The African Human Rights System Activist Forces And International Institutions:

The African Human Rights System, Activist Forces and International Institutions Obiora Chinedu

Okafor,2007-05-17 This 2007 book draws from and builds upon many of the more traditional approaches to the study of international human rights institutions IHIs especially quasi constructivism The author reveals some of the ways in which many such domestic deployments of the African system have been brokered or facilitated by local activist forces such as human rights NGOs labour unions women s groups independent journalists dissident politicians and activist judges In the end the book exposes and reflects upon the inherent inability of the dominant compliance focused model to adequately capture the range of other ways apart from via state compliance in which the domestic invocation of IHIs like the African system can contribute albeit to a modest extent to the pro human rights alterations that can sometimes occur in the self understandings conceptions of interest or senses of appropriateness held within key domestic institutions within states

The African Regional Human Rights System Manisuli Ssenyonjo,2011-12-23 The African human rights system has undergone some remarkable developments since the adoption of the African Charter on Human and Peoples Rights the cornerstone of the African human rights system in June 1981 The year2011 marked the 30th anniversary of the adoption of the African Charter It also marked 25 years since the African Charter entered into force on 21 October 1986 This book aims to provide reflections on most of the major human rights issues in the past 30 years of the African human rights system in practice and discussion on the future the African Charter s impact and contribution to the respect protection and promotion of human rights in Africa the contemporary challenges faced by the African Human rights system in responding adequately to the demands of rapidly evolving African societies and how the African human rights system can be strengthened in the future to ensure that the human rights protected in the African Charter as developed in the jurisprudence of the African Commission since the Commission was inaugurated in 1987 are realised in practice The chapters in this volume bring together the work of 20 human rights scholars and practitioners with expertise in human rights in Africa under the following general themes rights and duties in the African Charter rights of the vulnerable under the African system implementation mechanisms for human rights in Africa and towards an effective African regional human rights system The African
