The Native Tourist Mass Tourism Within Developing Countries:

The Native Tourist Kléber Bertrand Ghimire, 2001 The first book to examine a major new factor in tourism the rapid growth of tourism within developing countries and regions Analyses the nature magnitude and impact in different contexts and countries Covers Asia Africa and Latin America Vital subject for development economics and social policy Published with the UN Research Institute for Social Development Domestic tourism in developing countries is rapidly outstripping international tourism and could soon involve 10 times the numbers Despite the rapid growth it has not been studied This is the first book to examine the numbers involved their profile behavior impacts and the relevant policy responses The volume looks at the impacts of local mass tourism in various socioeconomic and environmental contexts and on diverse social groups It provides analysis and overviews of seven of the main countries involved in Asia Africa and Latin America

Understanding Western Tourists in Developing Countries Antonius Nicolaas Francesco van Egmond, 2007 It will be a valuable resource for students and researchers in leisure recreation and tourism and to practitioners implementing tourism programs in developing countries BOOK JACKET Urban Tourism in the Developing World Gustav Visser, 2017-07-28 Over the past decade the field of urban tourism has consolidated with the appearance of several books that concentrate upon the Western European and North American experience Recently the scope and range of urban research has widened considerably including the welcome appearance of studies that examine the tourism phenomenon in cities outside the Euro American heartland Despite this growing international body of debate and scholarship on tourism and cities particularly in the developed North literature that relates to the developing world as a whole and to Africa in particular remains sparse The task of Urban Tourism in the Developing World The South African Experience is to augment the current international scholarship concerning urban tourism in the developing world More especially the contributors draw attention to a range of case studies from South Africa that provide some starting points to address the uneven scholarly coverage of urban tourism the African context has received to date In addition the research material presented here seeks to contribute toward raising the South African and indeed the African profile within growing international scholarship concerning issues of urban tourism and development This collection aims to expand an emerging South African and African tourism research voice concerning the tourism and development nexus as well as to stem critiques that this body of research appears to have developed in a theoretical vacuum divorced from broader international tourism research discourses This collection of essays not only further develops an independent South African tourism perspective but also presents research that is closely tied to international urban tourism research debates In addition this analysis of urban tourism in the South African context enriches the rather Western oriented theories of urban tourism discourse through its emphasis on how urban tourism is evolving in urban Africa

The Native Tourist Krishna B. Ghimire, 2013-12-02 Domestic tourism in developing countries is rapidly outstripping international tourism and could soon involve ten times the numbers This is an examination of the numbers involved their profile behaviour impacts and the relevant policy responses The volume looks at the impacts of local mass tourism in various socio economic and environmental contexts and on diverse social groups It provides analysis and overviews of seven of the main countries involved in Asia Africa and Latin America Mass Tourism in a Small World David Harrison, Richard Sharpley, 2017-05-26 This new book reviews all aspects of the phenomenon of mass tourism It covers theoretical perspectives including political economy ethics sustainability and environmentalism the historical context and the current challenges to domestic intra regional and international mass tourism As tourism and tourist numbers continue to grow around the world it becomes increasingly important that this subject is studied in depth and best practice applied in real life situations Finishing with a speculative chapter identifying potential future trends and challenges this book forms an essential resource for all researchers and students within tourism studies

Tourism and Development in the Developing World David J. Telfer, Richard Sharpley, 2015-12-14 Tourism is widely considered to be an important factor in socio economic development particularly in less developed countries However despite almost universal recognition of tourism s development potential the extent to which economic and social progress is linked to the growth of a country s tourism sector remains the subject of intense debate Tourism and Development in the Developing World offers a thorough overview of the tourism development relationship Focusing specifically on the less developed world and drawing on contemporary case studies this updated second edition questions widely held assumptions on the role of tourism in development and seeks to highlight the challenges faced by destinations seeking to achieve development through tourism The introductory chapter establishes the foundation for the book exploring the meaning and objectives of development reviewing theoretical perspectives on the developmental process and assessing the reasons why less developed countries are attracted to tourism as a development option The concept of sustainable development as the most widely adopted contemporary model of development is then introduced and its links with tourism critically assessed Subsequent chapters explore the key issues associated with tourism and development including the rise of globalization the tourism planning and development process the relationship between tourism and communities within which it is developed the management implications of trends in the demand for and uptake of tourism and an analysis of the consequences of tourism development for destination environments economies and societies A new chapter considers the challenges of climate change sustainability of resource supply oil water and food global economic instability political instability and changing demographics Finally the issues raised throughout the book are drawn together in a concluding chapter that assesses the tourism and development dilemma Combining an overview of essential concepts theories and knowledge with an analysis of contemporary issues and debates in tourism and development this new edition will be an invaluable resource for those investigating tourism issues in developing countries The book will be of interest to students of tourism development geography and area studies international relations and politics and sociology

Risk, Vulnerability and Tourism in Developing Countries Martina Shakya, 2009 IEE Institute of Development Research and Development Policy Ruhr Universit at Bochum Cover

Developing Heritage - Developing Countries Marie

Huber,2020-11-23 The history of development has paid only little attention to cultural projects This book looks at the development politics that shaped the UNESCO World Heritage programme with a case study of Ethiopian World Heritage sites from the 1960s to the 1980s In a large scale conservation and tourism planning project selected sites were set up and promoted as images of the Ethiopian nation This story serves to illustrate UNESCO s role in constructing a useful past in many African countries engaged in the process of nation building UNESCO experts and Ethiopian elites had a shared interest in producing a portfolio of antiquities and national parks to underwrite Ethiopia s imperial claims to regional hegemony with ancient history The key findings of this book highlight a continuity in Ethiopian history despite the political ruptures caused by the 1974 revolution and UNESCO s transformation from knowledge producer to actual provider of development policies The particular focus on the bureaucratic and political practices of heritage bridges a gap between cultural heritage studies and the history of international organisations The result is a first study of the global discourse on heritage as it emerged in the 1960s development decade Tourism Economics Metin Kozak,2015-09-04 This book examines tourism economics in detail providing a range of specific case studies of tourism operations in various countries across the world The contributors to this volume are from diverse locations with ten countries across four continents represented namely Canada China Greece India Iran Poland Portugal South Africa Spain and the USA The book is systematic in structure and thorough in content and will be useful for both academics and tourism professionals seeking to update their knowledge and practice of tourism economics and to contribute to the field by developing further research proposals at both the micro and macro levels

Rethinking Tourism and Ecotravel Deborah McLaren,2003 Exceptional overview of the tourism industry worldwide Case studies of indigenous people s responses to tourism development Detailed listing of tourism and ecotourism resources This is a fully revised and comprehensive overview of the history and global development of tourism one of the largest industries in the world Despite promising great benefits to hosts and guests alike tourism often results in some very stark and painful consequences for local host communities and the environment The second edition provides updated information on global tourism and examines how local communities in different parts of the world especially indigenous peoples have responded to the challenges and opportunities of tourism and ecotravel
