Work in Progress Dr. Abbie Maroño,2024-07-09 In Work in Progress Dr Abbie Maro o debunks the pervasive myth that shame is the antithesis of empowerment revealing how if understood and embraced it can guide us towards our most authentic selves Popular media often offers individuals empty promises of empowerment urging them to become bulletproof It also portrays shame as the antithesis of empowerment Yet in reality shame signals when one s actions don t align with their ideal self By dismissing this signal they hinder their journey to becoming their best selves True empowerment arises when one cultivates a healthy relationship with shame Work in Progress delves into the science of shame and empowerment equipping people to navigate their feelings of shame and transition into a state of empowerment While many books on empowerment are well intentioned they often overlook or misinterpret the science behind individuals experiences of shame how they reconcile their self perception with their surroundings and how they achieve empowerment amidst its elusive definition This work challenges the idea that empowerment is exclusively a feminist concept reserved for women It underscores that empowerment is universal accessible to all no matter who they are Handbook of Research on

Evidence-based Non-pharmacological Therapies for Palliative Cancer Care William C.S. Cho, 2013-01-30 Cancer is one of the leading killers in the world, and the incidence is increasing, but most cancer patients and cancer survivors suffer much from the disease and its conventional treatments' side effects. In the past, clinical data showed that some complementary and alternative medicine (CAM) possessed anticancer abilities, but some clinicians and scientists have queried about the scientific validity of CAM due to the lack of scientific evidence. There is great demand in the knowledge gap to explore the scientific and evidence-based knowledge of CAM in the anticancer field. With this aim, a book series is needed to structurally deliver the knowledge to readers. Integrative therapies comprise a variety of non-pharmacological interventions that assist in alleviating physical and psychological symptoms. Apart from being a life-threatening disease, cancer and its therapy are usually associated with a significant deterioration in the quality of life. There is growing evidence that non-pharmacological therapies provide symptom and pain management in cancer palliation. This volume is a specialised book presenting the research evidence relevant to the application of a range of commonly used non-pharmacological interventions in supportive cancer care, including massage, acupuncture, Qigong, yoga, mind-body therapy, mindfulness-based intervention, and aromatherapy. A number of scientific researches and clinical studies support that these therapies offer potential beneficial effects for cancer patients in terms of reducing pain, anxiety, and other symptoms. Indeed, non-pharmacological therapies are increasingly gaining acceptance in the healthcare community as complementary to conventional cancer treatments. Most of them are non-invasive, inexpensive, and useful in improving quality of life, and they may be accessed by patients themselves.

Meditation for Psychotherapists Alexander H. Ross, 2024-10-15 Meditation for Psychotherapists provides students and practitioners of psychotherapy with specific meditation techniques. Chapters offer a comprehensive theoretical and practical approach as an adjunct to established professional development tools. This is the first time specific bespoke meditation techniques have been connected to different therapeutic modalities, building on the author's already published work. The book is accompanied by a website with audio-guided meditations and courses directed to an international audience across multiple psychotherapy models. www.arosspsychotherapy.com/meditation

Mindfulness-Related Treatments and Addiction Recovery Marianne Marcus, Aleksandra Zgierska, 2013-09-13 While mindfulness meditation has been used in clinical settings as an adjunctive treatment for substance use disorders for some time, there has been limited empirical evidence to support this practice. Mindfulness-Related Treatments and Addiction Recovery bridges this gap by reporting the findings of studies in which mindfulness practice has been combined with other behavioural treatments and/or adapted to meet the needs of a variety of client populations in recovery. Therapies used as interventions in the described studies include Mindfulness Based Stress Reduction MBSR Mindfulness Based Cognitive Therapy MBCT Dialectical Behavior Therapy DBT Acceptance and Commitment Therapy ACT Mindfulness Based Relapse Prevention MBRP and Mindfulness Based Therapeutic Community MBTC treatment The book offers a glimpse into the many ways in which mindfulness strategies have been applied to various facets of the recovery process including stress craving anxiety and other relapse related factors Preliminary evidence while not conclusive suggests that mindfulness based therapies are effective safe satisfying to clients and that an individual at home mindfulness practice can be potentially sustained over time beyond the intervention duration This book was originally published as a special issue of Substance Abuse
