Super Natural Christians How We Should Love Nature:

Super, Natural Christians Sallie McFague, A former dean at Vanderbilt University's Divinity School Sallie McFague calls Christians down to earth In a readable and available style alive with concrete imagery and autobiographical material McFague crafts a Christian spirituality centered on nature as the focus and locus of our encounter with the divine She helps us see all life as created in the image of God

The Making of American Liberal Theology Gary J. Dorrien, 2006-01-01 In this first of three volumes Dorrien identifies the indigenous roots of American liberal theology and demonstrates a wider longer running tradition than has been thought The tradition took shape in the nineteenth century motivated by a desire to map a modernist third way between orthodoxy and rationalistic deism atheism It is defined by its openness to modern intellectual inquiry its commitment to the authority of individual reason and experience its conception of Christianity as an ethical way of life and its commitment to make Christianity credible and socially relevant to modern people Dorrien takes a narrative approach and provides a biographical reading of important religious thinkers of the time including William E Channing Ralph Waldo Emerson Horace Bushnell Henry Ward Beecher Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Charles Briggs Dorrien notes that although liberal theology moved into elite academic institutions its conceptual foundations were laid in the pulpit rather than the classroom

The Oxford Handbook of Religion and Ecology Roger S. Gottlieb, 2006-11-09 Ecologically oriented visions of God the Sacred the Earth and human beings The proposed handbook will serve as the definitive overview of these exciting new developments Divided into three main sections the books essays will reflect the three dominant dimensions of the field Part I will explore

Biodiversity and Ecology as Interdisciplinary Challenge Denis Edwards, Mark Worthing, Mark William Worthing, 2004 This book examines the interface between biodiversity and theology

Down to Earth Richard Floyd, 2015-08-18 In the face of climate change and ecological diminishment how can we hope that creation itself good and beautiful marked by tragedy and chaos is taken up rather than left behind Can a Christian vision which has at times been drunk on eschatological dreams or nightmares that consign this world and most of its creatures to destruction foster an earthly hope Jurgen Moltmann and Sallie McFague offer two contemporary possibilities for an ecological eschatology Floyd critiques both of these theological visions and traces an alternative that is both humble grounded in the humus the dirt and hopeful grounded in divine creativity arguing that a down to earth hope is grounded finally in beauty the beauty of the other that draws out the self the beauty of the redeemed self coming out to meet the other and the beauty of God that lures forth ever new possibilities and gathers up all the beautiful and broken creatures into the deepest possible harmony

Witnessing a Wounded World Timothy Middleton, 2025-11-04 A crucial intervention at the intersection of ecotheology and trauma theology We are in the midst of a global ecological crisis At times the scale of the suffering involved can be hard to fully comprehend The whole planetary ecosystem feels out of kilter Meanwhile trauma theorists and society at large have become increasingly aware of the incidence of trauma in a growing variety of contexts In Witnessing a Wounded

World Timothy Middleton asks what might be gained by viewing ecological suffering through the lens of trauma By bringing concepts and methodologies from trauma theology to bear on questions that arise within ecotheology Middleton engages a series of pressing questions What kind of traumas are being precipitated by anthropogenic climate change and accelerating biodiversity loss What would it mean to envisage the Earth itself as traumatized And how might a Christian theologian respond From large scale deforestation and opencast mining to rampaging wildfires and fracturing ice sheets the Earth itself is subject to intense devastation Witnessing a Wounded World analyzes such phenomena in terms of three traumatic ruptures to communication to flesh and to time Drawing on practices of witnessing and the insights of deep incarnation Christologies Middleton proceeds to offer a theological account of this ecological trauma For Christians a model of Christic witnessing can bring the Earth s suffering to light As the first sustained treatment of ecological trauma to address the trauma of the Earth itself Witnessing a Wounded World makes a profound contribution to discussions of suffering faith and the present ecological emergency

