Framework Witchcraft Academy:

The New Witches Aaron K.H. Ho, 2021-07-13 After Charmed ended in 2006 witches were relegated to sidekicks of televisual vampires or children's programs. But during the mid 2010s they began to resurface as leading characters in shows like the immensely popular The Chilling Adventures of Sabrina, the Charmed reboot Salem, American Horror Story: Coven, and the British program A Discovery of Witches. No longer sweet, feminine, domestic, and white, these witches are powerful, diverse, and transgressive, representing an intersectional, third-wave feminist vision of the witch. Featuring original essays from noted scholars, this is the first critical collection to examine witches on television from the late 2010s. Situated in the aftermath of the MeToo movement, essays examine the reemergence and shifting identities of TV witches through the perspectives of intersectional gender studies, hauntology, politics, morality, monstrosity, violence, queerness, disabilities, rape, ecofeminism, linguistics, family, and digital humanities.

African Studies in the Academy Mawere, Munyaradzi, Mubaya, Tapuwa R., 2017-08-09 For a long time African Studies as a discipline has been spearheaded by academics and institutions in the Global North. This puts African Studies on the continent at a crossroads of making choices on whether such a discipline can be legitimately accepted as an epistemological discipline seeking objectivity and truth about Africa and the African peoples, or a discipline meant to perpetuate the North's hegemonic socio-economic, political, and epistemic control over Africa. The compound question that immediately arises is: Who should produce what, and which space should African Studies occupy in the academy, both of the North and of the South? Confronted by such a question, one wonders whether the existence of African Studies Centres in the Global North, academies open opportunities for critical thinking on Africa, or it opens possibilities for the emergence of the same discipline in Africa as a fertile space for transdisciplinary debate. While approaches critical for the development of African Studies are pervasive in African universities through fields such as cultural studies, social anthropology, history, sociology, indigenous knowledge studies, and African philosophy, the discipline of African Studies, though critical to Africa, is rarely practiced, as such, in the African academy, and its future on the continent remains bleak. African Studies in the Academy is a testimony that, if honestly and objectively practiced, the crossroads position of African Studies as a discipline makes it a fertile ground for generating and testing new approaches critical for researching and understanding Africa. It also challenges Africa to seriously consider assuming its legitimate position to champion African Studies from within. These issues are at the heart of the present volume.

The New Generation Witches Peg Aloi, 2016-02-24 From the shelves of mainstream bookstores and the pages of teen magazines to popular films and television series, contemporary culture at the turn of the twenty-first century has been fascinated with teenage identity and the presence of magic and the occult. Alongside this profusion of products and representations, a global network of teenage Witches has emerged on the margins of adult, neopagan, Witchcraft communities, identifying themselves through various spiritual practices, consumption patterns, and lifestyle choices. The New Generation Witches is the first published anthology to investigate the recent rise of the teenage
