

Standing Waves

Let's consider that electromagnetic waves travel a way for trapped between two mirrors. There are standing waves.

A jump rope is a good example of a standing wave.

The jump is made negative going down to form a downward loop and then goes upward to the wave. Jump rope forms two other loops.

The places of zero-amplitude are called nodes. The places of greatest amplitude are called antinodes.

A standing wave.

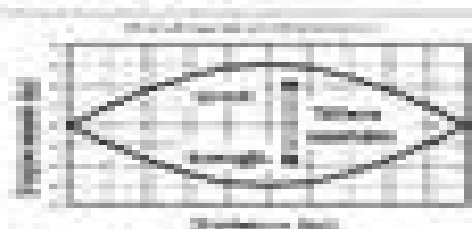

Standing waves are created by interference between two waves, so we show both the wave and the string in the wave plot. In reality, though, it's a string going up and down, just like a jump rope.

In a standing wave, each antinode is one-half of a wavelength.

$$1 \text{ Antinode} = \frac{1}{2} \lambda$$

$$2 \text{ Antinodes} = \lambda$$

Two standing waves (the same string under identical tension). Notice that more energy is required to spread a string by the same amount as making it vibrate through the same.

Standing wave.

A graph of the fundamental wave for a string fixed at both ends.

The longest wave that can be produced in a string fixed at both ends is called the fundamental. It is one-half of one wavelength long.

Standing Waves

Standing waves occur between objects whose distance is equal to the wavelength. Standing waves occur in the atmosphere. Standing waves occur in the ocean. Standing waves occur in the ground. Standing waves occur in the air.