Diversity and Dominion Kyle Schuyler Van Houtan, Michael S. Northcott, 2010 Description This book records a set of dialogues between scientists theologians and philosophers on what can be done to prevent a global slide into ecological collapse It is a uniquely multidisciplinary book that exemplifies the kinds of cultural and scholarly dialogue urgently needed to address the threat to the earth represented by our super industrial civilization The authors debate the conventional account of nature conservation as protection from human activity In contrast to standard accounts they argue what is needed is a new relationship between human beings and the earth that recovers a primal respect for all things This approach seeks to recover forgotten resources in ancient cultures and in the foundational narratives of Western civilization contained in the Bible and in the culture of classical Greece Endorsements A refreshing critique of both evangelical and liberal North American environmental discourse a bold exercise in multi disciplinary conversation and a welcome retrieval of the virtues of creaturely humility and gratitude Ernst M Conradie University of the Western Cape South Africa This wonderfully rich book is a model of deep conversation on crucial challenges we face The most important issues are intrinsically interdisciplinary yet we often settle for talking at or to one another This is especially true among the environmental and religious communities The conversations in this book show that deep interdisciplinary engagements offer opportunities to re frame the questions and re describe the challenges in more promising and life giving ways transforming participants and the issues alike A terrific achievement L Gregory Jones Duke University Underlying the environmental movement are a set of mostly undiscussed ethical and theological assumptions about the nature of the world and our relationship to it In this pioneering volume scholars from various perspectives engage in a deep exploration of the relationship of ecology theology and ethics The results are often illuminating sometimes surprising and uniformly worth engaging Paul Root Wolpe Emory University Van Houtan and Northcott engage scientists ethicists theologians and other thinking persons in dialogue working to re ligate the torn academic and social fabric and bringing all to see and respond to the biosphere the awesome creation that calls for our guardianship and respectful service They have us join this dialogue motivating us gardeners all toward nurturing the kind of wisdom and humility that brings good news to every creature Calvin DeWitt University of Wisconsin About the Contributor s Kyle S Van Houtan is a Post Doctoral Fellow in the Program in Science and Society and a Research Fellow in the Center for Ethics at Emory University He has served as a biologist with the Smithsonian Institution and the U S Geological Service Michael S Northcott is Professor of Ethics in the School of Divinity in the University of Edinburgh Scotland He is the author of The Environment and Christian Ethics 1996 Science, Religion and Society Arri Eisen, Gary Laderman, 2015-03-04 This unique encyclopedia explores the historical and contemporary controversies between science and religion It is designed to offer multicultural and multi religious views and provide wide ranging perspectives Science Religion and Society covers all aspects of the religion and science dichotomy from humanities to social sciences to natural sciences and includes articles by theologians religion scholars physicians scientists historians and psychologists among others The first section General Overviews contains essays that provide a road map for exploring the major challenges and questions in science and religion Following this the Historical Perspectives section grounds these major questions in the past and demonstrates how they have developed into the six broad areas of contemporary research and discussion that follow These sections Creation the Cosmos and Origins of the Universe Ecology Evolution and the Natural World Consciousness Mind and the Brain Healers and Healing Dying and Death and Genetics and Religion organize the questions and research that are the foundation of the enormous interest and controversy in science and religion today Spaces of Mobility Sigurd Bergmann, Thomas A. Hoff, Tore Sager, 2014-12-18 Human mobility is dramatically on the rise globalization and modern technology have increased transportation and migration Frequent journeys over large distances cause huge energy consumption severely impact local and global natural environments and raise spiritual and ethical questions about our place in the world Spaces of Mobility presents an analysis of the socio political environmental and ethical aspects of mobility The volume brings together essays that examine why and how modern modes of transport emerge considering their effect on society The religious significance of contemporary travel is outlined namely its impact on pilgrimage Christology and ethics The essays examine the interaction between humans and their surroundings and question how increased mobility affects human identity and self understanding Spaces of Mobility will be of interest to students and scholars seeking to understand the impact of mobility on modern culture and society the ethics behind contemporary transport systems and the conditions of immigrants in a world of constant travel Biodiversity Conservation Ethics in Major Religions H. S. A. Yahya, 2010-10 Covering three broader issues biodiversity conservation religious doctrine and environment the book Biodiversity Conservation Ethics in Major Religions is the result of a unique approach It attempts to initiate scientific discourse through the fabric of religions Spread across 15 chapters the book covers the essence of 10 religions on biodiversity encompassing a wide range of issues related to conservation The book promises to be a useful resource for biodiversity students researchers and protected area managers and also for religious scholars who are invited to look at the broader themes of religions beyond theology
