The Closeness That Separates Us:

Women of Passions Janet Ross, Jeanice McDade, 2008-05 A collection of remarkable true stories and inspirational writings leading the reader toward a powerful connection with the heart of God Twenty six unique authors from various backgrounds and walks of life open their hearts with fresh perspectives on passion for God passion for family and passion for ministry Page 4 of cover Astronomy for Amateurs Camille Flammarion, 1904 The Romantic Life D. Andrew Yost, 2022-08-24 The world is disenchanted Rationalization intellectualization and scientism rule the day We used to see the world as a magical place but now it s just a material space How did we get here The shift comes in part from the rise of a certain kind of secularism one that reduces human experiences to whatever is explainable through observation Love It s just a biological drive Joy a rush of adrenaline Beauty an influx of dopamine If you can t test it it isn t true or so the thinking goes The Romantic Life draws upon eighteenth and nineteenth century Romanticism to provide five strategies to re enchant the world five ways to imbue the world with meaning truth and beauty According to the Romantics far from being useless encounters with impractical things like the imagination nature symbolism sincerity and the sublime give our lives a richness and depth that cannot be attained on a purely material account of the world By learning from their example we can come to see into the life of things as William Wordsworth called it We can be re enchanted Of Jews and Animals Andrew Benjamin, 2011-09-14 In developing his own conception of the figure Andrew Benjamin has written an innovative and provocative study of the complex relationship between philosophy the history of painting and their presentation of both Jews and animals Newly available in p Paul and Virginia, from the French of Bernardin Saint-Pierre Bernardin de Saint-Pierre, 1840 Rasselas Samuel Johnson, 1847 Distant Relation Eoin S. Thomson, 2001-01-24 The Distant Relation breaks down the artificial division between philosophy and literature by weaving contemporary philosophic arguments through close readings of Carpentier Rulfo Paz and Garcia Marquez Thomson draws the reader into the largely uninhabited space between philosophy and literature providing new critical strategies that allow text and reader to respond to the very distance they share These strategies involve a reconceptualization of distance that recognizes the productive and affirmative nature of separation The Distant Relation will attract anyone interested in the ongoing struggle to overcome conventional interpretations of language time and identity within the broader context of philosophical trends and Spanish American studies Preparing Room Russell J. Levenson, 2020-09-17 Explore the biblical context for Advent in this series of contemplations The pieces of the beginning of the Christian story come together not from one set of hands but many For instance in the four Gospels Mark makes no mention of the events leading up to and surrounding the birth of Jesus John for the most part points back to Genesis Most of the historical pieces come to us primarily from Matthew and Luke The scriptures together are the key to telling the story of the season Allusions and references to other scriptures are accompanied by brief meditations so that readers may step more deeply into the Advent story and find its meaning and impact for their own lives Love Poems in English Sarah Aurtkov,2023-04-08 This poetry book is a journey into the heart of emotions and feelings With verses overflowing with melancholy sadness and love each page is an opportunity to connect with your deepest self and feel the poetic force in all its intensity Poetry is a language that transcends words and invites you to explore the depths of your thoughts and emotions Get ready to be transported to a world of beauty and intense feelings

Proximity Politics Jeronimo Cortina,2024-10-15 Republicans who live closer to the U S Mexico border are less likely to support constructing a wall than those who live farther away After a mass shooting gun sales and permit applications skyrocket in nearby communities Experiencing an extreme weather event like a hurricane or flood can encourage someone to attribute climate change to human activity Why do we react so differently to faraway events and ones that take place on our doorsteps and what does this reveal about our political landscape Proximity Politics is a groundbreaking examination of the role of distance in shaping attitudes behaviors and understandings of the world Analyzing geocoded survey data Jeronimo Cortina documents the crucial ways space and place influence public opinion He demonstrates that the closer someone is to an event social group or policy the likelier they are to have first hand specific grounded knowledge of the subject Conversely distance leads to detachment making it more likely that decontextualized or unreliable information and individual or group biases will prevail Considering a range of case studies from virus outbreaks to protests Cortina unravels how spatial emotional temporal social and cultural distances affect public opinion Bringing together quantitative and qualitative data in an accessible style Proximity Politics shows that even in today s interconnected world we are still profoundly influenced by what happens next door
