Southeast Asian Studies Pacific Perspectives:

Southeast Asian Studies Anthony Reid, 2003 Southeast Asian studies have undergone significant changes since the groundwork was laid out in the mid twentieth century Much of the public awareness is due solely to wars and during the decade of the 1980s many scholars shifted focus away from the region Southeast Asian Studies Pacific Perspectives thoughtfully examines how the study of Southeast Asia has changed and where it is heading The sixteen papers examine Southeast Asian studies from historical global Asian and American perspectives The book suggests that the future of a different Southeast Asian studies is a bright one New Perspectives in Southeast Asian and Pacific Prehistory Philip J. Piper, Hirofumi Matsumura, David Bulbeck, 2017-03-24 This volume brings together a diversity of international scholars unified in the theme of expanding scientific knowledge about humanity's past in the Asia Pacific region The contents in total encompass a deep time range concerning the origins and dispersals of anatomically modern humans the lifestyles of Pleistocene and early Holocene Palaeolithic hunter gatherers the emergence of Neolithic farming communities and the development of Iron Age societies These core enduring issues continue to be explored throughout the vast region covered here accordingly with a richness of results as shown by the authors Befitting of the grand scope of this volume the individual contributions articulate perspectives from multiple study areas and lines of evidence Many of the chapters showcase new primary field data from archaeological sites in Southeast Asia Equally important other chapters provide updated regional summaries of research in archaeology linguistics and human biology from East Asia through to the Western Pacific Mike T Carson Associate Professor of Archaeology Micronesian Area Research Center University of Guam The Making of Southeast Asia Amitav Acharya, 2013-02-15 Developing a framework to study what makes a region Amitav Acharya investigates the origins and evolution of Southeast Asian regionalism and international relations He views the Association of Southeast Asian Nations ASEAN from the bottom up as not only a U S inspired ally in the Cold War struggle against communism but also an organization that reflects indigenous traditions Although Acharya deploys the notion of imagined community to examine the changes especially since the Cold War in the significance of ASEAN dealings for a regional identity he insists that imagination is itself not a neutral but rather a culturally variable concept The regional imagination in Southeast Asia imagines a community of nations different from NAFTA or NATO the OAU or the European Union In this new edition of a book first published as The Quest for Identity in 2000 Acharya updates developments in the region through the first decade of the new century the aftermath of the financial crisis of 1997 security affairs after September 2001 the long term impact of the 2004 tsunami and the substantial changes wrought by the rise of China as a regional and global actor Acharya argues in this important book for the crucial importance of regionalism in a different part of the world The Historical Construction of Southeast Asian Studies Park Seung Woo, Victor T King, 2013-06-17 At a time when Southeast Asian Studies is declining in North America and Europe this book serves to remind us of the fresh constructive and encouraging view of the field from Asia On behalf of Taiwan's Southeast Asian research community I sincerely congratulate Professors Park and King for making such a great and timely contribution to the making of Southeast Asian Studies in Asia Hsin Huang Michael Hsiao Director of Institute of Sociology Academia Sinica and former President of Taiwan Association of Southeast Asian Studies The Historical Construction of Southeast Asian Studies Korea and Beyond is an important and long overdue step in the task of bringing Southeast Asian Studies to where it rightfully belongs the Asian region At the same time it avoids being narrowly regionalistic and instead views Southeast Asia as an open system that transcends national units or fixed territorial categories and welcomes the contributions of both Asian and non Asian scholars in crafting a fresh post colonial approach to the study of the region's societies and peoples Eduardo Climaco Tadem Professor of Asian Studies University of the Philippines Diliman An insightful and systemic analysis of the intriguing trajectories evolving themes and multi lingual scholarship of Southeast Asian Studies in Asia and beyond this book serves as an important foundation in setting future research agendas as well as for closer global collaborations in knowledge production in Asian Studies Liu Hong Tan Kah Kee Professor and Chair School of Humanities and Social Sciences Nanyang Technological University Singapore

Knowing Southeast Asian Subjects Laurie J. Sears, 2011-10-17 The essays in Knowing Southeast Asian Subjects ask how the rising preponderance of scholarship from Southeast Asia is de centering Southeast Asian area studies in the United States The contributions address recent transformations within the field and new directions for research pedagogy and institutional cooperation Contributions from the perspectives of history anthropology cultural studies political theory and libraries pose questions ranging from how a concern with postcolonial and feminist questions of identity might reorient the field to how anthropological work on civil society and Islam in Southeast Asia provides an opportunity for comparative political theorists to develop more sophisticated analytic approaches A vision common to all the contributors is the potential of area studies to produce knowledge outside a global academic framework that presumes the privilege and even hegemony of Euro American academic trends and scholars Methodology and Research Practice in Southeast Asian Studies M. Huotari, J. Rüland, J. Schlehe, 2014-07-29 This book addresses the question of how to ground research practice in area specific yet globally entangled contexts such as Global Southeast Asia It offers a fruitful debate between various approaches to Southeast Asia Studies while taking into consideration the area specific contexts of research practice cross cutting methodological issues Rethinking Displacement: Asia Pacific Perspectives Kuntala Lahiri-Dutt, 2016-04-08 This book responds to the need to explore the multitude of interconnected factors causing displacements that compel people to move within their homelands or traverse various borders in the contemporary world that is characterised by extensive and rapid movements of people It addresses this need by bringing together historical and contemporary accounts and critical examinations of the displaced by articulating the commonalities in their lived experiences It accomplishes the task of charting a new path in displacement studies by offering a number of studies from interdisciplinary and diverse methodological approaches comprising ethnographic and qualitative research and literary interpretations to emphasise that although the forms and conditions of mobility are highly divergent individual experiences of displacement and placelessness offer a critical challenge to the artificial categorisations of people's movements. Each chapter adds insights into the different configurations of displacement and placement and offers fresh interpretations of migration and dislocation in today's rapidly changing world. The contributors critically examine a variety of displacement processes and experiences in the context of war, tourism, neoliberal policies of development and the impact of various agro-forestry policies. They focus on a range of countries enabling a thorough comparative analysis in terms of scope and range of examples and methods of analysis. This book makes an original contribution to the growing body of literature on displacement and will appeal to a wide readership including advanced undergraduates and graduate students and professors in disciplines such as human geography, development studies, sociology and anthropology, regional studies and comparative impact assessment.

