Geography and Geographers Ron Johnston, James Sidaway, 2015-12-22 Explores the relationship between human and physical geography All chapters updated in the new edition to reflect new literature and changes in the discipline Chapter One systematically considers representations of geographical thought The closing chapter develops an explicit argument about what has made human geography distinctive Draws on a wide reading of the geographical literature produced during a fifty year period characterised by both growth in the number of academic geographers and substantial shifts in conceptions of the discipline s scientific rationale

Marginal Urbanisms Felipe Hernández, 2017-05-11 This volume reflects on urban development strategies that have been implemented recently in Latin America Over the past twenty years there has been great improvement in governmental efficiency with local and national governments executing important projects that increase the quality of life in cities However the causes of collective disadvantage which created the problems governments attempt to resolve continue to affect many people throughout the continent Thus the essays here examine a wide range of socioeconomic political ethnic and historical issues that have influenced the emergence of marginal urbanisms in Latin American cities The argument most strongly presented in this book is that infrastructural insertions need to be considered as the baseline for urban development not as its main goal Urban infrastructure cannot be taken as the only target for urban development programmes but rather as an instrument for achieving more significant and inclusive urban transformations that respond more adequately to the realities of the people who inhabit Latin American cities

Arab America Nadine

Naber,2012-08-20 Arab Americans are one of the most misunderstood segments of the U S population especially after the events of 9 11 In Arab America Nadine Naber tells the stories of second generation Arab American young adults living in the San Francisco Bay Area most of whom are political activists engaged in two culturalist movements that draw on the conditions of diaspora a Muslim global justice and a Leftist Arab movement Writing from a transnational feminist perspective Naber reveals the complex and at times contradictory cultural and political processes through which Arabness is forged in the contemporary United States and explores the apparently intra communal cultural concepts of religion family gender and sexuality as the battleground on which Arab American young adults and the looming world of America all wrangle As this struggle continues these young adults reject Orientalist thought producing counter narratives that open up new possibilities for transcending the limitations of Orientalist imperialist and conventional nationalist articulations of self possibilities that ground concepts of religion family gender and sexuality in some of the most urgent issues of our times immigration politics racial justice struggles and U S militarism and war

Walzer, Just War and Iraq Ronan O'Callaghan,2015-10-08 In recent years questions of ethical responsibility and justice in war have become increasingly significant in international relations This focus has been precipitated by United States U S led invasions in Afghanistan and Iraq In turn Western conceptions of ethical responsibility have been largely informed by human rights based understandings of morality This book directly addresses the question of what it means to act ethically in times of war by drawing upon first hand accounts of U S war fighting in Iraq during the 2003 invasion and occupation The book focuses upon the prominent rights based justification of war of Michael Walzer Through an in depth critical reading of Walzer s work this title demonstrates the broader problems implicit to human rights based justifications of war and elucidates an alternative account of ethical responsibility ethics as response Putting forward a compelling case for people to remain troubled and engaged with questions of ethical responsibility in war this work will be of great interest to students and scholars in a range of areas including international relations theory ethics and security studies

Migration in the 21st Century Pauline Gardiner Barber,Winnie Lem,2012 This edited collection focuses on global migration in its inter regional international and transnational variants and argues that contemporary migration scholarship is significantly advanced both within anthropology and beyond it when ethnography is theoretically engaged to grapple with the social consequences and asymmetries of twenty first century capitalism s global modalities Drawn from settings across the globe case studies explore the nuanced formations of class and power within particular migration flows while addressing the complex analytics of a contemporary critical political economy of migration Subjects include global migrants as capitalists entrepreneurs and cosmopolitans as well as workers and immigrants who are subject to varying degrees of precariousness under intensified competition for profits within contemporary global economies By re addressing the question of the relationship between changes in global capitalism and migration the book aims for a timely intervention into the debates on migration which have come to be one of the most contentious emotionally fraught issues in North

America and Europe Struggling to Belong Leon Rosa Reichle, 2025-08-30 This book offers an invaluable study on class composition in Leipzig the city renowned for its pivotal role in the downfall of state socialism It describes how class changes with the city's neoliberal restructuring that has at its core the commodification and financialization of the spaces people inhabit Through an ethnographic lens it illustrates how the city's transformation alienates its inhabitants and generates fragmentations between them hindering their collective appropriation of their city neighbourhoods and homes Their different experiences of uneven development divide them despite similar concerns of rising rents Interplaying with the local history of shrinkage deindustrialization and austerity the overall alienation feeds into collective lethargic depressive moods that permeates also institutions of the local administration leaving them reluctant to intervene with the confident actions of investors and growth oriented politicians A few exceptionally stubborn small urban movements generate islands in this sea of decomposition they do however not suffice to halt the fast pace of restructuring The book contributes to political urban class analyses by combining the study of subjectivation in uneven development with an affect sensitive scrutiny of tenant power and its limits vis vis a financializing housing market and an austerity ridden local state Language in Late Capitalism Alexandre Duchêne, Monica Heller, 2012 This book examines the ways in which our ideas about language and identity which used to be framed in national and political terms as a matter of rights and citizenship are increasingly recast in economic terms as a matter of added value It argues that this discursive shift is connected to specific characteristics of the globalized new economy in what can be thought of as late capitalism Through ten ethnographic case studies it demonstrates the complex ways in which older nationalist ideologies which invest language with value as a source of pride get bound up with newer neoliberal ideologies which invest language with value as a source of profit The complex interaction between these modes of mobilizing linguistic resources challenges some of our ideas about globalization hinting that we are in a period of intensification of modernity in which the limits of the nation State are stretched but not yet undone At the same time this book argues this intensification also calls into question modernist ways of looking at language and identity requiring a more serious engagement with capitalism and how it constitutes symbolic including linguistic as well as material markets
