Robbins, Nicole Gregory, 1992 The Horror Readers' Advisory Becky Siegel Spratford, Tammy Hennigh Clausen, 2004 It's a dark and scary world Pans are tabid Blood guts and gore are the norm Welcome to the horror genre Horror classics have been scaring people for years Nowadays who doesn't know about Stephen King Anne Rice and Dean Koontz Profiled in a special section the Big Three have turned horror into best sellers For all the horror fans that haunt your library this is the must have guide Readers advisors and reference librarians will appreciate the key tools provided to expand upon this genre including listings of top books authors and award winners within eleven horror subgenres like mummies biomedical monsters and splatterpunk Clear descriptions of characteristics within subgenres are provided throughout To further help you engage new renders expert horror mavens Spratford and Clausen draw a savvy connection between film and horror as a potent reminder that the scariest movies have been adapted from novels Their classic and contemporary recommendations like Rebecca The Shining and Rosemary's Baby reinforce activities between readers advisors and library programming and open up the cellar door for further patron involvement Readers advisors and referen Wetwares Richard Doyle, 2003 The mind of the machine the body suspended in time organs exchanged thought computed genes manipulated DNA samples abducted by aliens the terrain between science and speculation fraught with the possibility of technological and perhaps even evolutionary transformations is the territory Richard Doyle explores in Wetwares In a manner at once sober and playful Doyle maps potentials for human transformation by new ecologies of information in the early twenty first century Wetwares ranges over recent research in artificial life cloning cryonics computer science organ transplantation and alien abduction Moving between actual technical practices serious speculative technology and science fiction Doyle shows us emerging scientific paradigms where life becomes more a matter of information than of inner vitality in short becomes wetwares for DNA and computer networks Viewing technologies of immortality from cryonics to artificial life as disciplines for welcoming a thoroughly other future a future of neither capital god human nor organism the book offers tools for an evolutionary transhuman mutation in the utterly unpredictable decades to come The Motion Picture Guide Jay Robert Nash, Stanley Ralph Ross, 1996 Teaching the Best Practice Way Harvey Daniels, Marilyn Bizar, 2005 Everyone talks about best practice teaching but what does it actually look like in the classroom How do working teachers translate complex curriculum standards into simple workable classroom structures that embody exemplary instruction and still let kids find joy in learning In Teaching the Best Practice Way Harvey Daniels and Marilyn Bizar present seven basic teaching structures that make classrooms more active experiential collaborative democratic and cognitive while simultaneously meeting best practice standards across subject areas and throughout the grades Each section begins with an essay outlining one key method providing its historical background and research results and then describing the structure's vital features. Next, several teachers representing different grade levels and school communities explain how they adopted the basic model, adapted it to their students' needs, and made it their own. Fully updating and expanding Methods that Matter, Stenhouse 1998 Teaching the Best Practice Way adds the stories of twenty more celebrated teachers, including James Beane, Donna Ogle, Franki Sibberson, and others from around the country. A brand new chapter focuses on reading as thinking, detailing the ways teachers can nurture strategic readers: readers who not only deeply understand the printed materials they encounter in school but who also bring these cognitive strategies to their reading of film, art, music, and their experience of the world. The book also shares new research studies that validate the principles and activities of best practice teaching, along with lists of recommended materials that support each of the seven methods. Unique in the field, Teaching the Best Practice Way speaks to all teachers K-12 with stories, examples, and practical classroom materials for the teachers of all children. This is the book for teachers, schools, and districts that believe the big ideas about teaching really do cross all grade levels and subject areas. Education professors will also find this an ideal resource for use in methods courses.
