Maria Anastasova, 2018-10-12 This book presents a detailed academic study of suspense building in Stephen King's horror novels The Shining and Carrie and their respective film adaptations Two film versions of each book are taken into consideration one released immediately after the novel publication and one that appeared decades later After providing a general idea of what suspense as a phenomenon related to fiction is the study establishes some repeated plot bound suspense motifs and episodes in the literary works and traces their development in the films in order to demonstrate the similarities and differences in the techniques of achieving suspense in literature and in cinema The model detailed here can also be used for individual or comparative suspense analysis of other literary or cinematic works Reinventing Hollywood

David Bordwell, 2017-10-02 In the 1940s American movies changed Flashbacks began to be used in outrageous unpredictable ways Soundtracks flaunted voice over commentary and characters might pivot from a scene to address the viewer Incidents were replayed from different characters viewpoints and sometimes those versions proved to be false Films now plunged viewers into characters memories dreams and hallucinations Some films didn't have protagonists while others centered on anti heroes or psychopaths Women might be on the verge of madness and neurotic heroes lurched into violent confrontations Combining many of these ingredients a new genre emerged the psychological thriller populated by women in peril and innocent bystanders targeted for death If this sounds like today's cinema that's because it is In Reinventing Hollywood David Bordwell examines the full range and depth of trends that crystallized into traditions He shows how the Christopher Nolans and Quentin Tarantinos of today owe an immense debt to the dynamic occasionally delirious narrative experiments of the Forties Through in depth analyses of films both famous and virtually unknown from Our Town and All About Eve to Swell Guy and The Guilt of Janet Ames Bordwell assesses the era's unique achievements and its legacy for future filmmakers

Reinventing Hollywood is a groundbreaking study of how Hollywood storytelling became a more complex art and essential reading for lovers of popular cinema Mystery Books Lucas Powell, AI, 2025-03-06 Mystery Books explores the captivating world of detective fiction delving into its history dissecting its narrative structure and examining our enduring fascination with secrets It traces the evolution of the mystery genre highlighting influential authors and novels that have shaped our understanding of suspense and deduction The book also deconstructs the essential elements of a detective story plot character setting clues to reveal what makes a narrative truly compelling Interestingly stories of detection often reflect societal concerns about crime and justice mirroring changes in forensic science and investigative techniques The book argues that the enduring appeal of detective fiction lies in its ability to combine intellectual stimulation with emotional engagement offering both puzzle solving and exploration of complex themes It presents information in an accessible style balancing scholarly rigor with engaging prose The structure progresses from a historical foundation to a detailed analysis of the craft of mystery writing culminating in an exploration of the psychological dimensions of puzzle solving This unique approach intersects literary analysis historical context and psychological insights providing a comprehensive perspective on the mystery genre It explores not only how detective stories are written but also why they resonate so deeply with readers connecting the appeal of detective fiction to broader human cognitive drives and emotional needs making it valuable for students writers and avid readers alike Ariel Dorfman Sophia McClennen, 2010-01-18 A critical introduction to the life and work of the internationally renowned writer activist and intellectual Ariel Dorfman ArtsIT, Interactivity and Game Creation Anthony L. developments in this area There are two ways of approaching the problem of describing and explaining suspense an analysis of suspenseful texts or the reception process Researchers who follow the more text oriented approach identify the uncertainty of the narrative outcome the threat or danger for the protagonist the play with time delay or other factors as important and necessary for the production of suspense The more reception oriented scholar focuses on the cognitive activities of audiences readers expectations the curiosity of onlookers their emotions and their relationships with the protagonists A correspondence between the two seems to be quite difficult though necessary to determine Both perspectives are important in order to describe and explain suspense Thus the editors utilize the thesis that suspense is an activity of the audience reader onlooker etc that is related to specific features and characteristics of the text books films etc Their question is What kind of relation The answer comes from finding out how why and which elements of the text cause effects that are experienced as suspense Scholars from semiotics literary criticism cultural studies and film theory assess the problem from a text oriented point of view dealing primarily with the how and which Other scholars present the psychological perspective by focusing on the cognitive and emotional processes that underlie viewers experience of suspense that is the reception theory tries to answer the question of why suspenseful texts may be experienced as they are

The Rebirth of Suspense Rick Warner, 2024-09-17 Typically films are suspenseful when they keep us on the edge of our seats when glimpses of a turning doorknob a ticking clock or a looming silhouette quicken our pulses Exemplified by Alfred Hitchcock's masterworks and the countless thrillers they influenced such films captivate viewers with propulsive plots that spur emotional investment in the fates of protagonists. Suspense might therefore seem to be a curious concept to associate with art films featuring muted characters, serene landscapes and unrushed rhythms in which plot is secondary to mood and tone. This ambitious and wide-ranging book offers a redefinition of suspense by considering its unlikely incarnations in the contemporary films that have been called slow cinema. Rick Warner shows how slowness builds suspense through atmospheric immersion, narrative sparseness and the withholding of information, causing viewers to oscillate among boredom, curiosity and dread. He focuses on works in which suspense arises where the boundaries between art cinema and popular genres such as horror, thriller, science fiction and gothic melodrama become indefinite, including Chantal Akerman's La captive, Apichatpong Weerasethakul's Memoria, Jonathan Glazer's Under the Skin, Kelly Reichardt's Night Moves, Lucrecia Martel's Zama, Kiyoshi Kurosawa's Creepy and David Lynch's Twin Peaks: The Return. Warner investigates the pivotal role of sound in generating suspense and traces how the experience of suspense has changed in the era of digital streaming. The Rebirth of Suspense develops a fresh theory, history, typology and analysis of suspense that casts new light on the workings of films across global cinema.
