Tembo, 2012 The Southern African country of Zambia with 72 tribes has experienced tremendous social turmoil during the last 48 years The 13 million citizens migrated into the cities and professionals immigrated and scattered abroad in a growing Diaspora The diversity of the Zambian society and globalization has created a cultural crisis Satisfying Zambian Hunger for Culture discusses social and political history gender rites of passage food religion witchcraft and recommendations for contemporary life in the 21st century The 17 chapter book puts the diverse Zambian African tribal customs culture and technology into the modern digital age

Contemporary Issues in Africa's Development Ehimika A. Ifidon, Richard A. Olaniyan, 2018-04-18 This volume reports on the state of crisis in Africa in the early twenty first century Africa on the eve of the independence revolution was the continent of hope and high expectations By the third decade of independence optimism had been replaced by dismay African states had been beset by ethno political squabbles military rule civil wars Islamic and insurgent movements extreme poverty and disease With the ascent of redemocratization in the 1990s and of new pan Africanism derived from the formation of the African Union Africa appeared set to claim its vaunted destiny This book asks with hindsight to the first decade of the twenty first century how real was the renaissance in African life If the dismal African condition is a phase in the historical development of Africa this volume does not see any golden age in the past to which Africa aspires to return There is clearly a continuation and persistence of crisis with an absence of good governance personalisation of state power widespread disease and policy failure in education economy and infrastructural development Although endowed with abundant human and natural resources Africa remains the least developed and most indebted continent Whither then the African Renaissance The methodologies that underpin the contributions in this book are as diverse as the specialisations of the contributors The collection questions ideologically protected assumptions and presumptions presenting Africa as it is because it is only by knowing where Africa truly stands that a proper direction can be charted for it

A Short History of African Philosophy, Second Edition

Barry Hallen, 2009-09-03 A Short History of African Philosophy discusses major ideas figures and schools of thought in philosophy in the African context While drawing out critical issues in the formation of African philosophy Barry Hallen focuses on recent scholarship and relevant debates that have made African philosophy critical to understanding the rich and complex cultural heritage of the continent This revised edition expands the historical perspective takes account of recent discoveries and new canonical figures highlights new discussions about gender as a cultural and philosophical phenomenon clarifies issues regarding indigenous cultures and human rights and builds on the notion that African philosophy shares methods and concerns of philosophy worldwide This short reference is an essential resource for students scholars and general readers

The African Mother Tongue and Mathematical Ideas Abdul Karim Bangura, 2020-06-02 This book by renowned scholar Dr Abdul Karim Bangura combines linguistics and mathematics to show how and why African centred mathematical ideas can be a driving force in Africa's development efforts. Bangura explores the concept that Africa has been the centre of the History of Mathematics for thousands of years as the civilizations that emerged across the continent developed contributions which would enrich both ancient and modern understanding of nature through mathematics. However, scholars and other professionals working in the field of mathematics education in Africa have identified a plethora of issues in carrying out their tasks. This is highlighted by one of the most compelling arguments in the book which is that a major reason for these problems is the fact that the African mother tongues have been greatly neglected in the teaching of mathematics in the continent. Bangura asserts that a change has to be made in order for Africa to benefit from the exceptional opportunities mathematics offer, showing that even if there is a great body of work connecting linguistics and mathematics, few analyses have been performed on the link between African languages and mathematics and the ones that have been made are not theoretically grounded on linguistics. Thus, the book begins by identifying the objects of study of linguistics and mathematics and delineates which ones they have in common. Next, since the object of study of linguistics is language, the nine design features of language are employed to examine each of the objects as it pertains to African languages. After that, mathematical ideas of sustainability and those of tipping points are suggested as means to help Africa's development efforts.

