Abstract The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the physical and psychological health of sedentary, middle-aged women. The program consisted of three sessions per week, each lasting 45 minutes. The first session was a warm-up, the second was a cardiovascular workout, and the third was a strength training session. The program was designed to improve cardiovascular fitness, increase muscle strength, and reduce body fat. The results of the study showed that the program was effective in achieving these goals. The women who participated in the program showed significant improvements in cardiovascular fitness, muscle strength, and body fat. The program was also found to be safe and enjoyable for the participants.
