Sustainable Transport for Chinese Cities Roger L. Mackett, Anthony D. May, Masanobu Kii, Haixiao Pan, 2013-01-16

Based on papers presented at a workshop on the green transport agenda and its implications for Chinese cities organised by the World Conference on Transport Research Society in September 2010 this volume reviews the challenges facing urban transport internationally and in China

Unsustainable Transport and Transition in China Becky PY Loo, 2018-01-02

This book discusses various transport sustainability issues from the perspective of developing countries exploring key issues problems and potential solutions for improving transport sustainability in China It first reviews the current transport sustainability baselines in the three key dimensions of environmental economic and social sustainability via an international comparison encompassing both developed and developing countries in different world regions Then with a time frame up to 2030 the study groups 100 major Chinese cities according to their baseline conditions projected population and economic growth and common sustainability challenges in passenger transport A systematic attempt is made to discuss the characteristics strengths and weaknesses of various emerging sustainable transport strategies including the metro systems bus rapid transit light rail bicycles and e bicycles electric vehicles and walking Based on the different city clusters identified the study then explores the opportunities and constraints of introducing a range of emerging sustainable transport strategies through both statistical analysis and detailed fieldwork Future directions and challenges are identified based on official documents onsite observations and interviews with local people The study concludes with thoughts on sustainable transport in smart cities the importance of governance local participation internal and external city movements and towards a holistic sustainable transport plan Unsustainable Transport and Transition in China will be of great interest to scholars interested in carbon emissions climate change environmental policy planning road safety sustainability transportation and urban studies and is relevant to China and other developing countries

Population Growth and Sustainable Transport in China Pengjun Zhao, Dandan Yuan, 2023-03-22 This book discusses the links between population growth migration and the transport system in China It first reviews the theories concerning the relationship between population growth distribution and transport systems from an international perspective and then analyses the history of and changes in population growth population migration urbanisation and population spatial distribution in China by using multiple data sources including the census China Family Panel Studies data China Migrants Panel Studies data and mobile phone data Thirdly it explores the effects of population growth and migration on transport infrastructures and services in terms of planning investments development operation and management The book also evaluates the features strengths and weaknesses of various population policies on the basis of their impacts on transport birth control the hukou system the migration management system and the policies designed to limit the growth of large cities and encourage the growth of small cities Further it addresses transport policies in the context of their capacity to meet people s mobility and accessibility needs and other factors including energy consumption environment pollution and regional development inequalities Examining the trends in population distribution and their influences on transport such as an increase in urban agglomeration and mega city regions in the east of China and population shrinkage in the cities and regions in northeast and west China it also investigates the new trends of rural migration and population movement during the Spring Festival and other public holidays and the challenges of these new trends for transport system Lastly the book discusses future directions and challenges sustainable population and transport policies and proposes population oriented transport strategies and accessibility based population distribution policies Relevant to China and other developing countries the book is a valuable resource for scholars interested in population studies sustainable transportation regional planning and development and environmental policy Journal of Sustainable Mobility Vol. 2 Issue 1 Michael Zhang, Fuquan Zhao, Han Hao, 2024-11-01 After three decades of rapid economic growth China became the world's second largest economy in 2010 after the United States of America Along with the prospect of lifting millions out of poverty and improving living standards China is facing yet new challenges of rapid urbanization Recent research findings show that in 2012 urbanization rate was 52.6% in China Lacy et al 2013 It is predicted that by 2020 the number of megacities in China with an urban population of more than 10 million will increase to thirteen Along with the increase in urban population and living standards there has been rapid increase of car ownership in China It is estimated that there are more than five million vehicles in Beijing Cheng 2013 Economist 2013 Large cities and prefecture level cities already contributed 89.6% of China's total industrial CO2 emissions One day in January 2013 air in Beijing was heavily polluted to a level of toxicity smog forty times the standard safe level set by the World Health Organization Economist 2013 At the international level transport contributed 61.5% to world petroleum consumption and 22.3% to global CO2 emissions in 2010 IEA 2012 While the overall level of CO2 emissions in developed economies is stabilizing and in some cases declining the levels in the developing and emerging economies are increasing Large emerging economies with megacities will imminently become the major concerns of transport related CO2 emissions Without strategic innovations in the automotive industry and transport management system the current state of China's transport sector is not sustainable The long term sustainable solutions are likely to emerge from the interplay of economic environmental social and technological factors The Special Issue partnered with the Second International Symposium on Sustainable Mobility focuses on the issues of developing policies and corporate strategies to help the automotive industry transport management systems and urban planning to embark on a sustainable path to future growth and development WBCSD 2007 World Bank 2008 The critical debate and research findings of this issue shed light on future research and practice on sustainable mobility in emerging economies

