

A photograph of an Antarctic landscape. In the foreground, a vast, deep blue body of water stretches across the frame. In the middle ground, a massive, flat-topped ice shelf or glacier edge meets the water, with some smaller ice floes visible. The background shows a hazy, cloudy sky. The overall scene is serene and majestic.

Slicing The Silence Voyaging To Antarctica:

Slicing the Silence Tom Griffiths, 2007 The author reflects on his experiences exploring Antarctica the last true wilderness Antarctica David Day, 2013-06-03 Since the first sailing ships spied the Antarctic coastline in 1820 the frozen continent has captured the world's imagination David Day's brilliant biography of Antarctica describes in fascinating detail every aspect of this vast land's history two centuries of exploration scientific investigation and contentious geopolitics

Class and Colonialism in Antarctic Exploration, 1750-1920 Ben Maddison, 2015-10-06 Between 1750 and 1920 over 15 000 people visited Antarctica Despite such a large number the historiography has ignored all but a few celebrated explorers Maddison presents a study of Antarctic exploration telling the story of these forgotten facilitators he argues that Antarctic exploration can be seen as an offshoot of European colonialism Who Saved Antarctica? Andrew

Jackson, 2021-10-04 This book provides a diplomatic history of a turning point in Antarctic governance the 1991 adoption of comprehensive environmental protection obligations for an entire continent which prohibited mining Solving the mining issue became a symbol of finding diplomatic consensus The book combines historiographic concepts of contingency conjuncture and accidental events with theories of structural entrepreneurial and intellectual leadership Drawing on archival documents it shows that Antarctic governance is more adaptive than some imagine and policy success depends on the interplay of normative practices serendipitous events public engagement and influential players able to exploit those circumstances Ultimately the events revealed in this book show that the protection of the Antarctic Treaty itself remains as important as protecting the Antarctic environment Antarctica Bernadette Hince, Rupert Summerson, Arnan

Wiesel, 2015-04-30 This is the first book whose subject is the music sounds and silences of Antarctica From 2011 until 2014 Australia marked its long standing connection with Antarctica by celebrating the centenary of the Australasian Antarctic Expedition The icy continent with its extremes of climate and environment and unique soundscapes offers great potential for creative achievements in the world of music and sound This book demonstrates the intellectual and creative engagement of artists musicians scientists and writers Consciousness of sounds in particular musical ones has not been at the forefront of our aims in polar endeavours but listening to and appreciating them has been as important there as elsewhere Extreme Emma Barrett, Paul Martin, 2014 Why do some people risk their lives regularly by placing themselves in extreme and challenging situations For some such as astronauts the extreme environments are a requirement of the job For others they involve the thrill and competition of extreme sports or the achievement of what seem like unimaginable goals to some such as being the first to reach the South Pole or climb Mount Everest Whether for sport or a career these people have made the personal choice to put themselves in places where there is a significant risk What drives such people What skills and personality traits enable the best to succeed Does a successful mountaineer astronaut and cave explorer share the same abilities Are there lessons the rest of us can learn from them In Extreme Emma Barrett and Paul Martin explore the challenges that people in extreme environments face including pain physical hardship loneliness disagreements and the approaches taken to overcome them Using many fascinating examples and personal accounts they take a close look at the psychological impact on those who face these challenges the traits that enable some people to succeed and what we can take away from their experiences Gender and Prestige in Literature Alexandra Dane, 2020-07-10 Gender and Prestige in Literature Contemporary Australian Book Culture explores the relationship between gender power reputation and book publishing s consecratory institutions in the Australian literary field from 1965 2015 Focusing on book reviews literary festivals and literary prizes this work analyses the ways in which these institutions exist in an increasingly cooperative and generative relationship in the contemporary publishing industry a system designed to limit field transformation Taking an intersectional approach this research acknowledges that a number of factors in addition to gender may influence the reception of an author or a title in the literary field and finds that progress towards equality is unstable and non linear By combining quantitative data analysis with interviews from authors editors critics publishers and prize judges Alexandra Dane maps the circulation of prestige in Australian publishing addressing questions around gender identity literary reputation literary worth and the resilience of the status quo that have long plagued the field Meanjin Vol 80, No 3 Meanjin Quarterly, 2021-09-14 I ve never been too impressed with the metaphoric mountain top that Black race scholars and civil rights activists have typically been concerned with of a promised land and a dream As appealing as it sounds I don t believe that such a world will ever be possible in a settler colonial state The place that they have built for themselves was established and is sustained by racial violence and all of their institutions are unrelenting in their viciousness towards sovereign Black bodies In September Meanjin Queensland academic Munanjahli and South Sea Islander woman Chelsea Watego writes powerfully on the necessity of walking away from colonial institutions and constructs in order to find the truth of individual and collective power as an Indigenous Australian It is she argues a fight against the very notion of race itself We must stand in our own power for it is only in knowing ours that we know the false claims of theirs This is black power Patrick Allington writes on how Swedish artist Hilma af Klint has intruded upon my inner world and become a sort of guiding light Amal Awad surveys the world of romance novels for signs of orientalism and sheikh lit Tom Griffiths paints a lingering portrait of the humble Australian bushman John Blay writer walker advocate of the natural world Yumna Kassab writes on colonialism conquest occupation and dispossession the modern Australian story Plus Ron Radford on the early colonial art in Tasmania Prithvi Varatharajan on literary engagements with the non human world Rachel Weaver on currawongs plus other essays from Carly Stone Jacqui Shelton Kath Kenny Tim Dunlop and more New fiction from Kristian Radford Jo Langdon Mohammed Massoud Morsi Hollen Singleton and Rose Allan New poetry from Marina Hazard Andrew Sant Anthony Lynch Wen Juenn Lee Carl Walsh and more Reviews include Melody Paloma on Evelyn Araluen s Dropbear Scott Limbick on Martin McKenzie Murray s The Speechwriter and Mira Schlosberg on Melissa Broder s Milk Fed Desert Channels CSIRO
