The Surgeon's Log James Johnston Abraham, 2017-12-02 Excerpt from The Surgeon's Log Being Impressions of the Far East It is almost eighteen months since the impressions here recorded first were offered to the public and re-reading them now after the interval I am conscious that for me the first glad joy of it is over I can never again recapture the shimmering golden glamour of it all Indeed looking back through the grey mist of England I find myself tempted with the wisdom or folly of later remembrance to revise rewrite tone down some of the pictures that now seem too polychromatic in the retrospect But I have refrained feeling that thereby any value they may possess as truth would be mirror dimmed by the breathings of the later mood their individuality would thus be lost Nevertheless I have yielded to temptation to this extent so many have written asking What became of them afterwards That I have added a postscript to the original narrative telling what they thought of it all and how they liked being put into a book Nothing had pleased me more than the numerous letters I have received from doctors young men writing eagerly to know if I could find them such a ship in which they might have such experiences older men enquiring furtively apologetically if their grey hairs could possibly be overlooked so that they too might find themselves amid similar surroundings Apparently romance dies hard and so to all I have replied that given the proper subjective attitude of mind their pleasure under similar circumstances would be as great for it is in ourselves not in the events that occur to us that happiness is to be found About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works What Shall I Read Next? F. Seymour Smith, 1953-01-02 Originally published in 1953 What Shall I Read Next lists nearly 2000 works published after 1900 with the compiler's own appreciatory comments on selected items It was a companion volume to Mr Seymour Smith's English Library Both books are published on behalf of the National Book League In his introduction explaining the scope and purpose of the book Mr Seymour Smith wrote Some will find it useful merely as a shopping list reminding them of books they know something about already and serving as a remembrancer To others and particularly to younger readers it may introduce books which have so far escaped their notice It is hoped too that for booksellers and librarians it will have a practical use as a desk book for answering enquiries for serving as a check list for stock and for use as a reference book when memory fails

Irish Novels 1890-1940 John Wilson Foster, 2008-02-21 Studies of Irish fiction are still scanty in contrast to studies of Irish poetry and drama Attempting to fill a large critical vacancy Irish Novels 1890-1940 is a comprehensive survey of popular and minor fiction mainly novels published between 1890 and 1922 a crucial period in Irish cultural and political history Since the bulk of these sixty odd writers have never been written about certainly beyond brief mentions the book opens up for further exploration a literary landscape hitherto neglected perhaps even unsuspected This new landscape should alter the familiar perspectives on Irish literature of the period first of all by adding genre fiction science fiction detective novels ghost stories New Woman fiction and Great War novels to the Irish syllabus secondly by demonstrating the immense contribution of women writers to popular and mainstream Irish fiction Among the popular and prolific female writers discussed are Mrs J H Riddell B M Croker M E Francis Sarah Grand Katharine Tynan Ella MacMahon Katherine Cecil Thurston W M Letts and Hannah Lynch Indeed a critical inference of the survey is that if there is a discernible tradition of the Irish novel it is largely a female tradition A substantial postscript surveys novels by Irish women between 1922 and 1940 and relates them to the work of their female antecedents This ground breaking survey should also alter the familiar perspectives on the Ireland of 1890 1922 Many of the popular works were problem novels and hence throw light on contemporary thinking and debate on the Irish Question After the Irish Literary Revival and creation of the Free State much popular and mainstream fiction became a lost archive neglected evidence indeed of a lost Ireland The English Catalogue of Books Sampson Low, 1952 Volumes for 1898 1968 include a directory of publishers Operative Elbow Surgery E-Book David Stanley, Ian Trail, 2011-09-29 This is an authoritative and comprehensive resource for orthopaedic surgeons and trainees dealing with traumatic and non traumatic disorders of the elbow It covers all aspects of elbow surgery from anatomy biomechanics investigation and diagnosis to the latest surgical approaches and implant devices With full colour illustrations throughout this reference work provides practical instructions to the optimal surgical techniques both traditional open and minimally invasive for the full range of common and uncommon elbow disorders An international team of contributors carefully selected for their particular expertise discuss their preferred approaches and provide practical guidance on bone and soft tissue reconstruction Comprehensive review of treatment options Coverage takes you through basic science and biomechanics right up to the clinical application of the latest surgical techniques and devices Outstanding full colour illustrations incorporated throughout Provides an accurate visual guide to the surgical approaches and techniques under discussion World class team of expert contributing authors from Europe Asia Australia and North America Therapeutic options and preferred methods of treatment are drawn from all over the world Accompanying video clips of common procedures Allows the user to see actual exams and procedures as performed by experts Pediatric Surgery, 2-Volume Set Arnold G.
