Sympathizing With The Enemy Reconciliation Transitional Justice Negotiation:

Sympathizing with the Enemy Nir Eisikovits, 2010 Since the demise of the Soviet Union and to a greater degree after the collapse of apartheid in South Africa interest in the transition from mass atrocity has swelled but produced few systematic philosophical discussions of the notion of reconciliation until this work Negotiating Reconciliation in Peacemaking Valerie Rosoux, Mark Anstey, 2017-11-01 This book offers a unique approach to reconciliation as a matter for negotiation bringing together two bodies of theory in order to offer insights into resolving conflicts and achieving lasting peace It argues that reconciliation should not be simply accepted as an agreed upon norm within peacemaking processes but should receive serious attention from belligerents and peace brokers seeking to end violent conflicts through negotiation The book explores different meanings the term reconciliation might hold for parties in conflict the end of overt hostilities a transformation in the quality of relations between warring groups a vehicle of accountability and punishment of human rights abusers or the means through which they might somehow acquire amnesty and as a means of atonement and to material reparation It considers what gives energy to the idea of reconciliation in a conflict situation why do belligerents become interested in settling their differences and changing their attitudes to one another Using a range of case studies and thematic discussion chapters in this book seek to tackle these tough questions from a multidisciplinary perspective Contributions to the book reveal some of the complexities of national and international reconciliation projects but particularly diverse understandings of reconciliation and how to achieve it All conflicts reflect unique dynamics aspirations and power realities It is precisely because parties in conflict differ in expectations of reconciliation outcomes that its processes should be negotiated This book is a valuable resource for both scholars and practitioners engaged in resolving conflicts and transforming fragmented relations in conflict and post conflict situations Justice, Responsibility and Reconciliation in the Wake of Conflict Alice MacLachlan, Allen Speight, 2012-12-04 What are the moral obligations of participants and bystanders during and in the wake of a conflict How have theoretical understandings of justice peace and responsibility changed in the face of contemporary realities of war Drawing on the work of leading scholars in the fields of philosophy political theory international law religious studies and peace studies the collection significantly advances current literature on war justice and post conflict reconciliation Contributors address some of the most pressing issues of international and civil conflict including the tension between attributing individual and collective responsibility for the wrongs of war the trade offs made between the search for truth and demands for justice and the conceptual intricacies of coming to understand just what is meant by peace and conflict Individual essays also address concrete topics including the international criminal court reparations truces political apologies truth commissions and criminal trials with an eye to contemporary examples from conflicts in the Middle East Africa and North and South America Transitional Justice in Comparative Perspective Samar El-Masri, Tammy Lambert, Joanna R. Quinn, 2020-01-17 What if we could change the conditions in post conflict post authoritarian countries to make transitional justice work better This book argues that if the context in countries in need of transitional justice can be ameliorated before processes of transitional justice are established they are more likely to meet with success As the contributors reveal this can be done in different ways At the attitudinal level changing the broader social ethos can improve the chances that societies will be more receptive to transitional justice At the institutional level the capacity of mechanisms and institutions can be strengthened to offer more support to transitional justice processes Drawing on lessons learned in Colombia Democratic Republic of the Congo The Gambia Lebanon Palestine and Uganda the book explores ways to better the conditions in post conflict post authoritarian countries to improve the success of transitional justice

Sympathizing with the Enemy Nir Eisikovits, 2010 Since the demise of the Soviet Union and to a greater degree after the collapse of apartheid in South Africa interest in the transition from mass atrocity has swelled but produced few systematic philosophical discussions of the notion of reconciliation until this work

Theorizing Transitional Justice Claudio Corradetti, Nir Eisikovits, 2016-02-17 This book addresses the theoretical underpinnings of the field of transitional justice something that has hitherto been lacking both in study and practice With the common goal of clarifying some of the theoretical profiles of transitional justice strategies the study is organized along crucial intersections evaluating aspects connected to the genealogy the nature the scope and the most appropriate methodology for the study of transitional justice The chapters also take up normative and political considerations pertaining to specific transitional instruments such as war crime tribunals truth commissions administrative purges reparations and historical commissions Bringing together some of the most original writings from established experts as well as from promising young scholars in the field the collection will be an essential resource for researchers academics and policy makers in Law Philosophy Politics and Sociology

Conflict Transformation and Reconciliation Sarah Maddison, 2015-06-19 This book examines approaches to reconciliation and peacebuilding in settler colonial post conflict and divided societies In contrast to current literature this book provides a broader assessment of reconciliation and conflict transformation by applying a distinctive multi level approach The analysis provides a unique intervention in the field one that significantly complicates received notions of reconciliation and transitional justice and considers conflict transformation across the constitutional institutional and relational levels of society Drawing on extensive fieldwork in South Africa Northern Ireland Australia and Guatemala the work presents an interdisciplinary study of the complex political challenges facing societies attempting to transition either from violence and authoritarianism to peace and democracy or from colonialism to post colonialism Informed by theories of agonistic democracy the book conceives of reconciliation as a process that is deeply political and that prioritises the capacity to retain and develop democratic political contest in societies that have in other ways been able to resolve their conflicts The cases considered suggest that reconciliation is most likely an open ended process rather than a goal a process that requires divided societies to pay ongoing attention to reconciliatory efforts at all levels long after the eyes of the world have moved on from countries where the work of reconciliation is thought to be finished This book will be of great interest to students of reconciliation conflict transformation peacebuilding transitional justice and IR in general The Limits of Settler Colonial Reconciliation Sarah Maddison, Tom Clark, Ravi de Costa, 2016-11-18 This book investigates whether and how reconciliation in Australia and other settler colonial societies might connect to the attitudes of non Indigenous people in ways that promote a deeper engagement with Indigenous needs and aspirations It explores concepts and practices of reconciliation considering the structural and attitudinal limits to such efforts in settler colonial countries Bringing together contributions by the world's leading experts on settler colonialism and the politics of reconciliation it complements current research approaches to the problems of responsibility and engagement between Aboriginal and non Aboriginal peoples Introduction to International Criminal Law M. Cherif Bassiouni, 2013 This title covers the history nature and sources of international criminal law the ratione personae ratione materiae sources of substantive international criminal law the indirect enforcement system the direct enforcement system and much more The Routledge Handbook of the Philosophy and Psychology of Forgiveness Glen Pettigrove, Robert Enright, 2023-04-11 The Routledge Handbook of the Philosophy and Psychology of Forgiveness brings into conversation research from multiple disciplines offering readers a comprehensive guide to current forgiveness research Its 42 chapters newly commissioned from an internationally acclaimed group of scholars are divided into five parts Religious Traditions Historic Treatments The Nature of Forgiveness Normative Issues Empirical Findings While the principal aim of the handbook is to provide a guide to the philosophical literature on forgiveness that ideally will inform the psychological sciences in developing more philosophically accurate measures and psychological treatments of forgiveness the volume will be of interest to students and researchers with a wide range of disciplinary backgrounds including philosophy psychology theology religious studies classics history politics law and education
