Interpretation, Limitations and Future Direction

The topic frequency graph provides an overview of the most prevalent themes discussed by UK university students on Reddit over time. Notably, while individual counts show an increasing trend for all topics as the subreddit grows, it is particularly the Topic 1 frequency that shows a sharp upward trend, indicating the rising prominence of this specific topic. Among the top topics, we find a mix of academic concerns (e.g., accommodation, university applications), social aspects (e.g., finding friends, loneliness), and personal well-being (e.g., mental health, finance). First, the prominence of topics such as job, university choice and applications, accommodation and finance highlight the practical challenges that students face in their university journey. Interestingly, students use such social media platforms as an avenue of seeking help and advice from other UK university students who have experienced similar concerns. These discussions not only provide valuable peer-to-peer support but also offer insights into the common struggles and decision-making processes of students.

Secondly, the increasing prevalence of mental health and self-help topics (e.g., Topic 15, Topic 16, Topic 17, Topic 18) is a concerning trend, suggesting a growing awareness of mental health issues among students. This observation aligns with broader societal trends of increased mental health awareness and the challenges students face in managing their mental well-being in a high-pressure academic environment. The data also suggests that students are seeking support and advice from their peers, which is a positive sign of a supportive community within the subreddit.
