Pratt, 2024-08-26 This album contains the first two episodes in the series On the Trail of War and The Angel of Love. On the Trail of War ends of 1940 Ethiopia. A private army forms around Kohnsky, a Polish soldier working for the British army. The aim: To bring together Commonwealth troops and Ethiopian patriots to create the conditions for an uprising against the Italian colonialists supported by the Germans and the French of the Vichy regime. The Angel of Love and the Angel of Death January 1941. Karthoum Sudan. The military strategy for the reconquest of Ethiopia finally becomes clear. It is during this episode that Kohnsky meets Stella, an Italian lieutenant with whom he sympathizes despite their belonging to opposing camps. Chased by brigands, they are saved by the Beni Amar guide Cush. The main character in this series is Lieutenant Kohnsky, a Pole who joined the British army after his country's surrender. We follow him on a series of adventures and encounters: Judittah, Canaan, Cush, Stella, etc., in which we recognize Pratt's style reminiscent of the adventures of Corto Maltese. Kohnsky, however, is much tougher, more modern, less anarchistic than Corto, which makes him in a way closer to us. Didier Platteau in the introduction to the book. Machine in the Studio Caroline A. Jones, 1996. Drawing on extensive interviews with artists and their assistants as well as close readings of artworks, Jones explains that much of the major work of the 1960s was compelling precisely because it was mainstream, central to the visual and economic culture of its time. Catalog of Copyright Entries.

With its articles arranged in chronological order, this new edition covers a wide variety of events from national and world politics, wars, civil disturbances, disasters, crimes, business, scientific and medical discoveries, and breakthroughs and other fields. The set's new articles extend the coverage through September 2001 and include stories such as the massacre of the Nepalese royal family by its own crown prince and the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001, and their aftermath. The top matter offers a summary description of the event and defines its significance in a brief sentence. Following that description is a list of the what, when, and where, who of the event, providing readers with the data on the first page of the article. The text of each 1000-word article is divided into three subsections, the first and second of which detail the event itself and the background to it, and the last of which, Consequences, identifies both the short-range consequences and the projected long range impact of the event The chronological arrangement of the articles not only serves as timeline but also casts light on the social political and economic evolution of the world from a collectopn of individual nations to a global community in which developments in one regions have repercussions inothers
