing firms Drawing upon research and reflecting practice across a range of industries from football through Silicon Valley to the retail sector it includes insights from leading practitioners The authors build an understanding of entrepreneurship in context to provide diagnostic tools to help organisations make entrepreneurship central to their culture This unique text is therefore useful reading for business students from advanced undergraduate to executive education

Brand Machines, Sensory Media and Calculative Culture Sven Brodmerkel, Nicholas Carah, 2016-10-27 This study argues that the defining feature of contemporary advertising is the interconnectedness between consumer participation and calculative media platforms It critically investigates how audience participation unfolds in an algorithmic media infrastructure in which brands develop media devices to codify process and modulate human capacities and actions With the shift from a broadcast to an interactive media system advertisers have reinvented themselves as the strategic interface between computational media systems and the lived experience and living bodies of consumers Where once advertising relied predominantly on symbolic appeals to affect consumers it now centres on the use of computational devices that codify monitor analyse and control their behaviours Advertisers have worked to stimulate and harness consumer participation for several generations Consumers undertook the productive work of making brands a part of their cultural identities and practices With the emergence of a computational mode of advertising consumer participation extends beyond the expressive activity of creating and circulating meaning It now involves making the lived experience and the living body available to the experimental capacities of media platforms and devices In this mode of advertising brands become techno cultural processes that integrate calculative and cultural functions Brand Machines Sensory Media and Calculative Culture conceptualises and theorises these significant changes in advertising It takes consumer participation and its interconnectedness with calculative media platforms as the fundamental aspect of contemporary advertising and critically investigates how advertising consumer participation and technology are interrelated in creating and facilitating lived experiences that create value for brands
