The Power And Limits Of Ngos:

The Power and Limits of NGOs Sarah E. Mendelson, John K. Glenn, 2002-09-11 Since the end of the Cold War a virtual army of nongovernmental organizations NGOs from the United States Britain Germany and elsewhere in Europe have flocked to Central and Eastern Europe and Eurasia These NGOs are working on such diverse tasks as helping to establish competitive political parties elections and independent media as well as trying to reduce ethnic conflict This important book is among the few efforts to assess the impact of these international efforts to build democratic institutions The case studies presented here provide a portrait of the mechanisms by which ideas commonly associated with democratic states have evolved in formerly communist states revealing conditions that help as well as hurt the process Civil Society and Governance in Europe William A. Maloney, Jan W. Van Deth, 2008-01-01 The research presented in this book based on new primary data demonstrates that in terms of civil society actors adapting to the European political space the Europeanization process has an uneven development This innovative book integrates top down approaches for the study of relationships within the developing EU multilevel system i e the consequences of Europeanization for civil society at the local level and bottom up approaches i e the consequences of civil society for the process of European integration and democracy in the EU The contributors argue that exploration of these recursive linkages requires a rethinking of the relationships between local national and trans national civil society on the one hand and multi level governance on the other In analyzing the opportunities for civil society associations to contribute to European integration and decision making from various perspectives the following findings are presented amongst others engagement with and confidence in the EU compared to national institutions is relatively weak among associational members party elites play a key gatekeeper role in the European space the EU and interest groups have had limited success in stimulating the development of citizen engagement civil society and social capital in various countries In the rapidly expanding field of research on democratic decision making in Europe this book will be welcomed by academics and scholars alike at postgraduate levels and above Experts working in the field of European decision making such as lawyers and lobbyists who are looking for conclusions based on high quality empirical research will also find much in this book to engage them The Power and Limits of NGOs Sarah Elizabeth Mendelson, John K. Glenn, 2002 This text assesses the impact of non governmental organizations efforts to build democratic institutions in Central and Eastern Europe and Eurasia Case studies provide a portrait of the mechanisms by which ideas commonly associated with democratic states have evolved in formerly communist states Beyond NGO-ization Kerstin Jacobsson, Steven Saxonberg, 2016-04-15 The celebrations marking the 20th anniversary of the fall of the Berlin Wall provoked a debate on the outcomes of the transition process in the post communist countries including a debate on the functioning of civil society This provided a good opportunity for researchers to collect new data and revise the discourse on collective action and the dynamics of civil society in these countries Jacobsson and Saxonberg s collection of essays looks at social movements and their forms of mobilization and organization as well as action repertoires in relation to the social context and their success or failure The book meets an important need in the discourse on post communist social movements by going beyond the usual discourse about the weak and non participatory civil society in the post communist context This book gives a nuanced and updated view of social movements in post communist Europe by looking at the cases of relatively successful mobilization by examining groups that have often been neglected in the discourse on social movements and civil society including animal rights groups racist movements and non feminist family organizations and by giving a deeper analysis of the different strategies that civil society organizations and groups can use Rather than expecting social movements in post communist Europe to follow the same patterns and operate in the same fashion as in Western Europe this volume shows that a wider view of contentious action is needed in order to understand the variety of strategies employed by collective actors operating in this context

The NGO Challenge for International Relations Theory William E.

DeMars,Dennis Dijkzeul,2015-02-11 It has become commonplace to observe the growing pervasiveness and impact of Non Governmental Organizations NGOs And yet the three central approaches in International Relations IR theory Liberalism Realism and Constructivism overlook or ignore the importance of NGOs both theoretically and politically Offering a timely reappraisal of NGOs and a parallel reappraisal of theory in IR the academic discipline entrusted with revealing and explaining world politics this book uses practice theory global governance and new institutionalism to theorize NGO accountability and analyze the history of NGOs This study uses evidence from empirical data from Europe Africa Latin America the Middle East and Asia and from studies that range across the issue areas of peacebuilding ethnic reconciliation and labor rights to show IR theory has often prejudged and misread the agency of NGOs Drawing together a group of leading international relations theorists this book explores the frontiers of new research on the role of such forces in world politics and is required reading for students NGO activists and policy makers

Building Democracy in Contemporary Russia Sarah L. Henderson,2018-07-05 Can foreign donors help build new democracies In the 1990s public and private organizations such as USAID and the Soros Foundation poured huge amounts of money and expertise into Russia to help build the dream of a vibrant democratic society Sarah L Henderson argues that despite the altruistic intentions of foreign assistance agencies and domestic activists foreign aid designed to spur civic growth has had unintended consequences Drawing on extensive field work survey research and work experience for several funding agencies in Moscow in the late 1990s Henderson focuses on donor efforts to support the emerging community of nongovernmental organizations and in particular on efforts to build a functioning women s movement in Russia Her intimate knowledge of Russia s growing NGO community informs a worrisome finding foreign aid has made a tremendous difference but not in altogether expected or positive ways New Russian civic groups serve either the needs of an indigenous clientele or the demands of the foreign aid bureaucracy but rarely both Henderson s research and experience show that while aid has kept a fledgling civic community alive it is a civic community that is disconnected from its own domestic audience The book suggests that large flows of foreign aid have in some ways damaged the long term prospects for democratization in Russia

Women and Citizenship in Central and Eastern Europe Jasmina Lukić, Joanna Regulska, Darja Zaviršek, 2006 The essays debate women's active citizenship in Central and Eastern Europe in light of transformations in the region since the fall of communism at the end of the 1980s Case studies show that social and political discrimination between genders still exists

The Politics of Police Reform Erica Marat, 2018 What does it take to reform a post Soviet police force This book explores the conditions in which a meaningful transformation of the police is likely to succeed and when it will fail Based on the analysis of five post Soviet countries that have officially embarked on police reform efforts Erica Marat examines various pathways to transforming how the state relates to society through policing

Transnational Civil Society in China J. Chen, 2012-09-01 This book discusses the penetration growth and operation of transnational civil society TCS in China It explores impacts on the incremental development of China's political pluralism mainly through exploring the influences of the leading TCS actors on the country's bottom up and self governing activist NGOs that have sprung up spontaneously in terms of capacities strategies leadership and political outlook as a result of complex interactions between the two sectors

Global Governance and NGO Participation Charlotte Dany, 2013 This book explores the limits of NGO influence and the conditions that constrain NGOs when they participate in international negotiations Through an empirically rich study of the UN World Summits on the Information Society WSIS this book conceptualizes structural power mechanisms that shape global ICT governance and analyses the impact of NGOs on communication rights intellectual property rights financing and Internet governance The institutional framework of UN negotiations makes it easy for states to exclude NGOs from crucial meetings and to neglect their most relevant demands in part explaining why NGOs had only limited influence on the policy outcomes of the WSIS in Geneva 2003 and Tunis 2005 although high numbers of NGOs participated Using a critical perspective Dany demonstrates that despite the far reaching participation rights for civil society actors structural power mechanisms continued to limit the influence of participating NGOs and this contradicts the widely held assumption that extensive NGO participation necessarily increases NGO influence on the policy outcomes This book will be of interest to students and scholars of international relations global governance the United Nations and global information and communication politics