The Memorykeepers: Gendered Knowledges, Empires, and Indonesian American History Dorothy B. Fujita-Rony, 2021-01-25 Dorothy Fujita-Rony's The Memorykeepers: Gendered Knowledges, Empires, and Indonesian American History examines the importance of women's memorykeeping for two Toba Batak women whose twentieth-century histories span Indonesia and the United States. H. L. Tobing and Minar T. Rony. This book addresses the meanings of family stories and artifacts within a gendered and inter-imperial context and demonstrates how these knowledges can produce alternate cartographies of memory and belonging within the diaspora. It thus explores how women's memorykeeping forges integrative possibility not only physically across islands, oceans and continents but also temporally across decades, empires and generations. Thirty-five years in the making, The Memorykeepers is the first book on Indonesian Americans written within the fields of US history, American Studies and Asian American Studies. United States Engagement in the Asia Pacific: Perspectives from Asia Yoichiro Sato, See Seng Tan, 2015-07-15 This study brings together Asian and Asia-based experts of international relations and US foreign policy to present diverse Asian views about preferred modes of US engagement in the region and compare their views with US interests in the region, a prerequisite exercise to truly multilateral regional security governance. With the rise of Chinese power in absolute and relative terms over the next decades as a key driving factor of the international relations in the Asia Pacific, the United States has announced its Rebalance to Asia, previously referred to as Pivot to Asia strategy. Asian responses, perceptions and even interpretations of the US strategy have been diverse. Misconceptions of the US strategy can be attributed to the built-in contradictions among its objectives, deliberate ambiguities left by the architects of the strategy, mismatch between the stated strategy and actual policy implementations during the last three years and subjective reading by the Asian countries through the lens of their own interests. This book will illuminate the diversity of Asian responses and perceptions and analyze the underlying reasons of the diversity. The overarching framework of analysis for this book is the very dilemma of alliances, abandonment and entrapment which hedging aims at evading

Abandonment fear is primarily of the junior partner of an alliance that its senior partner may not come to its aid in crisis. Meanwhile entrapment fear works both ways. The United States may drag its allies into its conflict against a third party but U.S. allies may also drag the United States into their regional conflicts in which the United States has no direct or significant stake. The Asian choices of their strategic responses to the U.S. Rebalancing will be described and analyzed through the lens of the perceived balance between the abandonment and entrapment fears as well as other historical and domestic factors unique to each Asian country. The reading of the U.S. strategy by Asian countries is a subjective matter and their interests likely influence their analysis and consequently strategies. It is not the aim of this volume to establish well defined cause and effect chain between the U.S. strategy and Asian strategies but thick descriptions have enabled some chapter authors to identify reciprocal relations between the two. While China's growth is the most important driver of the changing strategic landscape in the Asia Pacific and the new U.S. strategy, the new U.S. strategy inevitably influence the Chinese strategy which in turn triggers a chain reaction of strategic revisions in Asian countries. This book is essential reading for scholars in Asian politics, U.S. foreign policy, international relations as well as for policy makers.

Unequal Sisters Stephanie Narrow, Kim Cary Warren, Judy Tzu-Chun Wu, Vicki L. Ruiz, 2023-08-28. Unequal Sisters has become a beloved and classic reader providing an unparalleled resource for understanding women's history in the United States today. First published in 1990, the book revolutionized the field with its broad multicultural approach emphasizing feminist perspectives on race, ethnicity, region, and sexuality and covering the colonial period to the present day. Now in its fifth edition, the book presents an even wider variety of women's experiences. This new edition explores the connections between the past and the present and highlights the analysis of queerness, transgender identity, disability, the rise of the carceral state, and the bureaucratization and militarization of migration. There is also more coverage of Indigenous and Pacific Islander women. The book is structured around thematic clusters: conceptual, methodological, approaches to women's history, bodies, sexuality, and kinship, and agency and activism. This classic work has incorporated the feedback of educators in the field to make it the most user friendly version to date and will be of interest to students and scholars of women's history, gender and sexuality studies, and the history of race and ethnicity.
