Swedish Modernism Architecture Consumption And The Welfare State:

Swedish Modernism Helena Mattsson, Sven-Olov Wallenstein, 2010 Swedish Modernism provides an in depth multilayered account of the process of modernization whilst also highlighting the difficulties found. The debate is enriched from a diverse range of contributors including architects, researchers and leading academics from across the globe. Following an introduction from Helena Mattsson and Sven Olov Wallenstein the book is divided thematically into three sections. The first section of the book explores the construction of the welfare state. The contributions in this section analyze the peculiar modalities of this development from the point of view of sociology and political science providing a more nuanced view of modernization that shows to what extent it must always be understood on the basis of local context. The second section delves into the importance of consumers and spectacles analyzed in relation to the wide range of state programmes from housing to national marketing programmes. This section includes case studies highlighting the importance of consumption for the formation of subjectivity both in the pre and post war period and range from analyses of exhibition architectures and debated on standardization to the Co Op movement and the gendering of taste. One of the contributors looks for example at the exhibition Modern Leisure 1936 and explores how exhibitions were highly instrumental in the formation of the Swedish welfare state. Another contributor looks at how strategies of consumption are formulated in the political and architectural debates of the 1930s. The third and final section of the book deals with the problem of historiography on a broad level. The section also includes contributions from Roger Jonsson and Sven Olov Wallenstein who draw on the work of Michel Foucault and delineate a genealogical model of analysis that focuses on how architecture can take part in the production of subjectivity.

ILLUSTRATIONS 173 colour b/w illustrations Architecture and the Welfare State Mark Swenarton, Tom Avermaete, Dirk van den Heuvel, 2014-09-15. In the decades following World War Two and in part in response to the Cold War, governments across Western Europe set out ambitious programmes for social welfare and the redistribution of wealth that aimed to improve the everyday lives of their citizens. Many of these welfare state programmes housing schools new towns cultural and leisure centres involved not just construction but a new approach to architectural design in which the welfare objectives of these state funded programmes were delineated and debated The impact on architects and architectural design was profound and far reaching with welfare state projects moving centre stage in architectural discourse not just in Europe but worldwide This is the first book to explore the architecture of the welfare state in Western Europe from an international perspective With chapters covering Austria Belgium France Germany Italy The Netherlands Sweden and the UK the book explores the complex role played by architecture in the formation and development of the welfare state in both theory and practice Themes include the role of the built environment in the welfare state as a political project the colonial dimension of European welfare state architecture and its export to Africa and Asia the role of welfare state projects in promoting consumer culture and economic growth the picture of the collective produced by welfare state architecture the role of architectural innovation in the welfare state the role of the architect as opposed to construction companies and others in determining what was built the relationship between architectural and social theory the role of internal institutional critique and the counterculture Contributors include Tom Avermaete Eve Blau Nicholas Bullock Miles Glendinning Janina Gosseye Hilde Heynen Caroline Maniaque Benton Helena Mattsson Luca Molinari Simon Pepper Michelle Provoost Lukasz Stanek Mark Swenarton Florian Urban and Dirk van den Heuvel Transformations of the Swedish Welfare State B. Larsson, M. Letell, H. Thörn, 2012-01-25 Using an analytical framework based on Foucault's concept of governmentality and through unique case studies this volume explores the ongoing transformations taking place in the Swedish welfare state

Modern Architecture and an International Sensibility Naina Gupta, 2025-05-30 Modern Architecture and an International Sensibility A Curious Cross Atlantic Constellation presents an alternative history of internationalism and modernism with a focus on the role of architecture and spatial practices Beginning at the tail end of the peace movements the turn of the twentieth century and ending with the Nuremberg trials the book highlights the part played by individual agency social reform and architecture in moulding a working everyday definition of what it meant to be international during this time By viewing internationalism through the lens of the individual and the body both as initiator and subject it is repositioned as an integral part of everyday life rather than simply understood to be concerned with geopolitical relations between nations and their institutions The book furthers a research methodology that is multidisciplinary and transnational It will therefore be of interest to researchers and students of architecture and international history The Relational Nordic Welfare State Sakari Hänninen, Kirsi-Marja Lehtelä, Paula Saikkonen, 2019-12-27 The success of the Nordic welfare state is well known but the key drivers of its remarkable expansion are not This book explores the relationships between citizens that constitute the normative groundwork of Nordic societies arguing that the quality of relations steers welfare development

Architecture and Welfare Thordis Arrhenius, Ellen Braae, Guttorm Ruud, 2025-01-27 Architecture was fundamental to the realization of welfare state policy in the Nordic countries translating democratic ideals into concrete spatial materializations

An inclusive notion of welfare for all was embraced by a generation of architects landscape architects and planners who labored to give physical form to ideas of equality collectivity and democracy producing a vast architectural output in Scandinavia during the postwar years Today however the architectural legacy of this era is contested Welfare for all no longer enjoys the social or political consensus it once did This publication critically engages with this contested architectural legacy and provides a nuanced portrait of postwar welfare architecture coming to terms with a contentious past and facing an uncertain future With newly commissioned photographic work by contemporary Nordic artists Based on an interdisciplinary research project by KTH Stockholm Oslo School of Architecture University of Copenhagen Internationally renowned contributors shed light on aspects of the relationship between architecture and welfare

Architecture for Spain's Recovered Democracy Manuel López Segura, 2023-03-30 Historical studies on the involvement of architecture in twentieth century politics have overlooked its contribution to building Spain's democracy This pioneering book seeks to fill that void Between the late 1970s and early 1990s Spain founded representative institutions launched its welfare state and devolved autonomy to its regions The study brings forth the architectural incarnation of that threefold program as it deployed in the Valencian Country a Catalan speaking region on Spain's Mediterranean shores There social democratic authorities mobilized architects planners and graphic artists to devise a newly open public sphere and to recover a local identity that Franco's dictatorship had repressed for decades The research follows the impetus of reform and its contradictions through urban projects designs for cultural amenities and the renovation of governmental and professional bodies Architecture for Spain's Recovered Democracy contributes to current debates on nationalism and the arts the environments of democratic socialism and postmodernism and neoliberalism As a result it widens our understanding of how peripheral regions may yield egalitarian architectures of resistance This book is written for students and researchers in architecture and planning art history spatial politics and Hispanic studies as well as for a general readership interested in inclusive politics in the built environment
