Margot Finn, 2017-04-24 For the past four decades increasing numbers of Americans have started paying greater attention to the food they eat buying organic vegetables drinking fine wines and seeking out exotic cuisines Yet they are often equally passionate about the items they refuse to eat processed foods generic brands high carb meals While they may care deeply about issues like nutrition and sustainable agriculture these discriminating diners also seek to differentiate themselves from the unrefined eater the common person who lives on junk food Discriminating Taste argues that the rise of gourmet ethnic diet and organic foods must be understood in tandem with the ever widening income inequality gap Offering an illuminating historical perspective on our current food trends S Margot Finn draws numerous parallels with the Gilded Age of the late nineteenth century an era infamous for its class divisions when gourmet dinners international cuisines slimming diets and pure foods first became fads Examining a diverse set of cultural touchstones ranging from Ratatouille to The Biggest Loser Finn identifies the key ways that good food has become conflated with high status She also considers how these taste hierarchies serve as a distraction leading middle class professionals to focus on small acts of glamorous and virtuous consumption while ignoring their class s larger economic stagnation A provocative look at the ideology of contemporary food culture Discriminating Taste teaches us to question the maxim that you are what you eat Seeing Through the Eighties Jane Feuer, 1995-10-26 The 1980s saw the rise of Ronald Reagan and the New Right in American politics the popularity of programs such as thirtysomething and Dynasty on network television and the increasingly widespread use of VCRs cable TV and remote control in American living rooms In Seeing Through the Eighties Jane Feuer critically examines this most aesthetically complex and politically significant period in the history of American television in the context of the prevailing conservative ideological climate With wit humor and an undisguised appreciation of TV she demonstrates the richness of this often slighted medium as a source of significance for cultural criticism and delivers a compelling decade defining analysis of our most recent past With a cast of characters including Michael Hope Elliot Nancy Melissa and Gary Alexis Krystle Blake and all the other Carringtons not to mention Maddie and David even Crockett and Tubbs Feuer smoothly blends close readings of well known programs and analysis of television s commercial apparatus with a thorough going theoretical perspective engaged with the work of Baudrillard Fiske and others Her comparative look at Yuppie TV Prime Time Soaps and made for TV movie Trauma Dramas reveals the contradictions and tensions at work in much prime time programming and in the frustrations of the American popular consciousness Seeing Through the Eighties also addresses the increased commodification of both the producers and consumers of television as a result of technological innovations and the introduction of new marketing techniques Claiming a close relationship between television and the cultures that create and view it Jane Feuer sees the eighties through television while seeing through television in every sense of the word

Time Briton Hadden, Henry R. Luce, 1984 Personal Stereo Rebecca Tuhus-Dubrow, 2017-09-07 Object Lessons is a series of short beautifully designed books about the hidden lives of ordinary things When the Sony Walkman debuted in 1979 people were enthralled by the novel experience it offered immersion in the music of their choice anytime anywhere But the Walkman was also denounced as self indulgent and antisocial the quintessential accessory for the me generation In Personal Stereo Rebecca Tuhus Dubrow takes us back to the birth of the device exploring legal battles over credit for its invention its ambivalent reception in 1980s America and its lasting effects on social norms and public space Ranging from postwar Japan to the present Tuhus Dubrow tells an illuminating story about our emotional responses to technological change Object Lessons is published in partnership with an essay series in The Atlantic Tilbage til 80'erne Ove Dahl, 2009 Popular Photography , 1996-08 New Age Journal , 1985 The Intimate Environment Arlene S.
