The Post-Apocalyptic Novel in the Twenty-First Century H. Hicks, 2016-04-08 Since the beginning of the twenty first century major Anglophone authors have flocked to a literary form once considered lowbrow genre fiction the post apocalyptic novel Calling on her broad knowledge of the history of apocalyptic literature Hicks examines the most influential post apocalyptic novels written since the beginning of the new millennium including works by Margaret Atwood David Mitchell Cormac McCarthy Jeanette Winterson Colson Whitehead and Paolo Bacigalupi Situating her careful readings in relationship to the scholarship of a wide range of historians theorists and literary critics she argues that these texts use the post apocalyptic form to reevaluate modernity in the context of the new century's political economic and ecological challenges In the immediate wake of disaster the characters in these novels desperately scavenge the scraps of the modern world But what happens to modernity beyond these first moments of salvage In a period when postmodernism no longer defines cultural production Hicks convincingly demonstrates that these writers employ conventions of post apocalyptic genre fiction to reengage with key features of modernity from historical thinking and the institution of nationhood to rationality and the practices of literacy itself

glamour hid her Fae Sidhe blood so well she d fooled me Her mixed blood is an affront By rights I should haul her before the Court to face justice She understood the chance she took revealing herself to me and her offer to join forces is tempting but it could cost me my throne Some risks are worth the price If I cross the line there ll be no going back Midnight Court My days as Faery s reluctant regent have crashed and burned Either I left the land to rot in a squalid soup of broken promises or I destroyed her enemies one by one No choice there Not really I d known some of those enemies since childhood which was centuries ago They say familiarity breeds contempt In my case it bred sorrow as I consigned Fae who d been friends to eternal destruction and fed them to the land Dariyah the Witch who wasn t one crossed my path for reasons I m still figuring out Her long lost mother presided over one of Faery s many dirty secrets the Midnight Court Some like to believe Fae blood is pure It s not We and the Sidhe are joined at the hip and the Midnight Court was once a living symbol of our bond Court of the Fallen Faery has changed so much I barely recognize her The worst part is I didn t see this coming A few minor skirmishes sure but the Unseelie fielded tens of thousands against us The King of Winter is finally exacting revenge against the consort who spurned him The rest of us are collateral damage He played his hand well attracted powerful allies and punted us into a definite one down position For the moment Pegasus is the king s primary ally I possess knowledge that will blow their partnership sky high And proof in case neither of them believes me Timing is everything though We must wrest Faery from the enemy I finally hold the land link but success is far from a foregone conclusion More blood will flow before we re done Buckets of the stuff but I can t let that stop me Court of Destiny Faery s castle lies in ruins a reflection of the rest of a land I love My land my realm has altered almost beyond recognition The part that hasn t changed is the incredible people and creatures who live in Faery Unicorns Fauns Satyrs Fae Sidhe Their spirits have been indomitable and it makes me proud to call them brothers But then the Unseelie used to be brethren too Now they stand against us along with a collection of monsters intent on sucking every last breath of life from Faery The worst part about all of this has been not knowing whom I can call friend As we lurch into the endgame my life soul and fortunes are linked with the woman I love We rise or fall together If it comes down to a gut wrenching choice will I pick Faery or Dariyah

The Garden in which I Walk Karen Brennan, 2004 This extraordinarily polished and sophisticated story collection investigates the unaccountable ways in which literature and life entwine In Three Seaside Tales a woman at a resort imagines herself in a Chekhov story only to succumb to banal everydayness and in Island Time a young bride inexorably merges with Emma Bovary Brennan s fictions position their readers at the edge of the known world opening onto vistas of both erotic promise and ghastly beauty The voices youthful and aging maniacal and restrained represent our world s lost scattering their words among surrealistic ruins as though they have come to inhabit their own dreams The lovely protagonist of Saw inexplicably maims herself with a chainsaw literalizing in this violent impulse the self destructive passion of all of Brennan s characters to actualize romance These characters lead the reader through a charged personal landscape of apocalyptic and post apocalyptic complexity Their voices will continue to echo long after the book has been closed
