The Death of Childhood Victor Strasburger, 2019-04-16 Written by an international expert on the effects of media on children The Death of Childhood provides a fascinating and sobering look at what it means to grow up in America today Following in the footsteps of Neil Postman Marie Winn and Mary Pipher this riveting and heart breaking book is an obituary to childhood exploring its origins and tracing its progress to what could be its bitter end in the early 21st century if we don t act now to resuscitate it No longer are we raising children in the idyllic world that many of today s grandparents and parents remember a world filled with kick the can unsupervised bike adventures and dog walking and the freedom to explore Now thanks to the Internet new technology and social networking the complexion of childhood has changed and there are no adult secrets anymore the answer to every question exists a fingertip s reach away in cyberspace It s not just technology and media that are changing childhood is also suffering the effects of underfunded schools inattentive parents a plethora of guns and a hostile society Despite all of that this book shows that there is hope and offers solutions to restore the charm and innocence of childhood

Child and Adolescent Disorders Sam B. Morgan, Theresa M. Okwumabua, Sam Morgan, 2014-02-04 This book offers empirically based approaches to assessment treatment and prevention of certain childhood disorders encountered by psychologists and other practitioners in child clinical and pediatric psychology settings. In so doing it views disorders from a developmental and health psychology perspective that emphasizes prevention of problems as well as positive coping strategies. Traditional topics such as autism and childhood depression are addressed as are topics that have only recently emerged in the psychological literature. These include childhood diabetes, headaches, psychological aspects of teenage pregnancy and early development of substance abuse.

EBOOK: Making Sense of Children's Drawings Angela Anning, Kathy Ring, 2004-08-16. If you know and love young children, find a way to read this book. Here you will discover the hidden talents of young children for complexity design and tenacity for learning, a wonderful addition to the too small library of quality books on young children's learning through art. Shirley Brice Heath, Professor Emerita, Stanford University and Professor at Large, Brown University, USA. This book is unique in giving an in-depth account of the way young children approach drawing at home and at school. It shows the cognitive value of drawing in children's intellectual and emotional development and sets out the truly extraordinary range of drawing types that are used and understood by three to six year olds. It is an invaluable experience. Professor Ken Baynes, Department of Design and Technology, Loughborough University, UK. This book explores how young children learn to draw and draw to learn at home and school. It provides support for practitioners in developing a pedagogy of drawing in Art and Design and across the curriculum and provides advice for parents about how to make sense of their children's drawings. Making Sense of Children's Drawings is enlivened with the real drawings of seven young children collected over three years. These drawings stimulated dialogues with the children, parents and practitioners whose voices are reported in the book. The book makes a powerful argument for us to radically re-think the role of drawing in young children's construction of meaning, communication and sense of identity. It provides insights into the influence of media and consumerism as reflected in popular visual imagery and on gender identity formation in young children. It also offers strong messages about the overemphasis on the three Rs in early childhood education. Key reading for students, practitioners and parents who want to encourage young children's drawing development without interfering with their creativity and who need a novel approach to tuning into young children's passions and preoccupations.
