Pierangelo Garegnani, 2024-10-19 This book presents a representative set of Pierangelo Garegnani s 1930 2011 works on the theory of value and distribution It features a selection of essays chosen by Garegnani himself concerning central aspects of his work first and foremost the continuation and development of Piero Sraffa's effort to elaborate an alternative to the dominance of marginalist thought on the theory of value and distribution Garegnani articulates and extends Sraffa's contribution in two directions the critique of marginalist theory with respect to the treatment of capital and the reappraisal of the surplus approach to distribution proper to classical political economy In turn these two strands of analysis are combined in Garegnani's project to make the Keynesian principle of effective demand more robust and general by dropping the unnecessary elements of marginalism and linking it to the classical explanation of distribution This book reveals how Garegnani's contribution has advanced the degree of theoretical elaboration for several issues that fall within the developmental paths of economic analysis opened by Sraffa and Keynes It begins with a comprehensive introduction in which Garegnani illustrates the conceptual path that links the contributions presented here The starting point of this intellectual journey is Garegnani's previously unpublished doctoral thesis A Problem in the Theory of Distribution from Ricardo to Wicksell prepared at the University of Cambridge under the supervision of Piero Sraffa and Maurice Dobb which is followed by various essays selected by Garegnani on the critique of marginalist theories the classical approach to value and distribution and the role of aggregate demand for the long run trends of output and capital accumulation The book is a must read for all scholars interested in the resumption and development of the classical approach as well as economic theory in general and the history of economic thought

Migration, Reproduction and Society Alejandro I. Canales, 2019-09-16 In Migration Reproduction and Society Alejandro I Canales offers a theoretical model for understanding the dilemmas presented by migration in the transformation of contemporary society Aging and changing demographics in advanced societies make economic and social reproduction dependent upon the contributions made by immigration However these same demographic processes are conducive to ethnic transformations The political dilemma facing advanced societies is that immigration is required to ensure their reproduction but this entails becoming multicultural societies where the political hegemony of ethnic and demographic majorities becomes radically subverted This paves the way to a pervasive political conflict already evident in the current immigration crisis in Europe just as in the revival of racism and xenophobia in the United States En Migration Reproduction and Society Alejandro I Canales propone un modelo te rico para el entendimiento del dilema pol tico y social concerniente al papel de las migraciones en la transformación de la sociedad contemporánea El envejecimiento y decline demográfico en las sociedades avanzadas hacen que la dinámica económica y la reproducción social de la población dependan directamente de los aportes que hace la inmigración Sin embargo estos mismos procesos demográficos propician una transformación técnica de sus actuales equilibrios sociales y demográficos El dilema político que enfrentan las sociedades avanzadas es que para asegurar su reproducción debe necesariamente abrirse a la inmigración pero ello conlleva la posibilidad de constituirse en sociedades multiculturales en donde la hegemonía política de las actuales mayorías técnicas y demográficas se trastoca radicalmente Es la base de un conflicto político cuyos indicios ya se advierten en la actual crisis migratoria en Europa así como en el renacer del racismo y xenofobia en los Estados Unidos
