The effects of industrialized food systems on public health, human rights, food sovereignty, ecological sustainability for land and water as well as for climate change are increasingly obvious. These ongoing challenges along with the COVID-19 pandemic have exacerbated existing social, economic and political inequalities and vulnerabilities and placed them in the spotlight. The crisis in Ukraine has also underscored how connected global industrialized food systems are to nation-state geopolitical interests, international alliances, trade relations and conflicts. The current industrialized resource-intensive food system has persisted because of a complex set of power relations despite its continuing and deepening social, ecological and cultural costs.

recent years new mechanisms have been developed to link citizens with government and with diverse policy making entities Earlier it was assumed that citizens had little interest in policy deliberations and responsibility for public needs was best left to the experts Many citizens now believe that they have a legitimate right to influence how power is exercised in public organizations Koff constructs a demographic profile of public members their activities and their opinions about board membership She also catalogues the perspectives of executive directors about public members identifies specific problems related to public participation and suggests strategies to help resolve them How effectively these bodies perform and how well they respond to the public are in part determined by the talents and activities of their members All of these members especially public members need appropriate tools to be able to perform in a superior fashion Despite the importance of governing bodies to an organization's performance there has been little examination of board members in general and specifically of public members This is the first book length study on the subject