Urban Transport in the Developing World Harry T. Dimitriou, Ralph Gakenheimer, 2011-01-01 Policy making for urban transport and planning of economies in the developing world present major challenges for countries facing rapid urbanisation and rampant motorisation alongside growing commitments to sustainability These challenges include coping with financial deficits providing for the poor dealing meaningfully with global warming and energy shortages addressing traffic congestion and related land use issues adopting green technologies and adjusting equitably to the impacts of globalisation This book presents a contemporary analysis of these challenges and new workable responses to the urban transport problems they spawn Handbook on Transport and Urban Transformation in China Chia-Lin Chen, Haixiao Pan, Qing Shen, James J. Wang, 2020-03-28 Since 1978 when China embarked on a new period of economic reforms and introduced open door policies it has experienced a great urban transformation The role of transport has proved indispensable in this unprecedented rapid urbanisation and economic growth As the first research focused book dedicated to this important topic the Handbook on Transport and Urban Transformation in China offers new insight into the various opportunities and challenges brought by fast paced motorization and urban development and explores them in broad spatial economic environmental social and institutional dimensions China's Economy in the Post-Wto Environment Lilai Xu, 2011-10-01 China's Economy in the Post WTO Environment comprises a set of concise and comprehensive chapters by leading specialists on the Chinese economy The book explores the implications of both the extension of the market into key parts of the Chinese economy and the integration of China into the global economy The main focus of the book is on the role and nature of China's financial system and its ability to transform enterprise and household behaviour and the performance of investment finance notably in the context of a two way flow of foreign direct investment All the extensive chapters highlight the issue of sustainability some see the incompleteness of market reform as a problem others are more willing to accept a pragmatic blending of the operation of the free market and government intervention Containing up to the minute data this book will appeal to academic researchers who are engaged in research as well as teaching and learning in the fields of business studies the Chinese economy international business and Asia Pacific economies Academics and students in economics and business and business people who have an interest in China will also find much to interest them in this unique book

Sustainable Transport Studies in Asia Akimasa Fujiwara, Junyi Zhang, 2013-06-04 This book aims to provide a good understanding of and perspective on sustainable transport in Asia by focusing on economic environmental and social sustainability It is widely acknowledged that the current situation and trends in transport are not always sustainable in Asia due in part to the fast growing economy and the astounding speed of urbanization as well as least mature governance As essential research material the book provides strong support for policy makers and planners by comprehensively covering three groups of strategies characterized by the words avoid e g urban form design and control of car ownership shift e g establishing comprehensive transportation systems and increasing public transportation systems for both intracity and intercity travel and improve e g redesign of paratransit system low emission vehicles intelligent transportation systems and eco life These are elaborated in the book alongside consideration of the uncertainty of policy effects in the future The book is also valuable for scholars and scientists because of the diverse methodologies presented and proposed herein Among those are the four step model with full feedback mechanisms the bi level programming model with sustainability goals data envelopment analysis and stochastic frontier analysis approaches structural equation models discrete and or continuous choice models copula based models survival models and driving risk models with short term memory Using data collected from more than ten Asian cities including those in both developed and developing nations the pathway to sustainable transport in Asia gradually becomes clear

Scaling Urban Environmental Challenges Peter J. Marcotullio, 2012 Think globally act locally emphasizes the importance of scale in dealing with environmental challenges but not how to factor it in This major new book focuses on the spatial dimensions of urban environmental burdens showing how important it is to take these into account when pursuing environmental justice and good governance whether in the context of the sanitary risks of slum living the pollution of uncontrolled industrialization and motorization or the enormous ecological footprints of affluent urban lifestyles Written by leading experts in the fields of urban development and environmental planning the book reviews the urban environmental shifts that have shaped today's challenges and examines conditions and problems in the urban centres of low middle and high income countries Case studies address such economically diverse cities as Accra New Delhi Mexico City and Manchester while thematic chapters explore issues including water sanitation and transportation The book concludes by exploring and analysing different scales of governance The editors argue that we should not rely solely on local governance to address local burdens like poor sanitation nor depend only on global governance for global challenges such as greenhouse gas emissions but that scale is crucial in both understanding the problems and devising successful responses Published with UNU IAS and IIED

Property Price Impacts of Environment-Friendly Transport Accessibility in Chinese Cities Linchuan Yang, 2022-01-11 This book seeks to shed light on the role of environment friendly transport accessibility in determining property prices in Chinese cities Many environment friendly transport modes including walking metro bus rapid transit BRT and bus are examined Spatial econometric models quantile regression models and machine learning techniques are used This book contributes to people's understanding of the relationship between environmental friendly transport accessibility and property prices Moreover it is of value to policymakers including 1 informing urban planners designers to plan design cities with an adequate level of environment friendly transport accessibility 2 offering an evidence based approach to implementing value capture schemes for financing investments in urban infrastructure and 3 providing the basis for mitigating the negative externality of proximity to the transit corridor jointly constructing comprehensive hospitals and other compatible amenities and so forth
