Market Liberalism

Gordon Cheung,2019-01-22 This study analyzes the overseas effect of the market force of US foreign policy toward China Gordon Cheung puts forward the idea of augmented market liberalism arguing that the US was instrumental in making China a market economy □□ The practice of power ,1997 Constructing the U.S. Rapprochement with China, 1961-1974 Evelyn Goh,2004-11-22 With Nixon s historic reconciliation with China in 1972 Sino American relations were restored and China moved from being regarded as America s most implacable enemy to a friend and tacit ally Existing accounts of the rapprochement focus on the shifting balance of power between the USA China and the Soviet Union but in this book Goh argues that they cannot adequately explain the timing and policy choices related to Washington s decisions for reconciliation with Beijing Instead she applies a more historically sensitive approach that privileges contending official American constructions of China s identity and character This book demonstrates that ideas of reconciliation with China were already being propagated and debated within official circles in the USA during the 1960s It traces the related policy discourse and imagery and examines their continuities and evolution into the early 1970s that facilitated Nixon s new policy

Re-examining the Cold War: U.S.-China Diplomacy, 1954-1973 Robert S. Ross,Changbin Jiang,2020-03-23

The twelve essays in this volume underscore the similarities between Chinese and American approaches to bilateral diplomacy and between their perceptions of each other s policy making motivations Much of the literature on U S China relations posits that each side was motivated either by ideologically informed interests or by ideological assumptions about its counterpart But as these contributors emphasize newly accessible archives suggest rather that both Beijing and Washington developed a responsive and tactically adaptable foreign policy Each then adjusted this policy in response to changing international circumstances and changing assessments of its counterpart s policies Motivated less by ideology than by pragmatic national security concerns each assumed that the other faced similar considerations American Images of China Oliver Turner,2014-04-16 The United States and China are arguably the most globally consequential actors of the early twenty first century and look set to remain so into the foreseeable future This volume seeks to highlight that American images of China are responsible for constructing certain truths and realities about that country and its people It also introduces the understanding that these images have always been inextricable from the enactment and justification of US China policies in Washington and that those policies themselves are active in the production and reproduction of imagery and in the protection of American identity when seemingly threatened by that of China Demonstrating how past American images of China are vital to understanding the nature and significance of those which circulate today Turner addresses three key questions What have been the dominant American images of China and the Chinese across the full lifespan of Sino US relations How have historical and contemporary American images of China and the Chinese enabled and justified US China policy What role does

US China policy play in the production and reproduction of American images of China Exploring and evaluating a wide ranging variety of sources including films and television programmes newspaper and magazine articles the records and journals of politicians and diplomats and governmental documents including speeches and legal declarations this work will be of great interest to students and scholars of US foreign policy American politics China studies and international relations