Philosophy, Culture and Vision: African Perspectives Gyekye, Kwame, 2014-05-08

Believing that the intellectual enterprise called philosophy is essentially a part of the cultural as well as historical experience of a people, that the concepts and problems that occupy the attention of philosophers placed in different cultural spaces or historical times generally derive directly from those spaces and times, and that philosophy in turn has been most relevant to the development of human cultures, the Ghanaian philosopher Kwame Gyekye gives reflective attention in this book to some of the concepts and problems that in his view feature most prominently in the contemporary African cultural, social, political, and moral experience. Such concepts and problems include the following: political legitimacy, development, culture, and the pursuit of science and technology, political corruption, democracy, representation, and the politics of inclusion, the status of cultural values in national orientation, understanding globalization, and others. It is these topics that are covered in the essays collected in this book. The unrelenting pursuit of the speculative activity by the philosopher in most cases eventuates in normative proposals; these normative proposals often embody a vision, a vision of an ideal human society in terms of its values, politics, and culture. Vision understood here has human, not supernatural or divine, origination and involvement and requires action by human beings in order for it to come into reality. A vision may derive from sustained critical evaluation of a culture or some elements of it. Gyekye attempts an articulation of the visions of the essays contained in the book. Even though philosophical ideas and concerns are originally inspired by and worked out in a cultural milieu, it does not necessarily follow, Gyekye strongly believes, that the relevance of those ideas and insights is to be tethered to the cultures that produced them. For more often than not, the relevance of those ideas or at least some of them transcends the confines of their own times and cultures and can be appreciated by other societies or cultures or generational epochs This trans cultural or trans epochal or meta contextual appeal or attraction of philosophical ideas and insights spawned by a particular culture or cluster of cultures or in specific historical times is to be put down to our common human nature including our basic human desires and aspirations Thus most of the essays published here should be of interest to the global community i e to cultures and societies beyond the African

The African Philosophy Reader P.H. Coetzee, A.P.J. Roux, 2004-03 Divided into eight sections each with introductory essays the selections offer rich and detailed insights into a diverse multinational philosophical landscape Revealed in this pathbreaking work is the way in which traditional philosophical issues related to ethics metaphysics and epistemology for instance take on specific forms in Africa s postcolonial struggles Much of its moral political and social philosophy is concerned with the turbulent processes of embracing modern identities while protecting ancient cultures

Indigenous Psychology in Africa Seth Oppong, 2024-05-23 Understanding human behaviour thoughts and emotional expressions can be challenging in the global context Due to cultural differences the study of psychology cannot be de contextualised This calls for unearthing of the explanatory systems that exist in Africa to understand and account for behaviour emotions and cognition of Africans This call is addressed through the emergence of African Psychology AP or Indigenous Psychology in Africa IPA as a legitimate science of human experience This Element discusses the motivations for AP centrality of culture demarcations of AP and the different strands within AP It highlights issues related to African philosophy African cultural anthropology African philosophy of science and suitable methodological approaches for AP research It also discusses some selected theoretical contributions and applications of AP The Element concludes that AP researchers and practitioners need to pursue interdisciplinarity and avoid meaningless rejection of good ideas from other cultural settings

A Companion to African Philosophy Kwasi Wiredu, 2008-04-15 This volume of newly commissioned essays provides comprehensive coverage of African philosophy ranging across disciplines and throughout the ages Offers a distinctive historical treatment of African philosophy Covers all the main branches of philosophy as addressed in the African tradition Includes accounts of pre colonial African philosophy and contemporary political thought

What Is a Person? Nancy S. Jekcer, Professor of Bioethics and Humanities Nancy S Jekcer, Caesar A. Atuire, 2024-12-03 Stepping back from the above analysis it is helpful to ask whether the shift to a more individualistic conception of persons carries traction for those who do not share its religious underpinnings Judeo Christian personhood was grounded on the idea that all and only human beings are made in the image of God imago dei for contemporary secular philosophers there seems to be no corollary justification for claiming that all and only human beings qualify as persons Some contemporary Christians such as Noonan have sought to defend an exclusive moral status for human beings by arguing that possessing the human genetic code affords the secular underpinnings for such a position Yet this proposal was eventually rebuffed as speciesist Speciesism a term coined in the 1970s by Ryder and popularized by Singer is the position that assigning moral standing on the basis of species membership is morally arbitrary
