

How do the perspectives of UK university students, as expressed on Reddit, evolve over time?

Examining key themes and sentiment trends from r/UKUni posts (2014-2023) to understand the changing perspectives and emotional dynamics of UK university students.

Interpretation, Limitations and Future Direction

The topic frequency graph provides an overview of the most prevalent themes discussed by UK university students on Reddit over time. Notably, while individual topic counts show an increasing trend for all topics as the subreddit grows, it is particularly Topic 1 (Mental Health) that shows a sharp rise, indicating its growing prominence. Examining the data allows us to identify the relative prevalence of each topic over time. Among the top topics, we find a mix of academic concerns (e.g., accommodation, university applications), social aspects (e.g., finding friends, loneliness), and personal well-being (e.g., mental health, finance). First, the prominence of topics such as job, university choice and applications, accommodation and finance highlight the practical challenges that students face in their university journey. Secondly, students use such social media platforms as an avenue of seeking help and advice from other UK university students who have experienced similar concerns. These discussions not only provide valuable peer-to-peer support but also offer insights into the common struggles and decision-making processes of students.

However, it is important to acknowledge the limitations of this study. The data is derived from a single source (Reddit) and may not represent the entire UK university student population. Additionally, the analysis is based on self-reported experiences, which may be subject to bias. Future research could explore other social media platforms and conduct more comprehensive surveys to gain a deeper understanding of the perspectives and challenges of UK university students.
